Interaction and Identity Harmut B. Mokros, 2018-01-16 Scholarly interest in issues of self identity has exploded across disciplines within the humanities and social sciences in recent years Common to these concerns are the assumptions that self identity is not an a priori not given or fixed but created in the process of communication This also assumes that social institutions and values are produced and reproduced by individuals in interaction To capture the essential characteristics of a person requires analysis of how the social and psychological intersect in moments of communication Interaction and Identity contributes theoretically and empirically to contemporary scholarly interest in issues of identity Chapters and contributors to this stand alone volume include Part Whole Discovery Stages of Inquiry by Thomas Scheff Communication by Gregory Bateson Internal Muzak An Examination of Intrapersonal

Relationships by Linda Lederman The Constitution of Identity as Gendered in Psychoanalytic Therapy Ideology and Interaction by Margaret Carr and The Reconstruction and Negotiation of Cultural Identities in the Age of Globalization by Getinet Belay The multiple disciplines of social research with contemporary interest in identity are ably reflected in Interaction and Identity The authors are drawn from eight disciplines anthropology communication information science linguistics philosophy psychoanalysis psychology and sociology This book will be invaluable to scholars in all these areas above all in communication research as such

The Personal Communication Process John R. Wenburg, William R. Wilmot, William W. Wilmot, 1982

Inner Speech - L2 Maria C.M. de Guerrero, 2006-03-30 According to Vygotsky 1986 The decreasing vocalization of egocentric speech denotes a developing abstraction from sound the child's new faculty to think words instead of pronouncing them This is the positive meaning of the sinking coefficient of egocentric speech The downward curve indicates development toward inner speech p 230 The purpose of this volume is to explore the faculty to think words not as the ability to mentally evoke words in the native or first language L1 but as the faculty to conjure up in the mind words in a second language L2 To think words rather than to pronounce them is possible through inner speech a function that humans develop in the course of childhood as they internalize the speech of the social group among which they grow This means internalizing and being able to conduct inner speech in a particular linguistic code the L1 But humans at a very early or more mature age may also come into contact and interact verbally with speakers of other languages in classrooms or natural settings The possibility thus emerges of internalizing an L2 in such a way that inner speech in the L2 might evolve In this book it is argued that given certain conditions of L2 learning it is possible for learners to attain inner speech in the L2 This book examines the distinctive nature of L2 inner speech and the processes that engender it and characterize its development

Communication in Construction Andrew Dainty, David Moore, Michael Murray, 2007-01-24 Communication within project based environments presents special challenges This is especially true within the construction industry where interaction tends to be characterised by unfamiliar groups of people coming together for short periods before disbanding to work on other endeavours This book examines communication at a number of levels ranging from interpersonal interactions between project participants to corporate communication between organizations Several non typical perspectives on the process of communication are introduced to encourage the reader to think about communication in a more innovative manner The combination of differing perspectives illustrates the diversity of communication problems facing those working within project based environments Practical guidance is provided on possible solutions to communication problems and a number of examples and case studies are presented

Case Studies in

Interpersonal Communication Dawn O. Braithwaite, Julia T. Wood, 2000 The many narrative cases in this book offer dramatic real life snapshots of interpersonal theory in action Written by established communication scholars and reflecting carefully conducted research each case helps you apply abstract principles to specific situations people and relationships As you read these cases you ll also learn to appreciate how multiple communication dynamics work together to shape what happens in human interactions for example how a case focusing on self disclosure also gives you insights into such issues as timing context and style of communication And as you identify patterns revealed in the cases you ll develop the ability to detect these patterns in your own interactions and ultimately make more informed choices about which patterns to foster and avoid in your interpersonal relationships
