Pragmatics provides a state of the art overview of the wide breadth of research in pragmatics. An introductory section outlines a brief history, the main issues and key approaches and perspectives in the field, followed by a thought provoking introductory chapter on interdisciplinarity by Jacob L. Mey. A further thirty eight chapters cover both traditional and newer areas of pragmatic research, divided into four sections: Methods and modalities; Established fields; Pragmatics across disciplines; Applications of pragmatic research in today's world. With accessible, refreshing descriptions and discussions and with a look towards future directions, this Handbook is an essential resource for advanced undergraduates, postgraduates and researchers in pragmatics within English language and linguistics and communication studies.

The Oxford Handbook of Pragmatics Yan Huang, 2017-01-26. This volume brings together distinguished scholars from all over the world to present an authoritative, thorough and yet accessible state of the art survey of current issues in pragmatics. Following an introduction by the editor, the volume is divided into five thematic parts. Chapters in Part I are concerned with schools of thought, foundations and theories, while Part II deals with central topics in pragmatics including implicature, presupposition, speech acts, deixis, reference and context. In Part III the focus is on cognitively oriented pragmatics, covering topics such as computational, experimental and neuropragmatics. Part IV takes a look at socially and culturally oriented pragmatics such as politeness, impoliteness, studies cross and intercultural and interlanguage pragmatics. Finally, the chapters in Part V explore the interfaces of pragmatics with semantics, grammar, morphology, the lexicon, prosody, language change and information structure. The Oxford Handbook of Pragmatics will be an indispensable reference for scholars and students of pragmatics of all theoretical stripes. It will also be a valuable resource for linguists in other fields including philosophy of language, semantics, morphosyntax, prosody, psycholinguistics and sociolinguistics and for researchers and students in the fields of cognitive science, artificial intelligence, computer science, anthropology and sociology.

The Translator- Centered Multidisciplinary Construction Lin Zhu, 2012. This book embraces the epistemological and methodological issues of theoretical construction in the field of Translation Studies from a historical and global perspective. The theoretical stances are explained in detail through a systemic inquiry into the constructive aspects of theoretical innovation of the American translation theorist Douglas Robinson. In order to renew and promote theoretical thinking in the field of Translation Studies, this book aims to reflect on existing theoretical problems in translation, trace the translation theorist's innovative and constructive ways of thinking about translation theory and explore productive philosophical and theoretical resources of translation studies. This book will not only be helpful to a further and full understanding of Robinson's thoughts on translation but also offers a rethinking of how to advance Translation Studies epistemologically and methodologically.

Key Notions for Pragmatics Jef Verschueren, Jan-Ola Östman, 2009-06-25. The ten volumes of Handbook of Pragmatics Highlights focus on the most salient topics in the field of pragmatics, thus dividing its wide interdisciplinary spectrum in a transparent and manageable way. While the other volumes select specific philosophical, cognitive, grammatical, social, cultural, variational interactional or discursive angles this first volume reviews basic notions that pervade the pragmatic literature such as deixis implicitness speech acts context and the like It situates the field of pragmatics broadly defined as the cognitive social and cultural science of language use in relation to a general concept of communication and the discipline of semiotics It also touches upon the non verbal aspects of language use and even ventures a comparison with non human forms of communication The introductory chapter moreover explains why a highly diversified field of scholarship such as pragmatics can be regarded as a potentially coherent enterprise

Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson, 2011-05-18 In Translation and the Problem of Sway Douglas Robinson offers the concept of sway to bring together discussion of two translational phenomena that have traditionally been considered in isolation i.e norms and errors norms as ideological pressures to conform to the source text and deviations from the source text as driven by ideological pressures to conform to some extratextual authority The two theoretical constructs around which the discussion of translational sway is organized are Peirce's interpretant as rethought by Lawrence Venuti and narrativity as rethought by Mona Baker Robinson offers a series of friendly amendments to both looking closely at specific translation histories Alex Matson to and from Finnish two English translations of Dostoevsky as well as theoretical models from Aristotle to Peirce to expand the range and power of these concepts In addition to translation and interpreting scholars this book will be of interest to scholars of communication and social interaction

Meaning and Humour Andrew Goatly, 2012-05-10 Introduces and critiques a wide range of semantic and pragmatic theories in relation to humour

Priming Translation Douglas Robinson, 2022-09-15 This innovative volume builds on Michael S Gazzaniga's Interpreter Theory toward radically expanding the theoretical and methodological scope of translational priming research Gazzaniga's Interpreter Theory based on empirical studies carried out with split brain patients argues for the Left Brain Interpreter LBI a module in the brain's left hemisphere that seeks to make sense of their world based on available evidence and where no evidence is available primed by past memories confabulates coherence The volume unpacks this idea in translation research to test whether translators are primed to confabulate by the LBI in their own work Robinson investigates existing empirical research to test hypotheses on the translational links between the LBI and cognitive priming the Right Brain Interpreter and affective priming and the Collective Full Brain Interpreter and social priming Taken together the book seeks to open translational priming studies up to the full range of cognitive affective and social primes and to prime cognitive translation researchers to implement this broader dynamic in future research This book will be of interest to scholars in translation and interpreting studies especially those working in cognitive translation and interpreting studies

Translation of

Contemporary Taiwan Literature in a Cross-Cultural Context Szu-Wen Kung, 2021-03-01 Translation of Contemporary Taiwan Literature in a Cross Cultural Context explores the social cultural and linguistic implications of translation of Taiwan literature for transnational cultural exchange It demonstrates principally how asymmetrical cultural relationships mediation processes and ideologies of the translation players constitute the culture specific translation activity as a highly contested site where translation can reconstruct and rewrite the literature and the culture it represents Four main theoretical themes are explored in relation to such translation activity sociological studies cultural and rewriting studies English as a lingua franca and social and performative linguistics These offer insightful perspectives on the translation as an interpretive encounter between not only two languages two cultural systems and assumptions taking place but also among various translation mediators This book will be useful to scholars and students working on translation and cultural studies China Taiwan literature studies and literature studies in cross cultural contexts

Feeling Extended Douglas Robinson, 2013-08-16 This book explains and analyzes how the mind extends from internal thoughts into the external material world

Northern Lights B. J. Epstein, 2009 This volume is a collection of essays based on papers given at the Nordic Translation Conference which took place in London in March 2008 The purpose of the collection is twofold First it serves to place the Nordic languages firmly into the field of translation studies where hitherto little research has focused on the Nordic region the essays include many Nordic specific studies and ideas Second the book presents research and conclusions which are relevant to translation studies in all languages and cultures Therefore this volume which covers a wide range of Nordic languages and both literary and non literary topics is unambiguously pertinent to the Nordic countries while also being universally valuable
