What's the difference between macroeconomics and microeconomics?

Microeconomics is generally the study of individuals and business decisions, macroeconomics looks at higher up country and government decisions. Macroeconomics, on the other hand, is the field of economics that studies the behavior of the economy as a whole and not just on specific companies, but entire industries and economies. Microeconomics, on the other hand, is the field of economics that studies the behavior of the economy as a whole and not just on specific companies, but entire industries and economies.

Microeconomics

focuses on supply and demand and other forces that determine the price levels seen in the economy. For example, _____ would look at how a specific company could maximize its production and capacity so it could lower prices and better compete in its industry.
