French Lessons A Memoir:

French Lessons Alice Kaplan, 1994-10-15 A professor of French Literature at Duke University Kaplan offers a passionate memoir of her life and its intricate involvement with the French language A rare and moving evocation of what it feels like and what it means to fall in love with a language not one's own New York Review of Books

French Lessons Alice Yaeger Kaplan, 1994-08 Brilliantly uniting the personal and the critical French Lessons is a powerful autobiographical experiment It tells the story of an American woman escaping into the French language and of a scholar and teacher coming to grips with her history of learning Kaplan begins with a distinctly American quest for an imaginary France of the intelligence But soon her infatuation with all things French comes up against the dark unimagined recesses of French political and cultural life The daughter of a Jewish lawyer who prosecuted Nazi war criminals at Nuremberg Kaplan grew up in the 1960s in the Midwest After her father's death when she was seven French became her way of leaving home and finding herself in another language and culture In spare midwestern prose by turns intimate and wry Kaplan describes how as a student in a Swiss boarding school and later in a junior year abroad in Bordeaux she passionately sought the French r attentively honed her accent and learned the idioms of her French lover When as a graduate student her passion for French culture turned to the elegance and sophistication of its intellectual life she found herself drawn to the language and style of the novelist Louis Ferdinand Celine At the same time she was repulsed by his anti-Semitism At Yale in the late 70s during the heyday of deconstruction she chose to transgress its apolitical purity and work on a subject that made history impossible to ignore French fascist intellectuals Kaplan's discussion of the de Man affair the discovery that her brilliant and charismatic Yale professor had written compromising articles for the pro-Nazi Belgian press and her personal account of the paradoxes of deconstruction are among the most compelling available on this subject French Lessons belongs in the company of Sartre's Words and the memoirs of Nathalie Sarraute Annie Ernaux and Eva Hoffman No book so engrossingly conveys both the excitement of learning and the moral dilemmas of the intellectual life

Globalizing Literary Genres Jernej Habjan, Fabienne Imlinger, 2015-10-14
Focused on the relation between processes of globalization and literary genres this volume intervenes in the prevalent notions of globalization literary history genre and the novel Using both close reading and world history both literary criticism and political theory the book is a timely intervention in the debates about world postcolonial and transnational literature as they have been intensified by critical globalization studies world systems analysis Bourdieuan sociology and cosmopolitanism studies It contends that globalization far from starting in recent decades has a long and complex history not unlike the history of literature itself meaning that when we speak of globalization and literature we in effect invoke the entire history of literature Essays examine literary genres in relation to broader historical processes connecting the present state of globalization to such key world historic events as the early modern geographical and scientific explorations the Enlightenment the expansions of modernity in the long nineteenth and twentieth centuries postmodernity and postcoloniality and contemporary counter hegemonic movements The book offers innovative readings of the pastoral from Saint Pierre to Carpentier the novel in Kant and Wieland and in Diderot and Marx travel writing from Verne to Cortázar sports writing in James and Kahn entrelacement in Bolaño Ghosh and Soderbergh and also the Mozambican ghost story Indian genre fiction fake autobiographies Sephardic language memoirs the postcolonial

Gothic Irish chick lit and counter hegemonic novels Making important theoretical contributions to a renewed discussion about genre especially genres of narrative fiction this volume addresses global studies the history of the novel and debates over periodization and nationalism in literary history Lives in Context Ardra L. Cole, J. Gary Knowles, 2001 The reflexive turn in qualitative research has transformed the process of doing life history research No longer are research subjects examined through the lens of the all knowing but supposedly invisible researcher As Ardra Cole and Gary Knowles point out in this fresh introduction to conducting life history research the process is now one of mutuality empathy sensitivity and caring The authors carry the novice researcher through the steps of conducting life history research from conceptualizing the project to the various means of presenting results with an eye toward understanding the complex relationship between participant and researcher and how that shapes the project In addition to examples from their own research Cole and Knowles bring in the work of a dozen novice researchers who explain the challenges they faced in developing their own life history projects in a wide variety of settings Well written interesting and pedagogically sound Lives in Context is the ideal text for teaching life history research to students and an important reference for the bookshelf of all qualitative researchers

Intimate Reading Janet Mason Ellerby, 2001-06-01 Maintaining that the memoir requires a more personal relationship with its readers and critics Janet Mason Ellerby calls for intimate readings She begins this work with her own memoir narrating a long held secret her pregnancy at age sixteen her life in the Florence Crittendon Home for Unwed Mothers and the birth and adoption of her first daughter She goes on to tell about the aftermath of this pivotal time in and the painful consequences of keeping a secret Included are detailed analyses of more than a dozen contemporary memoirs by American women all of which share a common purpose the disclosure of secrets Ellerby describes the costs of this secrecy and explores the possibilities of breaking intractable codes of silence It is a study that is germane to the intellectual and emotional lives of all women This book is the first serious exploration of a genre that has gained acceptance with an expanding audience of readers Ellerby maintains that the efforts of memoirists to plumb their painful pasts has cultural significance and precipitates important social work The memoir joins fiction and autobiography as an important commentary on modern life

Repossessing the World Helen M. Buss, 2006-01-01 Why does it seem as if everyone is writing memoirs and particularly women The current popularity of memoir verifies the common belief that we each have a story to tell And we do especially women Memoirs are not only representations of women's personal lives but also of their desire to repossess important parts of our culture in which women's stories have not mattered Beginning with her own motivations for writing memoirs Helen M Buss examines the many kinds of memoir written by contemporary women memoirs about growing up memoirs about traumatic events about relationships about work In writing memoirs these women publicly assert that their lives have mattered They reshape the memoir a form as old as the middle ages and as young as today into a social discourse that blends the personal with the political the self with the significant other literature with history and fiction with autobiography and essay Buss urges readers to use their reading experience to help themselves understand and write the significance of their own lives Repossessing the World is the first book length critical inquiry into women's use of a form that has often been dismissed as less important than autobiography less professional than the novel and less intellectual than the formal essay Buss demonstrates that the memoir makes its own art not only through selective borrowing from these genres but also through the unique way that the tripartite narrative voice of the memoir constructs the personal and public experience of the memoirist as significant to our cultural moment

A Menopausal Memoir Anne C Herrmann, 2014-01-14 The only extended first person narrative about menopause A Menopausal Memoir: Letters from Another Climate explores the connection between menopause mourning and memory through nine fictional letters written to different addressees The letters explain the author's own experience of having a hysterectomy without her permission during surgery for endometriosis and being thrown into instant menopause Herrmann expresses her experiences differently in each letter based on the recipient's gender sexual identity and age revealing the complexities of accepting menopause Psychotherapists psychologists physicians medical students academics and those interested in women's health and women's studies will receive insight into one woman's experience and will learn how our bodies mold our sexual identity and shape many aspects of our lives Writing these letters from the point of view of a scholar engaged in personal narrative but not in the familiar narrative of a woman married with children Herrmann examines her journey of loss recovery and healing through feminist theory The letters in A Menopausal Memoir reveal many other issues including the relationship between the female body and the meanings attached to it the different ways women tell their stories about difficult experiences negotiating the relationship between growing older and sexual identity the body's response to the loss of organs that form inform its history the connection between body identity and disease A highly personal yet theoretical approach to the experience of menopause A Menopausal Memoir explores how changes in the body affect your sexual identity your relationships and your feelings as a woman

In Babel's Shadow Brian Lennon, In Babel's Shadow is an ambitious sophisticated book that addresses crucial timely issues in the study of life writing translation translanguaging literary theory and linguistics Its range is extensive and its erudition and intellectual calisthenics dazzling

Steven G Kellman author of The Translingual Imagination

My Memoirs Alexandre Dumas, 1907

The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism Steven G. Kellman, Natasha Lvovich, 2021-09-30 Though it might seem as modern as Samuel Beckett Joseph Conrad and Vladimir Nabokov translingual writing texts by authors using more than one language or a language other than their primary one has an ancient pedigree The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism aims to provide a comprehensive overview of translingual literature in a wide variety of languages throughout the world from ancient to modern times The volume includes sections on translingual genres with chapters on memoir poetry fiction drama and cinema ancient medieval and modern translingualism global perspectives chapters overseeing European African and Asian languages Combining chapters from lead specialists in the field this volume will be of interest to scholars graduate students and advanced undergraduates interested in investigating the vibrant area of translingual literature Attracting scholars from a variety of disciplines this interdisciplinary and pioneering Handbook will advance current scholarship of the permutations of languages among authors throughout time

The Double Life of Paul De Man Evelyn Barish, 2014 Describes the life of the Yale University professor behind the deconstruction movement who at the time of his death was one of the most influential literary critics in America but was later revealed to be a Nazi collaborator and anti Semite Dead Wrong Michael Mello, 1997 Winner of the 1998 Award for Excellence in Indexing American Society of Indexers and H W Wilson Company What's France got to do with it? Juliana de Nooy, 2020-07-30 While only one book length memoir recounting the sojourn of an Australian in France was published in the 1990s well over 40 have been published since 2000 overwhelmingly written by women Although we might expect a focus on travel intercultural adjustment and communication in these texts this is the case only in a minority of accounts More frequently France serves as a backdrop to a project of self renovation in which transplantation to another country is incidental hence the question What s France got to do with it The book delves into what France represents in the various narratives its role in the self transformation and the reasons for the seemingly insatiable demand among readers and publishers for these stories It asks why these memoirs have gained such traction among Australian women at the dawn of the twenty first century and what is at stake in the fascination with France

Language Learner Narrative Helen O'Sullivan, 2014-01-02 Increasing numbers of people have contact with other cultures and languages Language Learner Narrative examines representations of this phenomenon in literary texts using an applied linguistic approach This analysis of written narratives of language learning and cross cultural encounter complements objective studies in intercultural communication and second language acquisition research Kant s use of the term M ndigkeit in his essay What is Enlightenment is used to frame the complex issues of language identity meaning and reality presented by the texts Augmented by Pierre Bourdieu s concept of linguistic capital this framing forms a counterpoint to the positioning of these authors as avatar s of poststructuralist wisdom Eva Hoffman The work includes a uniquely detailed linguistic analysis of Emine Sevgi zdamar s Mutter Zunge and further texts by other widely studied and less familiar authors Yoko Tawada Eva Hoffman Vassilis Alexakis Z Do Rock It also lists literary sources of language learner narrative Through its fundamental examination of what and how language means to us as individuals this volume will be of wide appeal to students and researchers in applied linguistics second language acquisition intercultural communication and literary studies

Bilingual Minds Aneta Pavlenko, 2006-03-09 Do bi and multilinguals perceive themselves differently in their respective languages Do they experience different emotions How do they express emotions and do they have a favourite language for emotional expression How are emotion words and concepts represented in the bi and multilingual lexicons This ground breaking book opens up a new field of study bilingualism and emotions and provides intriguing answers to these and many related questions
