Fridays Footprint:

Friday's Footprint Leslie Brothers, 2001-10-11 A psychiatrist who has received international recognition for her research on the neural basis of primate social cognition Leslie Brothers M D offers here a major argument about the social dimension of the human brain drawing on both her own work and a wealth of information from research laboratories neurosurgical clinics and psychiatric wards Brothers offers the tale of Robinson Crusoe as a metaphor for neuroscience s classic and flawed notion of the brain a starkly isolated figure working praying writing alone But the famous castaway of literature she notes came from society and returned to society So too with our brains they have evolved a specialized capacity for exchanging signals with other brains they are designed to be social This can be seen in the brain s sensitive attunement to the meanings of facial expressions and physical gestures and the way it assigns mental lives to physical bodies a feat we too often take for granted Brothers describes fascinating case studies that show that certain kinds of brain damage can destroy a patient s ability to interpret faces leaving him or her with the sense that they are surrounded by zombies She takes us down to the level of the individual neuron exploring the response of brain cells to social events Perhaps most important she connects neuroscience psychiatry and sociology as never before showing how our daily interaction creates an organized social world a network of brains that generates meaningful behavior and thought Our emotions and our sense of self have no existence outside of a social context Brothers conducts her argument with grace and style By broadening our approach to the brain this groundbreaking book makes an important contribution to our understanding of the human mind

Friday's Footprint Wesley Morris, 1979 Defoe's Footprints Robert M. Maniquis, Carl Fisher, 2009-01-01 In Defoe s Footprints essays by prominent scholars of eighteenth century literature salute Maximillian E Novak s influence upon the study of Daniel Defoe Best known today as the author of Robinson Crusoe Defoe was a prolific writer in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries who wrote novels essays pamphlets and poems Widely extending Novak s perspectives this volume explores Defoe s place in the English novel and in literary developments of mimesis realism and popular mythology The contributors locate Defoe in new ways within the complex symbolism and discourse of a turbulent world of burgeoning capitalism Protestantism imperialism and economic speculation With attention to Defoe s neglected writings as well as to his important works this volume uncovers his distance from and influence on modern literature paying tribute to Maximillian E Novak by presenting new ideas about and new readings of Daniel Defoe Crusoe's Footprints Patrick

Brantlinger, 2013-02-01 Cultural Studies has emerged in British and American higher education as a movement that challenges the traditional humanities and social science disciplines Influenced by the New Left feminism and poststructuralist literary theory cultural studies seeks to analyze everyday life and the social construction of subjectivities Crusoe s Footprints encompasses the movement of many colleges and universities in the 1960s towards such interdisciplinary and radical programs as American Studies Women s Studies and Afro American Studies Brantlinger also examines the role of feminist criticism which has been particularly crucial in both Britain and the U S Friday's Footprints Margaret Tyson Applegarth,1920 39 stories that present the appeal of world wide missions to boys and girls Neurosociology David D. Franks,2010-04-19 As a career sociologist I rst became interested in neurosociology around 1987 when a graduate student lent me Michael Gazzaniga s The Social Brain Ifthe biological human brain was really social I thought sociologists and their students should be the rst not the last to know As I read on I found little of the clumsy reductionism of the earlier biosociologists whom I had learned to see as the arch emy of our eld Clearly reductionism does exist among many neuroscientists But I also found some things that were very social and quite relevant for sociology After reading Descarte s Error by Antonio Damasio I learned how some types of emotion were necessary for rational thought a very radical innovation for the long honored objective rationalist I started inserting some things about split brain research into my classes mispronouncing terms like amygdala and being corrected by my s dents That instruction helped me realize how much we professors needed to catch up with our students I also wrote a review of Leslie Brothers Fridays Footprint How Society Shapes the Human Mind I thought if she could write so well about social processes maybe I could attempt to do something similar in connection with my eld For several years I found her an e mail partner with a wonderful sense of humor She even retrieved copies of her book for the use of my graduate students when I had assigned it for a seminar The Sacred Trusts Topkapı Sarayı Müzesi. Hırka-i Saadet Dairesi,Hilmi Aydın,2004 This gorgeous full color photographic guide reveals the marvelous collection of the sacred relics at the Topkapi Palace Museum in Istanbul which houses more than 600 invaluable belongings from prophets such as Abraham Moses and Muhammad as well as a number of Muslim saints Excavated from the most restricted rooms of the palace the entire selection including the pieces that are not on exhibit for daily visits is compiled here for the first time in this fundamental handbook making it perfect for students interested in Ottoman history sacred relics of the Ottoman rule or the broader Islamic heritage Corporate Impact Adrian Henriques,2010-08-12 It is widely accepted that sustainability has an inescapable social component but companies find it very hard to understand and measure their social impacts Why is this This book by noted CSR practitioner consultant and educator Adrian Henriques provides the first coherent approach to identifying understanding measuring and accounting for corporate social impact Beginning with an analysis of the nature of corporate social impact and the role of the stakeholder the complex relationship of social impact to economic and environmental impacts is explored This naturally leads to an examination of the contribution which social impact makes to business practice profitability and ultimately to global sustainability The second part of the book assesses the theory and practise of some of the critical measures of social impact which have been developed to date This includes Social Return on Investment SROI local economic impact LM3 and social capital as well as more established techniques It also explores new approaches such as social footprinting This is rounded out by presentation of a social accounting framework and how this can operate in parallel to standard financial accounting procedures This volume provides a clear digestible and practical roadmap for companies wishing to take responsibility for their role in society and improve their internal and external performance

The Briny South Nienke Boer, 2023-01-30 In The Briny South Nienke Boer examines the legal and literary narratives of enslaved indentured and imprisoned individuals crossing the Indian Ocean to analyze the formation of racialized identities in the imperial world Drawing on court records ledgers pamphlets censors reports newsletters folk songs memoirs and South African and South Asian works of fiction and autobiography Boer theorizes the role of sentiment and the depiction of emotions in the construction of identities of displaced peoples across the Indian Ocean From Dutch East India Company rule in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries to early apartheid South Africa Boer shows how colonial powers and settler states mediated and manipulated subaltern expressions of emotion as a way to silence racialized subjects and portray them as inarticulately suffering In this way sentiment operated in favor of the powerful rather than as an oppositional weapon of the subaltern By tracing the entwinement of displacement race and sentiment Boer frames the Indian Ocean as a site of subjectification with a long history of transnational connection and exploitation

Inhabited by Stories Nancy A. Barta-Smith, Danette DiMarco, 2012-11-30 Intertextuality has signaled change appropriation adaptation and derivation It has focused readers on irresolvable questions of influence and origination progressive or regressive movement across continents periods and media Inhabited by Stories Critical Essays on Tales Retold takes a different approach What would a model of literary study look like that steps out of time's river and embraces not only the presence and proximity of the world to the senses but also of the past and the future to the present here and now When stories inhabit us imagination and memory extend our ability to see and feel Phenomenological experience is lived not just thought Such a perspective suggests that the past and future inhabit the present increase the depth of sensory perception itself and enrich the range of our affective and ethical responses Grounded in the lived experience of reading this perspective offers an alternative to an idea of intertextuality as simply following lines of influence and appropriation It focuses on the expansion of experience created by telling and retelling stories Ironically for literary theorists and critics perhaps the highest form of both praise and critique is a tale retold since such retellings attest to literature's instructive power and its perennial regeneration

Footprints David Farrier, 2020-03-03 A profound meditation on climate change and the Anthropocene and an urgent search for the fossils industrial chemical geological that humans are leaving behind What will the world look like in ten thousand years or ten million What kinds of stories will be told about us In Footprints In Search of Future Fossils the award winning author David Farrier explores the traces we will leave for the very distant future Modern civilization has created objects and landscapes with the potential to endure through deep time whether it is plastic polluting the oceans and nuclear waste sealed within the earth or the 30 million miles of roads spanning the planet Our carbon could linger in the atmosphere for 100 000 years and the remains of our cities will still exist millions of years from now as a layer in the rock These future fossils have the potential to reveal much about how we lived in the twenty first century Crossing the boundaries of literature art and science Footprints invites us to think about how we will be remembered in the myths and stories of our distant descendants Traveling from the Baltic Sea to the Great Barrier Reef and from an ice core laboratory in Tasmania to Shanghai one of the world's biggest cities Farrier describes a world that is changing rapidly with consequences beyond the scope of human understanding As much a message of hope as a warning Footprints will not only alter how you think about the future it will change how you see the world today The Friday Night Club Sofia Lundberg,Alyson Richman,M.J.

Rose,2023-05-16 An International Bestseller While men have long been credited with producing the first abstract paintings the true creator was actually a woman Swedish artist Hilma af Klint who was inspired by her mystic visions Acclaimed authors Sofia Lundberg Alyson Richman and M J Rose bring her story to life in this groundbreaking novel Early 1900s The world belongs to men and the art world in Stockholm Sweden is no different until Hilma af Klint brings together a mysterious group of female painters and writers Anna Cornelia Sigrid and Mathilda to form their own emotional and artistic support system The members of the Friday Night Club find themselves thrust into uncharted territory when Hilma and her best friend Anna begin dabbling in the occult believing that through séances they can channel unseen spirits to help them achieve their potential as artists The Five as Hilma referred to them was a group of immensely talented fascinating women whose lives and work were cast into obscurity until now The Present Over a century later an associate curator at the Guggenheim Museum Eben Elliot brings the Hilma af Klint show to New York where he uncovers questions about the Five and how the modern day art world is funded which puts him in a precarious position both emotionally and professionally as he witnesses how history can be manipulated The Friday Night Club is an illuminating historical novel that explores destiny passion and the threads that connect five women as they challenge artistic and societal traditions Castaway Tales Christopher Palmer,2016-05-10

A wide ranging and appreciative literary history of the castaway tale from Defoe to the present Ever since Robinson Crusoe washed ashore the castaway story has survived and prospered inspiring a multitude of writers of adventure fiction to imitate and adapt its mythic elements In his brilliant critical study of this popular genre Christopher Palmer traces the castaway tales history and changes through periods of settlement violence and reconciliation and across genres and languages Showing how subsequent authors have parodied or inverted the castaway tale Palmer concentrates on the period following H G Wells's The Island of Dr Moreau These much darker visions are seen in later novels including William Golding's Lord of the Flies J G Ballard's Concrete Island and Iain Banks's The Wasp Factory In these and other variations the castaway becomes a cannibal the castaway's island is relocated to center of London female castaways mock the traditional masculinity of the original Crusoe or Friday ceases to be a biddable servant By the mid twentieth century the castaway tale has plunged into violence and madness only to see it return in young adult novels such as Scott O Dell's Island of the Blue Dolphins and Terry Pratchett's Nation to the buoyancy and optimism of the original The result is a fascinating series of revisions of violence and pessimism but also reconciliation Contract Governance Stefan Grundmann,Florian Möslin,Karl Riesenhuber,2015-07-23

This book introduces and develops Contract Governance as a new approach to contract theory. While the concept of governance has already been developed in Williamson's seminal article, it has ironically not received much attention in general contract law theory. Indeed, Contract Governance appears to be an important and necessary complement to corporate governance and in fact as the second equally important pillar of governance research in the core of private law. With this in mind, Grundmann, M. Slein and Riesenhuber provide a novel approach in setting an international and interdisciplinary research agenda for developing contract law scholarship. Contract Governance focuses particularly on the ways in which a governance perspective leads to research questions that have been neglected in traditional contract law scholarship and how from a governance perspective the questions are dealt with in a different manner and style. Combining substantive chapters and commentaries, this collection of essays addresses an array of topics including third party impact and contract governance problems in herd behaviour, governance of networks of contracts, governance in long term contractual relationships, contract governance and rule setting, and contract governance and political dimensions. Creation Fraser Watts, 2018-12-17

Published in 1999, How can we reconcile assumptions about the lawfulness of the universe with provision for chance events? Do the laws of nature indicate what absolutely must happen or just what is most likely to happen? These are important questions for both science and theology and are explored here in the first in-depth coverage of an important but neglected topic. Including perspectives from prestigious contributions and published with the backing of the International Society for Science and Religion, ISSR Creation: Law and Probability employs the disciplines of history and philosophy as well as cosmology, evolutionary biology and neuroscience in a fascinating dialogue of faith traditions. Specters of Conquest Adam Lifshey, 2010-06-12

This book intervenes in transatlantic and hemispheric studies by positing America as not a particular country or continent but a foundational narrative in which conquerors arrive at a shore intent on overwriting local versions of humanity, culture and landscape with inscriptions of their own design. This imposition of foreign textualities, however dominant, is never complete because the absences of the disappeared still linger; manifestly still are present. That apparent paradox results in a haunted America whose conquest is always partial and whose conquered are always contestatory. Readers of scholarship by transatlanticists such as Paul Gilroy and hemispherists such as Diana Taylor will find new conceptualizations here of an America that knows no geographic boundaries whose absences are collective but not necessarily interrelated by genealogy. The five principal texts at hand: Columbus's diary of his first voyage, the Popol Vuh of the Maya K'iche', Defoe's Robinson Crusoe, Evita's Cuando los Combes luchaban, the first African novel in Spanish, and Pynchon's Mason Dixon are examined as foundational stories of America in their imaginings of its transatlantic commencement. Interspersed too are shorter studies of narratives by William Carlos Williams, Rigoberta Menchú, Iván N. ez Cabeza de Vaca, José Martí, Mark Knopfler (former lead singer of Dire Straits) and Gabriel García Márquez. These texts are rarely if ever read together because of their discrete provenances in time and place, yet their juxtaposition reveals how the disjunctions and ruptures that took place on the eastern and western shores of the Atlantic upon the arrival of Europeans became insinuated as recurring and resistant absences in narratives ostensibly contextualized by the Conquest The book concludes by proposing that Mary Shelley's Frankenstein is the great American novel After Specters of Conquest Indigenous Absence in Transatlantic Literatures America will never seem the same Empire Islands Rebecca Weaver-Hightower, 2007 Through a detailed unpacking of the castaway genre's appeal in English literature Empire Islands forwards our understanding of the sociopsychology of British Empire Rebecca Weaver Hightower argues convincingly that by helping generations of readers to make sense of and perhaps feel better about imperial aggression the castaway story in effect enabled the expansion and maintenance of European empire Empire Islands asks why so many colonial authors chose islands as the setting for their stories of imperial adventure and why so many postcolonial writers write back to those island castaway narratives Drawing on insightful readings of works from Thomas More's Utopia to Caribbean novels like George Lamming's Water with Berries from canonical works such as Robinson Crusoe and The Tempest to the lesser known A Narrative of the Life and Astonishing Adventures of John Daniel by Ralph Morris Weaver Hightower examines themes of cannibalism piracy monstrosity imperial aggression and the concept of going native Ending with analysis of contemporary film and the role of the United States in global neoimperialism Weaver Hightower exposes how island narratives continue not only to describe but to justify colonialism Rebecca Weaver Hightower is assistant professor of English and postcolonial studies at the University of North Dakota Ecological Footprints Dawn M. Nothwehr, 2012 The Franciscan vision offers a powerful antidote to the moral malaise that prevents ordinary Christians from making the necessary choices to live more simply and share the world's goods more equitably Ecological Footprints unfolds the theological spiritual and ethical treasure trove of Christianity especially as it has been developed and lived in Franciscan theology and tradition as it relates to our efforts to achieve sustainable living Harper's Young People, 1888 Literature Through Film Robert Stam, 2004-10-22 This lively and accessible textbook written by an expert in film studies provides a fascinating introduction to the process and art of literature to film adaptations Provides a lively rigorous and clearly written account of key moments in the history of the novel from Don Quixote and Robinson Crusoe up to Lolita and One Hundred Years of Solitude Includes diversity of topics and titles such as Fielding Nabokov and Cervantes in adaptations by Welles Kubrick and the French New Wave Emphasizes both the literary texts themselves and their varied transtextual film adaptations Examines numerous literary trends from the self-conscious novel to magic realism before exploring the cinematic impact of the movement Reinvigorates the field of adaptation studies by examining it through the grid of contemporary theory Brings novels and film adaptations into the age of multiculturalism postcoloniality and the Internet by reflecting on their contemporary relevance
