Elite Images and Foreign Policy Outcomes Philip M. Burgess, 1969 Elite Images and Foreign Policy Outcomes
Philip M. Burgess, Mershon Center for Education in National Security, 1968 Elite Images and Foreign Policy Outcomes Philip M. Burgess, Mershon Center for Education in National Security, 1968 Foreign Policies Of Northern Europe Bengt Sundelius, 2019-04-05 This cross national treatment of the foreign policies of Northern Europe Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden is organized by substantive policy areas rather than by country thus allowing most similar case analyses of several dimensions of the countries international relations The authors make comparisons among the countries in each area of investigation and present details of security international development and neighborhood and foreign policy processes They also describe and explain international and domestic forces that shape the region s external policies The combination of sound empirically based data and attention to broader international and theoretical interests allows relevant comparisons with other advanced industrial states National Interest Joseph Frankel, 1970-06-18 The Shaping of Foreign Policy William Zimmerman, 2017-07-12 How are foreign policy decisions made This volume shows the various approaches to answer this question In their introduction Jacobson and Zimmerman make clear the goals and techniques of the comparative analysis of foreign policy behavior and following this they provide seven basic essays exemplifying with variations the principal approaches used to explain foreign policy behavior the systemic the environmental the societal the governmental and the idiosyncratic or psychological Jan F Triska and David D Finley illustrate the systemic approach as applied to Soviet American relations Harold and Margaret Sprout then deal with the significance of the physical environment in the study of international politics Two essays follow by respectively Karl W Deutsch and Gabriel A Almond representing the merger of international and comparative studies in this field The contribution by Henry A Kissinger examines the relationship of certain governmental systems to foreign policy behavior The editors introduction and selections reflect excitingly and accurately the state of the art of comparative foreign policy analysis and place before the reader in clear and compact form the continuing dialogue among scholars about one of the most controversial areas in the study of political processes Crucible of Beliefs Dan Reiter, 2019-05-15 How do foreign policymakers learn from history When do states enter alliances Why have some small powers chosen to enter alliances whereas others have stayed neutral In Crucible of Beliefs Dan Reiter uses work in social psychology and organization theory to build a formative events model of learning in international politics History does inform the decisions of policymakers he suggests but it is history of a specific sort based on firsthand experience in major events such as wars Tested against balance of threat theory the leading realist explanation of alliance behavior Reiter s formative events model of learning emerges as a far better predictor of states decisions Crucible of Beliefs shows that contrary to balance of threat theory state leaders ignore the level of international threat and focus instead on avoiding past mistakes and repeating past successes A serious blow to realism these findings demonstrate that to understand the dynamics of world politics it is essential to know how leaders learn from history

Indonesian Foreign Policy and the Dilemma of Dependence Franklin B. Weinstein, 2007 How can an underdeveloped country like Indonesia draw on outside resources for its national development without sacrificing its independence Approaching the problem from the vantage point of the Indonesian elite this important work explores the complex interactions between domestic political factors and the shaping of foreign policy To illustrate the ways in which underdevelopment has affected Indonesia's international participation Professor Weinstein presents a graphic picture of what Indonesia's leaders see when they view the outside world and he systematically seeks out the sources of their perceptions He shows that most of the elite see the international system as dominated by exploitative powers that cannot be relied on to assist Indonesia's development He examines the relationship between perceptions and politics under both Sukarno and Soeharto and offers an illuminating comparison of the bases of foreign policy under each leader revealing dramatic changes and surprising continuities His cogent analysis helps to explain the sharp reversal of policy in 1966 and his conclusions form a convincing hypothesis that can be tested in other Third World countries This book now brought back to life as a member of Equinox Publishing's Classic Indonesia series will attract specialists in Southeast Asia as well as readers with a broader interest in the politics and economics of underdeveloped countries FRANKLIN B WEINSTEIN was Director of the Project on United States Japan Relations at Stanford University where he also taught in the Department of Political Science A graduate of Yale University he received his PhD from Cornell University

The Reluctant Europeans Toivo Miljan, 1977-01-01 Foreign Policy Motivation Richard W. Cottam, 1977-01-15 Foreign policy motivation is a complex mix reflecting the fears and aspirations of public interest groups bureaucratic sets and important individuals International conflict cannot be resolved without resolving how foreign policy is motivated This book presents a conceptual framework for identifying and weighing foreign policy motives that shape direct and alter foreign policy

The Other Powers Ronald P. Barston, 2024-05-01 Originally published in 1972 this book examines the scope and possibilities for small states in the conduct of their foreign policies In the introduction the editor discusses the problem of defining the term small state and outlines the restraints they face and the type of international roles they play The subsequent chapters analyse the foreign policies of Norway the Netherlands Switzerland Zambia Israel Cyprus Cuba Singapore and New Zealand In each study the author examines the factors which shape that country's foreign policy objectives the organizational structures employed to formulate and implement foreign policy the type and level of international involvement and the methods used to deal with the political economic and security issues which make up and stem from the external policies The book will be of interest to specialists and students of government foreign policy analysis and other branches of international relations
