Musicianship For The Contemporary Musician Richard Sorce, 2016-01-01 Except for the most conservative music departments most colleges and universities have instituted music major programs to accommodate the contemporary student whose interest lies in current practice e g popular music music business and or industry and music production Those involved in the creation of popular music are usually more aurally oriented and create music based on what sounds as that which is accepted as popular music These students typically attempt song writing and perform either as soloists or with bands Music business and industry majors demonstrate interest in pursuing careers in music production recording publishing management promotion and essentially any area that does not involve primarily the creative aspect of composition or performance However regardless of a music major's primary area of interest he or she is still required to fulfill certain departmental musicianship requirements While traditional majors in performance composition or teaching for example must successfully complete historically established musicianship courses the current trend in musicianship offerings is an attempt to be more accommodating to various needs and concentrations Musicianship for the Contemporary Musician which can be completed in two semesters will satisfy this alternative approach and still fully prepare the graduate to move freely in other facets of the profession The author is a classically and formally trained pianist composer and theorist who has spent many years as a performer of classical jazz popular rock and liturgical music touring and studio musician and professor of music He is a multiple charted and award winning songwriter commissioned composer producer arranger orchestrator and lyricist Billboard et al and a published author composer and songwriter His works popular piano choral and instrumental have been recorded and published by numerous record companies and publishers in the United States and abroad The author speaks from dozens of years of experience in the music profession Computer-aided Ear-training Susanna

Király,2016-07-14 My doctoral thesis has involved two related tasks The first was to analyse Zoltán Kodály's philosophy of music education and on this basis to develop a computer assisted instruction method CAI for teaching music theory and self guided ear training The second task was to experiment with the effectiveness of this method and compare it with traditional approaches to teaching Many students find music theory and ear training difficult During the 1990s in connection with my licentiate thesis Self guided in the Computer Classroom 2000 I initiated this research project and developed a CAI method for teaching music theory and self guided I wanted to see just how useful Kodály's approach could be in computer aided teaching and learning The results show that the Kodály approach can be successfully applied to the development of a computer aided self guided programme and the Kodály system is applicable to new learning environments and teaching practices In music education CAI is an area with great potential for development It offers multiple learning options and can enhance students motivation to study music theory and ear training some of the learning outcomes were even better than with the traditional ways of learning The results also show however that the teacher pupil interaction is essential in a computer aided learning programme
