Face Of Europe:

Britain Faces Europe Robert L. Pfaltzgraff, Jr., 2016-11-11 Transformations of thought among British foreign policy makers since World War II have motivated this new study For the first time in its history during the postwar decade Britain began to abandon its world power outlook and to turn toward a European consensus substituting regional interests for its global perspective The author asks How does a people so attuned to worldwide interests and commitments reconcile itself to such drastically altered circumstances as those that followed World War II How does a people that has historically viewed with hostility the unification of continental Europe develop as a top foreign priority participation in the European integration movement The book focuses on the response of the British Government to changing international and domestic forces including elite groups at home Britain Faces Europe is the first book to examine both the development of British policy and the evolution of attitudes in the British private sector toward European integration between 1957 and 1967 Drawing on public documents and interviews the author traces the movement of British policy toward a more European outlook Investigating publications of interest groups such as the National Farmers Union the Trades Union Congress the Confederation of British Industry and such Europe oriented groups as Federal Union and the United Kingdom Council for Europe the author traces the development of support for Common Market membership in the private sector Developing attitudes in representative British newspapers and journals and those of parliamentary parties are described Publications and statements of anti European organizations and public opinion polls are also examined Important elements of the study for all students and observers of world affairs are its examination of British expectations from European integration and its assessment of the British Common Market case from propositions about integration drawn from theoretically oriented literature The book is an innovation in approach in that other studies have focused almost exclusively on descriptions of official policy without major reference to either the private sector or theories of integration at the international level

Values and Identities in Europe Michael J. Breen, 2017-01-20 Contrary to what is suggested in media and popular discourses Europe is neither a monolithic entity nor simply a collection of nation states It is rather a union of millions of individuals who differ from one another in a variety of ways while also sharing many characteristics associated with their ethnic social political economic religious or national characteristics This book explores differences and similarities that exist in attitudes beliefs and opinions on a range of issues across Europe Drawing on the extensive data of the European Social Survey it presents insightful analyses of social attitudes organised around the themes of religious identity political identity family identity and social identity together with a section on methodological issues A collection of rigorously analysed studies on national comparative and pan European levels Values and Identities in Europe offers insight into the heart and soul of Europe at a time of unprecedented change As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in social attitudes social change in Europe demographics and survey methods region's forestry and related institutional arrangements such as forest administration extension services and forest research. Future prospects for the rural population living on income from forestry will considerably depend on how individuals and organisations react in view of these changes. It will be vitally important how forest owners and managers apply new knowledge in forestry and how organisations best deal with the emerging changes. Innovation and entrepreneurship are main driving forces for economic growth, competitiveness and employment creation especially in rural areas. From 2001 to 2003 the EFI Regional Project Centre INNOFORCE conducted research on innovation and entrepreneurship in forestry in Central Europe seeking answers to the following questions: What is the situation and perceived future outlook for forestry in the region? How important are innovation and entrepreneurship considered in the sector? How much innovation and entrepreneurship is actually taking place? What are supporting and impeding factors? The research report provides new knowledge on innovation behaviour of forest holdings and forest related innovation systems in Central Europe and on changes that are necessary to enhance innovation and entrepreneurship in the sector. Survey results are accompanied by lessons learned from more than 30 cases referring to innovations in forestry implemented in eight countries.

Hoverflies of Northwest Europe M.P. van Veen, 2014-07-24. Hoverflies of the Northwest Europe is an updated edition with revisions to the text. It identifies the hoverflies of Northwest Europe and incorporates the knowledge that has been published in many articles over the past decades. The book covers 500 species, nearly two thirds of the known European syrphid fauna. The main body of the book consists of dichotomous keys to all the hoverfly species found in the region, richly illustrated with drawings that show details as well as whole flies. What are hoverflies and how are they to distinguish from bees, wasps and other bees? Where are they found: forests, woodlands, marshes, peatlands and bogs, meadows, grasslands, gardens? When is the best time to find and see hoverflies? Collecting and preserving specimens. Early stages: eggs and larvae. How to use this book. The hoverfly body. Identification keys to the genera and 500 species of Northwest Europe, richly illustrated with drawings that show details as well as whole flies.

Coal Mining in Europe George Samuel Rice, Irving Hartmann, 1939. The two dispensations, gentile and millennial; an ecclesiastical history of Europe, as set forth in the book of Revelation John Williams (writer on the Apocalypse.), 1894.

The History and Character of Calvinism John Thomas McNeill, 1923. This is a masterful historical portrait of the whole movement of Calvinism for general readers and scholars alike.

Henry James's Europe Dennis Tredy, Annick Duperray, Adrian Harding, 2011. As an American author who chose to live in Europe, Henry James frequently wrote about cultural differences between the Old and New World. The plight of bewildered Americans adrift on a sea of European sophistication became a regular theme in his fiction. This collection of twenty-four papers from some of the world's leading James scholars offers a comprehensive picture of the author's cross-cultural aesthetics. It provides detailed analyses of James's perception of Europe, of its people and places, its history and culture, its artists and thinkers, its aesthetics and its ethics, which ultimately lead to a profound reevaluation of his writing. With in-depth analysis of his works of fiction, his autobiographical and personal writings and his critical works the collection is a major contribution to current thinking about James transtextuality and cultural appropriation

Ethnicity and Intercultural Dialogue at the European Union

Eastern Border Mircea Brie, Sorin Sipos, 2014-09-26 Ethnicity and religious confession are concepts around which discussion and controversy arise generating emotions and feelings of extreme intensity Each of us belongs to such a community By default there is pressure on us to be subjective Intercultural dialogue can be successfully provided where a community that is aware of the Other comes to communicate cooperate and build the structure of a multicultural society Diversity throughout Central and South Eastern Europe can lead to either cooperation or conflict Presently we face discrimination marginalization low status minorities peripheral societies and the inequitable distribution of resources that leads to unequal distribution of authority and power
