Street Art, Public City Alison Young, 2013-11-20 What is street art Who is the street artist Why is street art a crime Since the late 1990s a distinctive cultural practice has emerged in many cities street art involving the placement of uncommissioned artworks in public places Sometimes regarded as a variant of graffiti sometimes called a new art movement its practitioners engage in illicit activities while at the same time the resulting artworks can command high prices at auction and have become collectable aesthetic commodities Such paradoxical responses show that street art challenges conventional understandings of culture law crime and art Street Art Public City Law Crime and the Urban Imagination engages with those paradoxes in order to understand how street art reveals new modes of citizenship in the contemporary city It examines the histories of street art and the motivations of street artists and the experiences both of making street art and looking at street art in public space It considers the ways in which street art has become an integral part of the identity of cities such as London New York Berlin and Melbourne at the same time as street art has become increasingly criminalised It investigates the implications of street art for conceptions of property and authority and suggests that street art and the urban imagination can point us towards a different kind of city the public city Street Art Public City will be of interest to readers concerned with art culture law cities and urban space and also to readers in the fields of legal studies cultural criminology urban geography cultural studies and art more generally

Political Aesthetics Crispin Sartwell, 2011-03-15 I suggest that although at any given place and moment the aesthetic expressions of a political system just are that political system the concepts are separable Typically aesthetic aspects of political systems shift in their meaning over time or even are inverted or redeployed with an entirely transformed effect You cannot understand politics without understanding the aesthetics of politics but you cannot understand aesthetics as politics The point is precisely to show the concrete nodes at which two distinct discourses coincide or connive come apart or coalesce from Political Aesthetics Juxtaposing and connecting the art of states and the art of art historians with vernacular or popular arts such as reggae and hip hop Crispin Sartwell examines the reach and claims of political aesthetics Most analysts focus on politics as discursive systems privileging text and reducing other forms of expression to the merely illustrative He suggests that we need to take much more seriously the aesthetic environment of political thought and action Sartwell argues that graphic style music and architecture are more than the propaganda arm of political systems they are its constituents A noted cultural critic Sartwell brings together the disciplines of political science and political philosophy philosophy of art and art history in a new way clarifying basic notions of aesthetics beauty sublimity and representation and applying them in a political context A general argument about the fundamental importance of political aesthetics is interspersed with a group of stimulating case studies as disparate as Leni Riefenstahl s films and Black Nationalist aesthetics the Dead Kennedys and Jeffersonian architecture

Language as a Local Practice Alastair Pennycook, 2010-04-05 Language as a Local Practice addresses the questions of language locality and practice as a way of moving forward in our understanding of how language operates as an integrated social and spatial activity By taking each of these three elements language locality and practice and exploring how they relate to each other Language as a Local Practice opens up new ways of thinking about language It questions assumptions about languages as systems or as countable entities and suggests instead that language emerges from the activities it performs To look at language as a practice is to view language as an activity rather than a structure as something we do rather than a system we draw on as a material part of social and cultural life rather than an abstract entity Language as a Local Practice draws on a variety of contexts of language use from bank machines to postcards Indian newspaper articles to fish naming in the Philippines urban graffiti to mission statements suggesting that rather than thinking in terms of language use in context we need to consider how language space and place are related how language creates the contexts where it is used how languages are the products of socially located activities and how they are part of the action Language as a Local Practice will be of interest to students on advanced undergraduate and post graduate courses in Applied Linguistics Language Education TESOL Literacy and Cultural Studies
