The Languages and Linguistics of Western Asia Geoffrey Haig,Geoffrey Khan,2018-12-03 The languages of Western Asia belong to a variety of language families including Indo European Kartvelian Semitic and Turkic but share numerous features on account of being in areal contact over many centuries This volume presents descriptions of the modern languages contributed by leading specialists and evaluates similarities across the languages that may have arisen by areal contact It begins with an introductory chapter presenting an overview of the various genetic groupings in the region and summarizing some of the significant features and issues relating to language contact In the core of the volume the presentation of the languages is divided into five contact areas which include i eastern Anatolia and northwestern Iran ii northern Iraq iii western Iran iv the Caspian region and south Azerbaijan and v the Caucasian rim and southern Black Sea coast Each section contains chapters devoted to the languages of the area preceded by an introductory section that highlights significant contact phenomena The volume is rounded off by an appendix with basic lexical items across a selection of the languages The handbook features contributions by Erik Anonby Denise Bailey Christiane Bulut David Erschler Geoffrey Haig Geoffrey Khan Rene Lacroix Parvin Mahmoudveysi Hrach Martirosyan Ludwig Paul Stephan Proch zka Laurentia Schreiber Don Stilo Mortaza Taheri Ardali Christina van der Wal Anonby

The Complexities of Morphology Peter Arkadiev,Francesco Gardani,2020 This volume explores the multiple aspects of morphological complexity offering typological acquisitional sociolinguistic and diachronic perspectives The analyses are based on rich empirical data from a wide range of languages as well as experimental data from artificial language learning

Grammatical Borrowing in Cross-Linguistic Perspective Yaron Matras,Jeanette Sakel,2008-08-27 The book contains 30 descriptive chapters dealing with a specific language contact situation The chapters follow a uniform organisation format being the narrative version of a standard comprehensive questionnaire previously distributed to all authors The questionnaire targets systematically the possibility of contact influence grammatical borrowing in a full range of categories The uniform structure facilitates a comparison among the chapters and the languages covered The introduction describes the setup of the questionnaire and the methodology of the approach along with a survey of the difficulties of sampling in contact linguistics Two evaluative chapters each authored by one of the co editors draws general conclusions from the volume as a whole one in relation to borrowed grammatical categories and meaningful hierarchies the other in relation to the distribution of Matter and Pattern replication

Differential Subject Marking Helen de Hoop,Peter de Swart,2007-12-04 Although almost all sentences have subjects not all sentences encode their subjects in the same way Some languages overtly mark some subjects but not others depending on certain features of the subject argument or the sentence in which the subject figures This phenomenon is known as

Differential Subject Marking DSM Languages differ in which conditions govern DSM Some languages differentiate their subjects on the basis of semantic features of the argument such as thematic role volitionality animacy whereas others differentiate on the basis of clausal features such as tense aspect and the main dependent clause distinction DSM comes in different formal guises case marking agreement inverse systems and voice alternations Relatively much is known about cross linguistic variation in the marking of subjects yet little attempt has been made to formalize the facts This volume aims to unify formal approaches to language and presents both specific case studies of DSM and theoretical approaches

Essays on Typology of Iranian Languages Alireza Korangy, Behrooz Mahmoodi-Bakhtiari, 2019-10-21 The Iranian languages are one of the world's major language families With an estimated 150 to 200 million native speakers these languages constitute the western group of the larger Indo Iranian family which represents a major eastern branch of the Indo European languages Geographically the Iranian Languages are spoken from Central Turkey Syria and Iraq in the West to Pakistan and western edged of Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region of China in the east Iranian languages have long been among the major interests of the philologists and general linguists and European scholars have made tremendous contributions to the study of this language family In light of such efforts now we know that the Iranian languages can be historically divided into three phases that are old middle and new Iranian languages and the new Iranian languages may be generally grouped as Eastern and Western In recent years the orientation towards typology has led to the appearance of somewhat more ponderance on the subject but the work has not included description of some of the very important languages of the Caspian and or of the religious minorities such as those of the Zoroastrians or the Jewish community of the four fold Central Plateau dial

The Iranian Languages Gernot Windfuhr, 2013-05-13 The Iranian languages form the major eastern branch of the Indo European group of languages itself part of the larger Indo Iranian family Estimated to have between 150 and 200 million native speakers the Iranian languages constitute one of the world's major language families This comprehensive volume offers a detailed overview of the principle languages which make up this group Old Iranian Middle Iranian and New Iranian The Iranian Languages is divided into fifteen chapters The introductory chapters by the editor present a general overview and a detailed discussion of the linguistic typology of Iranian The individual chapters which follow are written by leading experts in the field These provide the reader with concise non technical descriptions of a range of Iranian languages Each chapter follows the same pattern and sequence of topics taking the reader through the significant features not only of phonology and morphology but also of syntax from phrase level to complex sentences and pragmatics Ample examples on all levels are provided with detailed annotation for the non specialist reader In addition each chapter covers lexis sociolinguistic and typological issues and concludes with annotated sample texts This unique resource is the ideal companion for undergraduate and postgraduate students of linguistics and language It will also be of interest to researchers or anyone with an interest in historical linguistics linguistics anthropology and language development Gernot Windfuhr is Professor of Iranian Studies at the University of Michigan he has published widely on Persian and Iranian languages and linguistics and related languages as well as on other aspects of Iranian culture including Persian literature and Pre Islamic Iranian religions

Grammatical gender and linguistic complexity II Francesca Di Garbo ,Bruno Olsson ,Bernhard Wälchli ,2019 The many facets of grammatical gender remain one of the most fruitful areas of linguistic research and pose fascinating questions about the origins and development of complexity in language The present work is a two volume collection of 13 chapters on the topic of grammatical gender seen through the prism of linguistic complexity The contributions discuss what counts as complex and or simple in grammatical gender systems whether the distribution of gender systems across the world s languages relates to the language ecology and social history of speech communities Contributors demonstrate how the complexity of gender systems can be studied synchronically both in individual languages and over large cross linguistic samples and diachronically by exploring how gender systems change over time Volume two consists of three chapters providing diachronic and typological case studies followed by a final chapter discussing old and new theoretical and empirical challenges in the study of the dynamics of gender complexity This volume is preceded by volume one which in addition to three chapters on the theoretical foundations of gender complexity contains six chapters on grammatical gender and complexity in individual languages and language families of Africa New Guinea and South Asia

Linguistic Convergence and Areal Diffusion Éva Ágnes Csató,Bo Isaksson,Carina Jahani,2005 The volume in the field of Iranian Semitic and Turkic contact linguistics is the first of its kind providing a summary of the present results of this dynamic field of research
