History of the Town of Paris, and the Valley of the Sauquoit Henry C. Rogers, 1881 The Great Stink of Paris and the Nineteenth-Century Struggle against Filth and Germs David S. Barnes, 2006-06-06

The scientific and social history surrounding the 1880 incident of a foul odor in Paris and the development of public health culture that followed. Late in the summer of 1880 a wave of odors enveloped large portions of Paris. As the stench lingered, outraged residents feared that the foul air would breed an epidemic. Fifteen years later when the City of Light was in the grips of another Great Stink, the public conversation about health and disease had changed dramatically. Parisians held their noses and protested, but this time few feared that the odors would spread disease. Historian David S. Barnes examines the birth of a new microbe-centered science of public health during the 1880s and 1890s when the germ theory of disease burst into public consciousness. Tracing a series of developments in French science, medicine, politics, and culture, Barnes reveals how the science and practice of public health changed during the heyday of the Bacteriological Revolution. Despite its many innovations, however, the new science of germs did not entirely sweep away the older sanitarian view of public health. The longstanding conviction that disease could be traced to filthy people, places, and substances remained strong even as it was translated into the language of bacteriology. Ultimately, the attitudes of physicians and the French public were shaped by political struggles between republicans and the clergy, by aggressive efforts to educate and civilize the peasantry, and by long-term shifts in the public's ability to tolerate the odor of bodily substances. A well-developed study in medically related social history, it tells an intriguing tale and prompts us to ask how our own cultural contexts affect our views and actions regarding environmental and infectious scourges here and now. New England Journal of Medicine. Both a captivating story and a sophisticated historical study. Kudos to Barnes for this valuable and insightful book that both physicians and historians will enjoy. Journal of the American Medical Association.

Living in Death Richard Rechtman, 2021-11-02. Winner, Prix Littéraire Paris Liège 2021. Winner, French Voices Award for Excellence in Publication and Translation. When we speak of mass killers, we may speak of radicalized ideologues, mediocrities who only obey orders, or bloodthirsty monsters. Who are these men who kill on a mass scale? What is their consciousness? Do they not feel horror or compassion? Richard Rechtman's Living in Death offers new answers to a question that has haunted us at least since the Holocaust. For Rechtman, it is not ideologies that kill, but people. This book descends into the ordinary life of people who execute hundreds every day the same way others go to the office. Bringing philosophical sophistication to the ordinary, the book constitutes an anthropology of mass killers. Turning away from existing psychological and philosophical accounts of genocide's perpetrators, Rechtman instead explores the conditions under which administering death becomes a job like any other. Considering Cambodia, Rwanda, and other mass killings, Living in Death draws on a vast array of archival research, psychological theory, and anecdotes from the author's clinical work with refugees and former participants in genocide. Rechtman mounts a compelling case for reframing and refocusing our attempts to explain and preempt acts of mass torture rape killing and extermination What we must see Rechtman argues is that for genocidaires those who carry out acts that are or approach genocide there is nothing extraordinary unusual or world historical about their actions On the contrary they are preoccupied with the same mundane things that characterize any other job interactions with colleagues living conditions a drink and a laugh at the end of the day To understand this is to understand how things came to be the way they are and how they might be different A Short History of Engraving & Etching, for the Use of Collectors and Students Arthur Mayger Hind,1908 Borders, Fences and Walls Elisabeth Vallet,2016-04-08 Twenty years after the fall of the Berlin Wall the question remains Do good fences still make good neighbours Since the Great Wall of China the Antonine Wall built in Scotland to support Hadrian s Wall the Roman Limes or the Danevirk fence the wall has been a constant in the protection of defined entities claiming sovereignty East and West But is the wall more than an historical relict for the management of borders In recent years the wall has been given renewed vigour in North America particularly along the U S Mexico border and in Israel Palestine But the success of these new walls in the development of friendly and orderly relations between nations or indeed within nations remains unclear What role does the wall play in the development of security and insecurity Do walls contribute to a sense of insecurity as much as they assuage fears and create a sense of security for those behind the line Exactly what kind of security is associated with border walls This book explores the issue of how the return of the border fences and walls as a political tool may be symptomatic of a new era in border studies and international relations Taking a multidisciplinary approach this volume examines problems that include security issues the recurrence and or decline of the wall wall discourses legal approaches to the wall the wall industry and border technology as well as their symbolism role objectives and efficiency A Dictionary of Greek and Roman Biography and Mythology: Earinus-Nyx William Smith,1880 History of European Drama and Theatre Erika Fischer-Lichte,2002 This major study reconstructs the vast history of European drama from Greek tragedy through to twentieth century theatre focusing on the subject of identity Throughout history drama has performed and represented political religious national ethnic class related gendered and individual concepts of identity Erika Fischer Lichte s topics include ancient Greek theatre Shakespeare and Elizabethan theatre by Corneilli Racine Moli re the Italian commedia dell arte and its transformations into eighteenth century drama the German Enlightenment Lessing Schiller Goethe and Lenz romanticism by Kleist Byron Shelley Hugo de Vigny Musset B chner and Nestroy the turn of the century Ibsen Strindberg Chekhov Stanislavski the twentieth century Craig Meyerhold Artaud O Neill Pirandello Brecht Beckett M ller Anyone interested in theatre throughout history and today will find this an invaluable source of information Studies in Anglo-Jewish History Henry Paine Stokes,1913 On the Edge of the Cliff Roger Chartier,1997 Throughout Chartier keeps his focus on historians who have stressed the relations between the products of discourse and social practices La France et ses administrations : un état des savoirs Jean-Michel Eymeri-Douzans,Geert Bouckaert,2013-06-12 En pleine

The Mechanics of Passion Alain Ehrenberg, 2020-09-23 Cognitive neuroscience once a specialized area of psychology and biology has enjoyed increased worldwide legitimacy in the last thirty years not only in psychiatry and mental health but also in fields as diverse as education economics marketing and law How can this surge in popularity be explained Has the new science of human behaviour now become the barometer of our conduct and our lives taking the place previously occupied by psychoanalysis Rather than asking if neuronal man will replace social man or how to surmount the opposition between the biological and the social The Mechanics of Passions uncovers hidden relationships between global social ideals and specialized concepts of neuroscience and cognitive science Proposing a historical sociology situated in the dual contexts of the history of sciences and the history of self representation Alain Ehrenberg describes the conditions through which cognitive neuroscience has developed and acquired a strong moral authority in our individualistic society permeated by ideas values and norms of autonomy Cognitive neuroscience offers the promise of turning personal limitations into assets by exploring an individual's hidden potential The Mechanics of Passions identifies this as the echo of social ideals of autonomy affirming that the moral authority of cognitive neuroscience stems as much from cultural norms as from any results of scientific or medical experimentation

Status Interaction during the Reign of Louis XIV Giora Sternberg,2014-07-04 Who preceded whom Who wore what Which form of address should one use One of the most striking aspects of the early modern period is the crucial significance that contemporaries ascribed to such questions In this hierarchical world status symbols did not simply mirror a pre defined social and political order rather they operated as a key tool for defining and redefining identities relations and power Centuries later scholars face the twofold challenge of evaluating status interaction in an era where its open pursuit is no longer as widespread and legitimate and of deciphering its highly sophisticated and often implicit codes Status Interaction during the Reign of Louis XIV addresses this challenge by investigating status interaction in dress as in address in high ceremony and in everyday life at one of its most important historical arenas aristocratic society at the time of Louis XIV By recovering actual practices on the ground based on a wide array of printed and manuscript sources it transcends the simplistic view of a court revolving around the Sun King and reveals instead the multiple perspectives of contesting actors stakes and strategies Demonstrating the wide ranging implications of the phenomenon macro political as well as micro political this study provides a novel framework for understanding early modern action and agency Biographical Index of the Middle Ages ,2011-03-01 The index to the Biographical Archive of the Middle Ages makes accessible about 130 000 biographical articles from nearly 200 volumes The entries contain short biographical information on approx 95 000 persons from Europe and the Middle East who shaped the cultural development and the religious life during one thousand years
