Legislating the War on Terror Benjamin Wittes, 2010-02-01 A Brookings Institution Press and the Hoover Institution and the Georgetown Center on National Security and the Law publication. The events of September 11 and subsequent American actions irrevocably changed the political, military and legal landscapes of U S national security. Predictably, many of the changes were controversial and abuses were revealed. The United States needs a legal framework that reflects these new realities. Legislating the War on Terror presents an agenda for reforming the statutory law governing this new battle, balancing the need for security, the rule of law and the constitutional rights that protect American freedom. The authors span a considerable swath of the political spectrum but they all believe that Congress has a significant role to play in shaping the contours of America's confrontation with terrorism. Their essays are organized around the major tools that the United States has deployed against al Qaeda as well as the legal problems that have arisen as a result. Mark Gitenstein compares U S and foreign legal standards for detention, interrogation and surveillance. Matthew Waxman studies possible strategic purposes for detaining people without charging them, while Jack Goldsmith imagines a system of judicially reviewed law of war detention. Robert Chesney suggests ways to refine U S criminal law into a more powerful instrument against terrorism. Robert Litt and Wells C Bennett suggest the creation of a specialized bar of defense lawyers for trying accused terrorists in criminal courts. David Martin explores the relationship between immigration law and counterterrorism. David Kris lays out his proposals for modernizing the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. Justin Florence and Matthew Gerke outline possible reforms of civil justice procedures in national security litigation. Benjamin Wittes and Stuart Taylor Jr investigate ways to improve interrogation laws while clarifying the definition and limits of torture. Kenneth Anderson argues for the protection of Neurointervention in the Medical Specialties Randall C. Edgell, Kara M. Christopher, 2022-01-18 This book covers the intersections between neurointervention and neurology, neurointervention and neurosurgery, and neurointervention and other specialties. It fills the gap in the literature by placing specific emphasis on appropriate patient selection, preparation and post-procedural management. Concise and comprehensive, this text covers the increasingly important aspects of the neurointerventionalist profession as it has moved away from a purely technical role to a focus on clinical care. In addition, the most rapidly expanding area of neurointervention, ischemic stroke, is thoroughly examined in this text, where other texts on this subject fail.

It is also meant as a reference for non neurointerventionalists who may desire to learn more about how their patients can benefit from the therapeutic or adjunctive techniques that the neurointerventionalist can provide Neurointervention in the Medical Specialties Second Edition is an essential guide written for neurointerventional specialists from all backgrounds both in practice and in training

Market Institutions in Sub-Saharan Africa Marcel Fafchamps, 2003-12-05 An analysis of recent data on the economic behavior of market institutions in sub Saharan Africa with implications for future research and current policy In Market Institutions in Sub Saharan Africa Marcel Fafchamps synthesizes the results of recent surveys of indigenous market institutions in twelve countries including Benin Ghana Kenya Madagascar Malawi and Zimbabwe and presents findings about economics exchange in Africa that have implications both for future research and current policy Employing empirical data as well as theoretical models that clarify the data Fafchamps takes as his unifying principle the difficulties of contract enforcement Arguing that in an unpredictable world contracts are not always likely to be respected he shows that contract agreements in sub Saharan Africa are affected by the absence of large hierarchies both corporate and governmental and as a result must depend to a greater degree than in more developed economies on social networks and personal trust Fafchamps considers policy recommendations as they apply to countries in three different stages of development countries with undeveloped market institutions like Ghana countries at an intermediate stage like Kenya and countries with developed market institutions like Zimbabwe Market Institutions in Sub Saharan Africa caps ten years of personal research by the author Fafchamps in collaboration with such institutions as the Africa Division of the World Bank and the International Food Policy Research Institute participated in the surveys of manufacturing firms and agricultural traders that provide the empirical basis for the book The result is a work that makes a significant contribution to research on the continuing economic stagnation of many countries in sub Saharan Africa and is also largely accessible to researchers in other fields and policy professionals

Human Health and the Environment Donald Vesley, 2013-03-09 The twentieth century has seen a remarkable evolution of environmental health and environmental protection concerns and concepts in the United States As a teacher of Environmental Health since the late 1950s I have witnessed the many twists and turns that have marked the latter half of the century and have had to seek continuously to explain these phenomena to my students in some rational manner We have witnessed the following and more great progress in controlling acute infectious diseases through successes in drinking water treatment and food processing the emergence of greater concern with trace chemicals in air and water and their role in chronic disease causation conflicting attitudes toward miraculous chemicals such as DDT which promised relief from arthropod borne scourges then came to be seen as another chemical threat to our children and our environment then the reemerging concern with infectious diseases precipitated by blood borne pathogens such as HIV All this occurred against a backdrop of scientific uncertainty and amid failures of risk assessment and risk communication together with press sensationalism from mad cow disease to flesh eating streptococci No wonder the public is confused
