Perspectives on Traditional Settlements and Communities Bagoes Wiryomartono, 2014-02-18 This book covers the relationship between societies and their culture in the context of traditional settlement in Indonesia The focus of the study is on the search for meanings of local concepts This study reveals and analyzes the concepts concerning home and their sociocultural strategies for maintaining a sense of community and identity In this study identifying local concepts becomes the hallmark and the hub of analyses that explore verify and establish relations between ideas and phenomena Based on these relations this study attempts to capture the reality of the local world that upholds and sustains the communities values norms and principles for what they may call a homeland The book is organized into two parts Part I describes a cross regional habitation in Indonesia while Part II presents four ethnic regions of Indonesia Sa dan Toraja Bali Naga and Minangkabau Their unique traditions customs beliefs and attitudes serve to provide diversity in terms of their backgrounds and lifestyles though they share the challenge of sustaining their sense of home in the face of modernity as characterized by changes and developments toward a technologically industrialized society The central research questions are What is development in terms of culture and environmental sustainability How do these communities respond to modernity The Austronesians Peter Bellwood, James J. Fox, Darrell Tryon, 2006-09-01 The Austronesian speaking population of the world are estimated to number more than 270 million people living in a broad swathe around half the globe from Madagascar to Easter Island and from Taiwan to New Zealand The seventeen papers in this volume provide a general survey of these diverse populations focusing on their common origins and historical transformations The papers examine current ideas on the linguistics prehistory anthropology and recorded history of the Austronesians Gender Relations in Forest Societies in Asia Govind Kelkar, Dev Nathan, Pierre Walter, 2003-12-06 Extrait de la couverture Of the numerous available studies on forest management in Asia only a few mention the role of women or pay attention to gender relations Even projects are largely designed in terms of households or communities where men are the decision makers and the owners or managers of forests This important volume views gender relations as a crucial factor in the management of land and forests and maintains that the continuing invisibility of women in these areas only compounds poverty shortages and the increased workloads of forest based women Based on fieldwork conducted in several forest societies in China Thailand India and Malaysia the contributors explore the changes in gender relations within indigenous communities from matrilineal and or gender egalitarian systems to ones where male domination is the norm Murut: Design and Design Heritage Ismail Ibrahim, Phd, 2019-05-10 Custom culture and habits that have been that were once practiced by the Murut clan are highly valuable heritage assets Hence the author considers it necessary to note and record so that the new generation will be able to know and understand the cultural and artistic heritage of their ancestors Ironically if there is no effort to showcase this treasure there will be no notes nor concrete evidence on this heritage that they can be proud of The demonstration of Murut motifs are closely linked with their everyday lifestyle Life that is dependent on natural resources and located within the vicinity of the highlands makes the Murut clan innovative and skilled in producing creations that are intended for the needs of their daily life This can be seen in the designs on the surface of weavings body decorations carvings hunting signs as well as the decorative styles in attires all these represent features that are characterized by nature has extremely valuable philosophies Apart from the purpose of daily use these motifs are displayed in custom and cultural ceremonies to show their importance in the scope of the life of this community This book not only record and document motifs that are the breaths of life of this community but it also functions as an identification tool and an iconology that highlight the unique culture of the Murut clan Paradoxically these motifs are beginning to lapse in the memory of the younger generation and the efforts of the author in gathering and recording data for over 10 years is timely This book is appropriate as the main reference for students and researchers interested in continuing the study of this community in the future The Life of the Longhouse Peter Metcalf,2010 The remarkable longhouses of Borneo remain mysterious This book describes life within them and puts them in their historical and ethnographic context The Making of Anthropology in East and Southeast Asia Shinji Yamashita,Joseph Bosco,Jeremy Seymour Eades,2004 In a path breaking series of essays the contributors to this collection explore the development of anthropological research in Asia The volume includes writings on Japan China Taiwan Korea Malaysia and the Philippines

Prehistory of the Indo-Malaysian Archipelago Peter Bellwood,2007-03-01 Since its publication in 1985 Peter Bellwood s Prehistory of the Indo Malaysian Archipelago has been hailed as the sole authoritative work on the subject by the leading expert in the field Now that work has been fully revised and includes a complete up to date summary of the archaeology of the region and relevant neighboring areas of China and Oceania as well as a comprehensive discussion of new and important issues such as the Eve Garden of Eden hypothesis and its relevance to the Indo Malaysian region and recent advances in macrofamily linguistic classification Moving north to south from northern Peninsular Malaysia to Timor and west to east from Sumatra to the Moluccas Bellwood describes human prehistory from initial hominid settlement more than one million years ago to the eve of historical Hindu Buddhist and Islamic cultures of the region The archaeological record provides the central focus but chapters also incorporate essential information from the paleoenvironmental sciences biological anthropology linguistics and social anthropology Bellwood approaches questions about past cultural and biological developments in the region from a multidisciplinary perspective Historical issues given extended treatment include the significance of the Homo erectus populations of Java the dispersal of the present Austronesian speaking peoples of the region within the past 4 000 years and the spread of metallurgy since 500 B C Bellwood also discusses relationships between the prehistoric populations of the archipelago and those of neighboring regions such as Australia New Guinea and mainland Asia

Land and Longhouse Rob A. Cramb,2007 Land and Longhouse examines the role of community market and state in the historic transformation of upland livelihoods in Southeast Asia Focusing on the Saribas Iban of Sarawak the book combines in depth generation long village case studies with an account of changes in land use and tenure at the regional level spanning a century and a half This analysis demonstrates that far from being passive victims of globalization the Iban have been active agents in their own transformation engaging with both market and state while retaining community values and governance R A Cramb makes a significant new contribution to debates about economic social and environmental change and conflict in upland Southeast Asia His book offers a fascinating empirically rich account of interest to scholars development practitioners and the general reader alike This study is certain to become a major reference point for future work on land use tenure and agrarian change in Upland Southeast Asia Clifford Sather University of Helsinki Rob Cramb has written an excellent book with a much needed longitudinal perspective on agrarian change The book is an important contribution to the urgent need for understanding the dynamics and consequences both environmental and social of upland transformation in Southeast Asia Ole Mertz University of Copenhagen Rob Cramb s study raises provocative questions about Iban society the nature of the Southeast Asia uplands and agrarian history He presents a work distinguished by the depth of its scholarship and the breadth of the questions addressed by it Michael R Dove Yale University The Limits of Tradition Mariko Urano,2010 CENTER FOR SOUTHEAST ASIAN STUDIES KYOTO UNIVERSITY T p Sacrifice and Sharing in the Philippine Highlands Thomas P. Gibson,2021-03-10 This book is about the relationship between the Buid value system and their history of resistance to the lowland world An Economic History of Malaysia, c.1800-1990 John Drabble,2000-05-15 An Economic History of Malaysia c 1800 1990 provides the first general history of the Malaysian economy over the past two centuries including a survey of the pre colonial era A unique feature is that it integrates the historical experiences of Peninsular Malaysia Sabah and Sarawak as a case study in the onset of modern economic growth Particular attention is paid to explaining Malaysia s signal success in achieving a relatively smooth shift away from the primary commodity export economy of the colonial period to near NIC status by 1990 Hunting and Wildlife Management in Sarawak Julian Oliver Caldecott,1988 Social Organization of Sabah Societies Sherwood G. Lingenfelter,1990 Claiming the Forest: Punan Local Histories and Recent Developments in Bulungan, East Kalimantan Lars Kaskija,2002-01-01 This book focuses primarily on changes that have taken place in the Malinau area in East Kalimantan in recent years The Punan Malinau who inhabit the area are former nomads who subsist on a wide range of forest oriented activities including swidden agriculture hunting and the collection of and trade in forest products During the past ten years the growing number of powerful outsiders including NGO s timber and mining companies has contributed to increasing competition for land and for various new sources of income In the context of recent changes local historical knowledge has become an increasingly important political asset Such knowledge provides one way for local people to strengthen the legitimacy of their claims to land and forests P 4 of cover The Asianization of Christianity Jonathan D. James,2024 The Asianization of Christianity is a catalyst to change the mission landscape of Asia by making the Gospel more accessible to Hindus Buddhists Muslims Animists and others It is hoped that a new generation of mission leaders will use these culturally specific principles to build bridges from the heart of God to the heart of Asian cultures Things As They Are Michael Jackson,1996-08-22 The real beauty of this book is that the thinking does not stop deep in the thickets of philosophic references Instead true to the spirit of phenomenology we are provided with provocative accounts of how such thinking flows in contemporary anthropological practice XCP Cross Cultural Poetics In this timely collection thirteen contemporary ethnographers demonstrate the importance of phenomenological and existential ideas for anthropology In emphasizing the link between the empirical and the experiential these ethnographers also explore the relationship between phenomenology and other theories of the lifeworld such as existentialism radical empiricism and critical theory The Ecology of Kalimantan Kathy MacKinnon,1996 Kalimantan the Indonesian part of the island of Borneo is a global centre for biodiversity This work presents a complete summary of scientific knowledge about the riverine rainforest and coastal ecosystems of Kalimantan Using maps colour photographs and line drawings it examines each of the major ecosystems of the island and the interrelationship between some of their component species It also focuses on the people of Kalimantan and their use of natural resources as a major part of these ecosystems Blood Magic Thomas C. T. Buckley,Alma Gottlieb,1988 Examining cultures as diverse as long house dwellers in North Borneo African farmers Welsh housewives and postindustrial American workers this volume dramatically redefines the anthropological study of menstrual customs It challenges the widespread image of a universal menstrual taboo as well as the common assumption of universal female subordination which underlies it Contributing important new material and perspectives to our understanding of comparative gender politics and symbolism it is of particular importance to those interested in anthropology women s studies religion and comparative health systems

Retracing Tradition for a Sustainable Future: The Malaysian Experience (Penerbit USM) Nurul Farhana Low Abdullah,Mohamad Rashidi Pakri,2012 This volume presents a selection of articles aimed at introducing the field of local knowledge to a local and international audience Based upon the theme Retracing Tradition for a Sustainable Future the articles detail local practices that reflect local wisdom in various domains of knowledge such as literature architecture water management tourism dance and drama This collection of articles embodies an important tangible initiative by Universiti Sains Malaysia Local Knowledge Secretariat to identify and retrace indigenous local knowledge besides documenting and conserving local wisdom for future generations It presents an important resource for researchers and students interested in exploring the under researched area of local knowledge and indigenous science in the Malaysian context
