Essence Of Leadership Strategy Innovation And Decisiveness:

The Essence of Leadership Michel Robert, 1991-11-21 Leadership not necessarily a national industrial policy is the key to restoring America's competitiveness in the global economy and the key to leadership is the ability to think not management charisma or personality traits alone Consultant Michel Robert maintains that management must master a set of mental skills critical thinking he calls them and use them to develop a coherent strategy that others in the organization will accept Moreover effective leaders encourage innovative thinking and apply it decisively when problems arise These skills can be acquired by and communicated to all levels of the organization Codifying them and presenting them systematically here for the first time Robert shows how he and his colleagues at Decision Processes International have introduced them to their various client organizations with measurable success Robert advises management to think globally but act locally and to keep in mind that human resources are growing scarcer while the need for quality and innovation is growing greater He defines the three fundamental skills of leadership distinguishes between strategic and innovative thinking and describes how both contribute to sound decision making After illustrating what he means by the leader as strategist innovator decision maker process manager and implementor he shows how these roles are played in and contribute to the creation of learning organizations He offers readers a clear useful method to assess the critical thinking ability of their own organizations then defines the point at which strategy innovation and decisiveness intersect in the total package of management skills Illustrated with charts diagrams and checklists developed for DPI's clients The Essence of Leadership will be of particular interest and help to executives at all levels and in all industries and organizations and to students of management in the academic community

Toxic Leaders Marcia L. Whicker,1996-04-16 Drawing on her extensive experience and research in various types of organizations business political even religious organizations Dr Whicker looks closely at three distinct types of leaders which she categorizes as trustworthy transitional and toxic leaders In a clear and readable style she describes leadership subtypes for transitional and toxic types the absentee leaders the busybodies controllers enforcers streetfighters and the bullies all of whom are dangerous to their organizations and are directly responsible in many cases for an organization's decline Whicker makes clear however that there are ways to protect oneself from such leaders and shows exactly what these strategies are A compelling anecdotal authoritative analysis for anyone in any organization who has ever wondered why did the boss do that and why to me As Dr Whicker sees it trustworthy leaders are good moral green light leaders They can be trusted to put the goals of the organization and the well being of their followers first Organizations with trustworthy leaders at the helm have a green light to advance in productivity growth and progress Three types of trustworthy leaders are consensus builders team leaders and commanders Transitional leaders are self absorbed egotistical yellow light leaders They are focused on the approval of others and concerned with their personal role as leaders Organizations headed by transitional leaders have a cautionary yellow light to growth and lurch along at the mercy of the ebb and flow of external currents and trends Three types of transitional leaders are absentee leaders busybodies and controllers Toxic leaders are maladjusted malcontent and often malevolent and malicious They succeed by tearing others down They glory in turf protection fighting and controlling others rather than uplifting followers They are red light leaders who destroy productivity and apply brakes to organizational progress They have a deep seated but well disguised sense of personal inadequacy selfish values and cleverness at concealing deceit Three types of toxic leaders are enforcers streetfighters and bullies This book gives the reader strategies for surviving transitional and toxic leaders and for restoring organizational health
