

The background of the slide is a painting of a landscape. It features a river or stream flowing through a valley. The trees and foliage are in various shades of autumn, including yellows, oranges, and reds. The sky is a mix of soft, hazy colors, suggesting a misty or overcast day. The overall style is impressionistic, with visible brushstrokes and a focus on light and color.

Gracing Of Human Experience Rethinking The Relationship Between Nature And Grace:

The Gracing of Human Experience Donald L. Gelpi, 2008-04-01 This study ponders different ways Christian thinkers understood humanity in its relationship to divine grace It names fallacies that have in the past skewed theological understanding of that relationship It argues that the philosophy of Charles Sanders Peirce avoided those same fallacies and provides a novel frame of reference for rethinking the theology of grace The author shows how the insights of other American philosophers flesh out undeveloped aspects of Peirce s thought He formulates a metaphysics of experience derived from his philosophical analysis Finally he develops an understanding of supernatural grace as the transmutation and transvaluation of human experience

Mind, Brain and the Elusive Soul Mark Graves, 2016-04-22 Does science argue against the existence of the human soul Many scientists and scholars believe the whole is more than the sum of the parts This book uses information and systems theory to describe the more that does not reduce to the parts One sees this in the synapses or apparently empty gaps between the neurons in one s brain where informative relationships give rise to human mind culture and spirituality Drawing upon the disciplines of cognitive science computer science neuroscience general systems theory pragmatic philosophy and Christian theology Mark Graves reinterprets the traditional doctrine of the soul as form of the body to frame contemporary scientific study of the human soul

The Crisis of Conversion J. August Higgins, 2024-06-25 This book attempts to identify a central problem within the North American evangelical imagination around the issue of religious experience and its relationship to the basic hermeneutical stance of biblical and theological interpretation The relatively recent emergence of the academic discipline of Christian spirituality offers a new set of methodological insights that may help to mediate the theological impasse between more conservative and progressive perspectives concerning the appropriate role of human experience for evangelical thought and practice Specifically we will explore the experience of religious conversion that lies at the center of evangelical spirituality in critical dialogue with the challenges and opportunities brought about by recent philosophical discourse and the postmodern turn variously understood

A Semiotic Christology Cyril Orji, 2021-03-04 This book details how semiotics furthers an understanding of the science of Christology In the light of the trend towards evolutionary worldview the book goes beyond description and critically engages the sign system of C S Peirce which it sees as a conceptual tool and method for a better understanding of some of the basic issues in Christology Tongues and Trees Aaron Jason Swoboda, 2019-05-21 This book develops a Pentecostal ecological theology ecotheology by utilizing key pneumatological themes that emerge from the Pentecostal tradition It examines the salient Pentecostal and Charismatic voices that have stimulated ecotheology in the Pentecostal tradition and situates them within the broader context of Christian ecumenical ecotheologies Roman Catholic Orthodox Protestant and Ecofeminist The author advances a novel approach to Pentecostal ecotheology through a pneumatology of the Spirit baptized creation the charismatic creational community the holistic ecological Spirit and the eschatological Spirit of ecological mission Significantly this book is the first substantive contribution to a Pentecostal pneumatological theology of creation with a particular focus on the Pentecostal community and its significance for the broader ecumenical community Furthermore it offers a fresh theological approach to imagining and sustaining earth friendly practice in the twenty first century Pentecostal church

The Dialogical Spirit Amos Yong, 2015-04-30 Contemporary proposals for Christian theology from post liberalism to Radical Orthodoxy and beyond have espoused their own methodological paradigms Those who have ventured into this domain of theological method however have usually had to stake their claims vis a vis trends in what may be called the contemporary post al age whether of the post modern post Christendom post Enlightenment post Western or post colonial varieties This volume is unique among offerings in this arena in suggesting a way forward that engages on each of these fronts and does so from a particularistic Christian perspective without giving up on Christian theology's traditional claims to universality This is accomplished through the articulation of a distinctive dialogical methodology informed by both Pentecostalism and Evangelicalism one rooted in the Christian salvation history narrative of Incarnation and Pentecost that is yet open to the world in its many and various cultural ethnic religious and disciplinary discourses Amos Yong here engages with twelve different interlocutors representing different ecumenical religious and disciplinary perspectives The Dialogical Spirit thus not only proffers a model for Christian theological method suitable for the twenty first century global context but also exemplifies this methodological approach through its interactions across the contemporary scholarly inter religious and theological landscape

Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie, 2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa

Theological Metaphysics Ray C. Robles, 2023-11-16 Insofar as Christian theology aims to make truthful claims about the nature of reality it is necessarily involved in the enterprise of metaphysics Pentecostals precisely as Christians are thus obliged to participate Through this study it becomes evident that pentecostals aim to participate in the metaphysical discipline in the same way they theologize that is informed by the norms practices and speech acts that constitute their spirituality This book aims to construct a Christian metaphysics that is at once attuned to pentecostal spirituality theology and informed by the classical tradition of Christian metaphysics Ultimately this work offers a constructive and critical engagement with pentecostal spirituality and with pentecostal theology via the larger ecumenical creedal and dogmatic metaphysical tradition Thus this book is explicitly and intentionally limited to understand metaphysics in conversation with the historical Christian tradition and to understand a pentecostal vision of it Journal of Moral Theology, Volume 11, Special Issue 1 Matthew J. The Pentecostal movement has had an incredible impact on the shape of worldwide Christianity in the past century Estimates are that Pentecostals and charismatics make up approximately one fourth of Christians worldwide and the numbers are only expected to grow With these developments comes the need for thoughtful Christians of all persuasions to better understand Pentecostal theology In fact Amos Yong believes that Pentecostal theology can be a great gift to the church at large Yong presents a thoroughly Pentecostal theology of salvation the church the nature of God and creation He also provides a fascinating survey of the state of worldwide Pentecostalism examining how

What does healing mean for Christians and others in an age of science How can we combine scientific findings about our bodies philosophical understanding of our minds and theological investigations about our spirits with a coherent and unified model of the person How does God continue to create through nature and direct our wandering towards becoming created co-creators capable of ministering to others The reality of human suffering demands that theology and science mutually inform each other in a shared understanding of nature humanity and paths to healing In Insight to Heal Mark Graves draws upon systems theory pragmatic philosophy and biological and cognitive sciences to deal with wounds that could limit personal growth and uses information theory emergence and Christian theology to define healing as distinct from a return to a prior state of being but rather to create real possibility in who the person may become Interreligious Pedagogy Jung Eun

Vida Sacra James Empereur, Eduardo Fernández, 2006-10-12 La Vida Sacra Contemporary Hispanic Sacramental Theology is an original insightful approach to the sacraments from the perspective and actual practice of Latinos over the centuries It offers a distinctive take on the actual belief and enculturation of the sacraments in the Latino experience and context. Due to the growing presence of Hispanics in this country, churches are looking for new and innovative ways to fit them into their congregations. The existence of Hispanics and more importantly the value of their religious experiences are being gradually accepted in theological societies. Eduardo Fernandez and James Empereur's new book fills the need for a more comprehensive and richer context for sacramental theology. As the newest book in the Celebrating Faith Series, it is ideal for theology courses as well as directors of ministerial programs and their students who are looking to place Hispanic sacramentality in the larger framework of sacramental theology.

The Analogy of Signs Rory Misiewicz, 2021-02-12. The longstanding debate over how God talk is intelligible gravitates around how we should understand the putative answer by analogy. For some contemporary Christian theologians, analogy involves an ontological claim about creaturely and divine being, i.e. an analogy of being. For others, it involves a semantic or syntactical structure that legitimates the linguistic performances associated with analogy, i.e. a grammatical analogy. Still others appeal to faith in God's self-disclosure in Jesus Christ, i.e. an analogy of faith. Rory Misiewicz argues that all of these approaches fall flat in their explanatory efforts. He draws upon the work of American philosopher Charles Sanders Peirce to rethink the relation between God and human beings. He argues that Christian theologians may view that relation as being established by an analogy of signs: both God and human beings are univocally involved in semiosis or sign process, and the confirmation of God's semiotic identity is found in the revelation of God in the person of Jesus, the incarnate Son of God. Therefore, ordinary analogical language is intelligible for divine signs are commensurate with human signs.

Spirit-Word-Community Amos Yong, 2017-11-22. This title was first published in 2002. How does one go about doing Christian theology? Yong explores this question by proposing a pneumatological trinitarian hermeneutic. Its thesis is that interpretation and theological method is an ongoing tri-logic of Spirit-Word-Community of interpretive subjects as imaginative, obligated, and relational agents of the horizons of the interpreter, the biblical and ecclesial traditions, and the world, and of founding historical and ongoing communities of faith and inquiry. Ecumenical perspectives on the topics of pneumatology, the doctrine of the Spirit, metaphysics, foundational pneumatology, epistemology, the pneumatological imagination, and trinitarian theology converge in this book to move forward the present discussion of theological method.

God and the World of Signs Andrew Robinson, 2010-09-24. Christianity has been described as a religion seeking a metaphysic. Drawing on the philosophy of C. S. Peirce, Robinson develops a metaphysical framework centred around a semiotic model of the Trinity. The model invites a fresh approach to the claim that Jesus was the incarnate Word of God and suggests a new way of understanding how nature may bear the imprint of the Triune Creator in the form of vestiges of the Trinity in creation. Scientific spin-offs include a new perspective on the problem of the origin of life and a novel hypothesis about the evolution of human distinctiveness. The result is an original contribution to Trinitarian theology and a bold new way of integrating philosophy, science, and religion.
