Flesh and Blood Susan E. Lederer, 2008-04-24 Organ transplantation is one of the most dramatic interventions in modern medicine Since the 1950s

thousands of people have lived with new hearts kidneys lungs corneas and other organs and tissues transplanted into their bodies From the beginning though there was simply a problem surgeons often encountered shortages of people willing and able to give their organs and tissues To overcome this problem they often brokered financial arrangements Yet an ethic of gift exchange coexisted with the commodification of the body The same duality characterized the field of blood transfusion which was essential to the development of modern surgery This book will be the first to bring together the histories of blood transfusion and organ transplantation It will show how these two fields redrew the lines between self and non self the living and the dead and humans and animals Drawing on newspapers magazines legal cases films and the papers and correspondence of physicians and surgeons Lederer will challenge the assumptions of some bioethicists and policymakers that popular fears about organ transplantation necessarily reflect timeless human concerns and preoccupations with the body She will show how notions of the body intact in parts living and dead are shaped by the particular culture in which they are embedded

Durée as Einstein-in-the-Heart Candice Lee Kent, 2024-03-29 Durée as Einstein in the Heart traces the trajectory of modernist interaction with Bergson and Einstein through the works of Virginia Woolf 1882 1941 and Mary Butts 1890 1937 It presents an overview of critical approaches that focus on time in Woolf's novels and that foreground Bergson in their analyses of Woolf It then examines how Woolf's formal experimentation and theorisation of time in Jacob's Room 1922 and Mrs Dalloway 1925 relates to Bergson's temporal theories This is followed by a discussion on the role Bergson's thinking played in the early formulation of Butts's ideas of time and an analysis of how Bergson's ideas emerge in the short story Angele au Couvent 1923 concluding by highlighting points of contrast in the engagements of Woolf and Butts The book then documents the growth of Butts's interest in Einstein's ideas and shows how she amalgamates these with Bergson's thinking in her journals and in the most intense of her fictional engagement with Einstein's ideas the novel Death of Felicity Taverner 1932 It discusses Butts's responses to the popular science genre and examines the important role played by J W N Sullivan and Arthur Eddington in the development of her understanding and interpretation of physics It concludes with a discussion of Butts's antisemitic characterisation of Kralin as purveyor of corrupted science in contrast with the Taverners who are conscious of durée and delight in the abstractions of scientific truth
