Streaty Wimberly,Evelyn L. Parker,2011-07-01 edited by Anne E Streaty Wimberly A guide for pastors church leaders and all who help African Americans in their search for a meaningful Christian lifestyle Forming Christians leading fallen and flawed human beings into the path of discipleship to a crucified and risen Lord is one of the central if not the central tasks of all Christian churches It is a difficult enough task anywhere but for African Americans beset by racial conflict personal crises generational separation and other concerns it is especially so African American churches must work particularly hard to counter the messages their members receive from the dominant and often unfriendly culture This book employs the biblical text and African tradition to draw on the idea of the search for wisdom as a potent way to help African Americans in their pursuit of genuine Christian discipleship Wisdom in African American tradition is not simply knowledge rather it is those insights attitudes beliefs behaviors and practices that create and sustain a life of hope and that produce an inherent sense of the worth of one's self. If their members are to engage in the search for wisdom, African American churches must build an intentional ministry of faith formation. Wisdom can be gained, the authors argue, when African Americans listen to the black oral tradition with its proverbial sayings, revered Bible stories, songs, and narratives from the lives of exemplary individuals. The book offers several similar avenues for the search for wisdom, including helpful models of black males mentoring younger black males as a remedy to the destructive effects that contemporary culture has on this segment of the African American community.

Ethics for Criminal Justice Professionals Cliff Roberson, Scott Mire, 2009-12-08 Increasing concerns about the accountability of criminal justice professionals at all levels has placed a heightened focus on the behavior of those who work in the system. Judges, attorneys, police, and prison employees are all under increased scrutiny from the public and the media. Ethics for Criminal Justice Professionals examines the myriad of ethical dilemmas faced by these professionals. Wrapped in Pride Doran H. Handbook of Black Librarianship E. J. Josey, Marva DeLoach, 2000-07-12 E. J. Josey and Marva DeLoach have compiled a treasure trove of information about black librarianship. This volume includes history, statistics, and documentation of contemporary issues related both to African American participation in librarianship and to the organizations that they built to provide information resources for their people. Of interest to all librarians, bibliophiles, bibliographers, and students of African American culture, this handbook fills a niche in American cultural history. Like the first edition published in 1977, this new edition chronicles the history and achievements of black librarians in their chosen profession. Chapters documenting pioneering individuals and events are juxtaposed with historical descriptions of early professional organizations. Other sections provide important information related to diversity, including the language of diversity and salient statistical facts about African American librarians. New or revised chapters treat issues related to information technology and electronic resources, library services to African Americans, and library education. Of special interest is the section on African American resources, which covers archival and fugitive literature, library holdings, literature, oral history programs, and museums, with several chapters on awards. A complete section is devoted to the important issue of health sciences libraries and blacks. Another new section covers libraries, library education, and publishing in Africa. The final section highlights the role of African Americans in selected areas of the knowledge industry. Beacon, 2001 African American Review, 1998 "And Don't Call Me a Racist!" Ella Mazel, 1998 In this treasury of over 1,000 quotes, you will find the voices of Langston
