Five Dynasties and Ten Kingdoms Peter Lorge, 2011-07-18 The period of the Five Dynasties and Ten Kingdoms 907-960 has long been treated as an anomaly in the history of China an age of great disunity between the empires of the Tang and the Song dynasties Breaking with previous scholarship on China's middle period this edited volume presents individual studies that focus on the art culture and politics of the interregnum challenging underlying assumptions about the unitary nature of dynastic culture and its value as a category of historical analysis It understands these decades as a time of important transition in which the incipient cultural shifts of the mature Tang dynasty turned into the foundations of Song society Consequently it highlights the complex narrative processes that gave birth to Song culture

Chinese Art and Dynastic Time Wu Hung, 2022-05-03 A sweeping look at Chinese art across the millennia that upends traditional perspectives and offers new pathways for art history Throughout Chinese history dynastic time the organization of history through the lens of successive dynasties has been the dominant mode of narrating the story of Chinese art even though there has been little examination of this concept in discourse and practice until now Chinese Art and Dynastic Time uncovers how the development of Chinese art was described in its original cultural sociopolitical and artistic contexts and how these narratives were interwoven with contemporaneous artistic creation In doing so leading art historian Wu Hung opens up new pathways for the consideration of not only Chinese art but also the whole of art history Wu Hung brings together ten case studies ranging from the third millennium BCE to the early twentieth century CE and spanning ritual and religious art painting sculpture the built environment and popular art in order to examine the deep rooted patterns in the historical conceptualization of Chinese art Elucidating the changing notions of dynastic time in various contexts he also challenges the preoccupation with this concept as the default mode in art historical writing This critical investigation of dynastic time thus constitutes an essential foundation to pursue new narrative and interpretative frameworks in thinking about art history Remarkable for the sweep and scope of its arguments and lucid style Chinese Art and Dynastic Time probes the roots of the collective imagination in Chinese art and frees us from long held perspectives on how this art should be understood Published in association with the Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts National Gallery of Art Washington DC

Constructing the Colonized Land Izumi Kuroishi, 2016-05-23 Despite the precipitous rise of East Asia as a center of architectural production since the Second World War informed studies remain lacking The lacuna is particularly conspicuous in terms of regional cross national studies documenting the close ties and parallels between China Taiwan Japan and Korea during this period Examining colonized cities in East Asia this book brings together a range of different perspectives across both space and time European Chinese Taiwanese Korean and Japanese discourses are examined with a range of complementary and conflicting views on the design of urban and architectural forms the political institutional religious and economical contexts of urban planning the role played by various media and the influence of various geographical social and anthropological research methods The diversity and plurality of these perspectives in this book provides an entwined architectural urban and social history of East Asia which offers insights into the cultural systems and the historical and spatial meanings of these colonized cities It concludes that the difficulties in the historical study of East Asia s colonial cities do not so much indicate cultural difference as the potentiality for multiple readings of the past toward the future A of the Chinese Nation Nicolas Tackett, 2017-11-30 In this major new study Nicolas Tackett proposes that the Northern Song Dynasty 960 1127 witnessed both the maturation of an East Asian inter state system and the emergence of a new worldview and sense of Chinese identity among educated elites These developments together had sweeping repercussions for the course of Chinese history while also demonstrating that there has existed in world history a viable alternative to the modern system of nation states Utilising a wide array of historical literary and archaeological sources chapters focus on diplomatic sociability cosmopolitan travel military strategy border demarcation ethnic consciousness and the cultural geography of Northeast Asia In this ground breaking new approach to the history of the East Asian inter state system Tackett argues for a concrete example of a pre modern nationalism explores the development of this nationalism and treats modern much appeal to non Chinese empire builders Does contemporary architecture of Korea and Japan enhance our understanding of Chinese construction How much of a role did Buddhism play in construction during the period under study In answering these questions the book focuses on the relation between cities and monuments and their heroic or powerful patrons among them Cao Cao Shi Hu Empress Dowager Hu Gao Huan and lesser known individuals Specific and uniquely Chinese aspects of architecture are explained The relevance of sweeping and sometimes uncomfortable concepts relevant to the Chinese architectural tradition such as colonialism diffusionism and the role of historical memory also resonate though the book

Dougong Alexandra Harrer, 2025-07-31 This is the first English language study devoted to dougong the block bracket cluster widely regarded as the epitome of traditional Chinese architecture For almost two millennia dougong have been central to the multipartite frame structure of wooden buildings connecting columns with beams supporting projecting eaves and providing resistance to earthquake damage They have enabled and required builders to ensure both the functionality and the moral dimension of their designs through the thoughtful use of appropriately graded timbers and corresponding methods of modular design that determine the size and quality of a building in keeping with the social standing of its owner Richly illustrated with original high quality photographs and drawings this book explores the engaging story of dougong as technical artifacts that embody Chinese culture Alexandra Harrer delves into the previously unresolved relationship between standard dougong and their regional and local variations in the rhetoric of Chinese construction offering an alternative to sociopolitical caste as a means of interpreting these differences She untangles the lengthy selection process and trial and error development of the block bracket cluster before codification to reveal how design idiosyncrasies derived from an unlikely combination of legal codes and ethical imperatives For example dougong with arms projecting at a 45 or 60 degree angle from the wall plane long dismissed as unorthodox are shown to be a subtle design expression that yields to authority while it seeks to exploit archaic cultural standards Harrer argues that the ethical dimensions of graphic shapes and the culturally charged space that dougong occupy are key to understanding this creative process Imperial China,
