Liberal Arts Education in a Changing Society You Guo Jiang, 2014-12-16 In Liberal Arts Education in a Changing Society A New Perspective on Chinese Higher Education You Guo Jiang S J provides a unique focus on the re emergence of liberal arts education in China This is the first book that explores in depth the development of liberal arts education in China

Through the extensive use of first hand materials relating to the liberal arts and current viewpoints of Chinese scholars and higher education leaders Jiang concludes that China must implement a good liberal arts education program to form responsible global citizens Holiness as a Liberal Art Daniel Castelo, 2012-07-18 Holiness is a topic that is rarely discussed in Christian colleges and seminaries yet the rationale for the existence of these institutions is that they provide environments where people can grow into the image of Christ In other words these places exist so that Christians can grow in holiness The essays collected in this volume treat the theme of holiness from a variety of theological disciplines all with the purpose of disabusing Christians from mischaracterizations of the theme as well as offering a vision for what the Christian life could look like In both simple and profound ways holiness is a liberal art it is the Christian way and shape of life Re-Imagining

Christian Higher Education Laurie Schreiner, 2018-12-07 Re Imagining Christian Higher Education takes a fresh and critical look at the challenges facing Christian colleges and universities and provides concrete recommendations for university leaders faculty and staff to implement in their daily work Chapters in this book address leadership and diversity challenges issues of affordability and sustainability and ways of maintaining the distinguishing features of a Christ centered liberal arts education A vivid and compelling picture of the Christian university of the future is painted by these authors as they highlight the importance of embracing our Christian identity while being willing to engage a pluralistic and fragmented world Firmly rooted in a missional identity of faithful learning that is committed to the intellectual personal and spiritual development of our students Christian colleges and universities are encouraged to reclaim and revitalize the breadth and depth of the Christian tradition in order to move forward The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Christian Higher Education The Evolution of Liberal Arts in the Global Age Peter Marber, Daniel Araya, 2017-03-16

Advanced and developing countries across the globe are embracing the liberal arts approach in higher education to foster more innovative human capital to compete in the global economy Even as interest in the tradition expands outside the United States can the democratic philosophy underlying the liberal arts tradition be sustained Can developing countries operating under heavy authoritarian systems cultivate schools predicated on open discussion and debate Can entrenched specialist systems in Europe and Asia successfully adopt the multidisciplinary liberal arts model These are some of the questions put to leading scholars and senior higher education practitioners within this edited collection Beginning with historical context international contributors explore the contours of liberal arts education amid public calls for change in the United States the growing global interest in the approach outside the United States as well as the potential of liberal arts philosophy in a global knowledge economy

The Case for the Humanities Eric Touya de Marenne, 2016-12-01 Countering the perception that the humanities are unessential this volume contends that their well being has not only academic but also cultural political and existential ramifications Our technologically driven world possesses the means of its own destruction while economic and financial policies undermine the very existence of our democracy At the same time the postmodern and post human age fundamentally challenges our ability and legitimacy to conceive future ideals It is within this context that the humanities provide essential paths through which the teaching and knowledge of other academic fields such as STEM and economics must be re envisioned In short the humanities must be brought back to the center of academic life The political and pedagogical implications of this interdisciplinary study thus entail a renewed critique to rethink the relation between higher education society and the world at large politically economically scientifically and technologically and the importance of the humanities within it At the heart of this reconsideration the humanities and humanity's fate and future become one

Cautionary Tales in the Ethics of Lifelong Learning Policy and Management Richard G. Bagnall, 2004-04-30 This work is a critique from an ethical perspective of contemporary trends in lifelong learning policy and management. It focuses attention on 21 trends, each represented by a fable that is drawn from the experience of a stakeholder. The trends have been selected as exemplifying common responses to contemporary cultural change. They are drawn from a number of different countries and across educational sectors: higher adult and vocational education and post-compulsory schooling. Each fable is explained, examined, and grounded in scholarship on educational change and applied ethics through an accompanying account. The work is directed to educational policy makers and managers. It has been designed for use as a resource in advanced undergraduate and postgraduate professional development programs in educational policy, leadership change, change management, justice, and ethics. Its unique use of fables, accompanying accounts, and background theory allows readers to engage with the text at different levels.

Building Sustainable Futures for Adult Learners Jennifer K. Holtz, Stephen B. Springer, Carrie J. Boden, 2014-10-01 Building Sustainable Futures for Adult Learners is an edited and refereed collection of papers published in conjunction with the joint Adult Higher Educational Alliance (AHEA) and American Association of Adult and Continuing Education (AAACE) Conferences. This book is the third in a series of scholarly publications associated with the annual AHEA conference. The book is arranged thematically according to the topics of submissions. Building Sustainable Futures is important because it fills a unique niche in the field of adult education, extends the scope of AHEA to a larger audience, and offers a current volume for scholars and practitioners based on both research and practice-based research.

Integrating School and Workplace Learning in Canada Hans G. Schuetze, Robert Sweet, 2004-04 In response to concerns that the educational system from public schools through colleges, universities, and apprenticeship programs cannot adequately prepare students for work in the new economy, Integrating School and Workplace Learning in Canada proposes alternation, a hybrid form of learning that, by combining experiential and cognitive learning skills, allows individuals to develop the relevant skills and intellectual capabilities to address and solve complex problems encountered in the workplace. Alternation involves not only a curricular balance between the theoretical and the practical but also two distinct venues for learning: the classroom and the workplace. The authors discuss cognitive and social learning, its implementation in a variety of settings, its role in smoothing the school-to-work transition process, and its potential to contribute to the knowledge and skills needed by the workforce. They bring a wide range of disciplinary perspectives to bear in their analyses of the principles and practices of alternation, providing historical, theoretical, and practical insights. Their analysis contributes to and extends the current debate and discussion surrounding necessary changes in our education and training practices.

Teaching, Tenure, and Collegiality Mary K. Chang, 2022-02-01 Teaching Tenure and Collegiality espouses the concept of relationality, the idea that people's activities necessarily emerge through contextual engagement with others as an alternative to the publish or perish ethos in higher education Building on research by comparative philosophers Mary K Chang constructs a concept of Confucian relationality and engages it to question universities increasing reliance on market oriented metrics to determine their strategic directions and gauge faculty productivity Using a process oriented approach that features change the embodied connectedness of people and the extensive impact of personal cultivation Chang situates higher educational institutions as continually constructed by people s actions in ways that cannot be wholly described or quantified and need not be Values are powerful in educational contexts because they direct how administrators faculty and students focus limited energy Teaching Tenure and Collegiality reevaluates what universities normatively value and offers a holistically expansive view that positions faculty as experts and learners whose activity is inseparable from the contexts constructed by the relationships from which they emerge

Scientific Method in Practice Hugh G. Gauch,2003 As the gateway to scientific thinking an understanding of the scientific method is essential for success and productivity in science This book is the first synthesis of the practice and the philosophy of the scientific method It will enable scientists to be better scientists by offering them a deeper understanding of the underpinnings of the scientific method thereby leading to more productive research and experimentation It will also give scientists a more accurate perspective on the rationality of the scientific approach and its role in society Beginning with a discussion of today s science wars and science s presuppositions the book then explores deductive and inductive logic probability statistics and parsimony and concludes with an examination of science s powers and limits and a look at science education Topics relevant to a variety of disciplines are treated and clarifying figures case studies and chapter summaries enhance the pedagogy This adeptly executed comprehensive yet pragmatic work yields a new synergy suitable for scientists and instructors and graduate students and advanced undergraduates

Conceiving the Christian College Duane Litfin,2004-09-24 This book is designed to help those who are interested in Christian higher education explore anew the unique features opportunities and contemporary challenges of one distinct type of educational institution the Christian college What distinguishes Conceiving the Christian College from the many other books on this subject is its incisive discussion of a set of crucial ideas widely misunderstood in the world of Christian higher education Now serving in his eleventh year as president of one of the nation s foremost Christian colleges Duane Litfin is well placed to ask pressing questions regarding faith based education What is unique about Christian colleges What is required to sustain them How do they maintain their bearing in the tumultuous intellectual seas of the twenty first century Litfin s themes are large but they are meant to refocus the conceptual challenges to Christian education in ways that will strengthen both the academic environment of today s Christian colleges and their impact on culture at large
