Liberalism Equality And Cultural Oppression:

Liberalism, Equality, and Cultural Oppression Andrew Kernohan, 1998-07-28 Kernohan argues that a liberal state committed to moral equality must accept a strong role in reforming our cultural environment Hate Speech Law Alex Brown, 2015-03-05 Hate speech law can be found throughout the world But it is also the subject of numerous principled arguments both for and against These principles invoke a host of morally relevant features e g liberty health autonomy security non subordination the absence of oppression human dignity the discovery of truth the acquisition of knowledge self realization human excellence civic dignity cultural diversity and choice recognition of cultural identity intercultural dialogue participation in democratic self government being subject only to legitimate rule and practical considerations e g efficacy the least restrictive alternative chilling effects The book develops and then critically examines these various principled arguments It also attempts to de homogenize hate speech law into different clusters of laws regulations codes that constrain uses of hate speech so as to facilitate a more nuanced examination of the principled arguments Finally it argues that it is morally fitting for judicial and legislative judgments about the overall warrant of hate speech law to reflect principled compromise Principled compromise is characterized not merely by compromise over matters of principled concern but also by compromise which is itself governed by ideals of moral duty or civic virtue e g reciprocity equality and mutual respect The Open Access version of this book available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9781315714899> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Contemporary Political Philosophy Will Kymlicka, 2002 This new edition of Will Kymlicka's best selling critical introduction to contemporary political theory has been fully revised to include many of the most significant developments in Anglo American political philosophy in the last 11 years particularly the new debates over issues of democratic citizenship and cultural pluralism The book now includes two new chapters on citizenship theory and multiculturalism in addition to updated chapters on utilitarianism liberal egalitarianism libertarianism socialism communitarianism and feminism The many thinkers discussed include G A Cohen Ronald Dworkin William Galdston Carol Gilligan R M Hare Chandran Kukathas Catherine Mackinnon David Miller Philippe Van Parijs Susan Okin Robert Nozick John Rawls John Roemer Michael Sandel Charles Taylor Michael Walzer and Iris Young Extended guides to further reading have been added at the end of each chapter listing the most important books and articles on each school of thought as well as relevant journals and websites Covering some of the most advanced contemporary thinking Will Kymlicka writes in an engaging accessible and non technical way to ensure the book is suitable for students approaching these difficult concepts for the first time This second edition promises to build on the original edition's success as a key text in the teaching of modern political theory Social and Political Philosophy John Christman, 2017-10-02 This accessible book is invaluable to anyone coming to social and political philosophy for the first time It provides a broad survey of key social and political questions in modern society as well as clear discussions of the philosophical issues central to those questions and to political

Honour Based Crimes and the Law Mukaddes Gorar,2021-05-10 Honour based violence and abuse manifests itself in different forms and this book offers a comprehensive understanding of this phenomenon This book argues that the limits of honour crimes must be defined more widely so that they include conducts and behaviours that originate from the patriarchal notion of honour such as honour based oppression and breast ironing The book provides a critical analysis and synthesis of the law in England and Wales and in the international human rights sphere The relevant domestic legislation and cases are examined to reflect on whether adequate protection is provided for the victims and potential victims of honour based violence and abuse Since honour based violence is a violation of human rights the relevant international human rights law is examined to illustrate the perception of such crimes in the international arena The effectiveness of any remedy for victims of honour based violence and abuse depends on its capability to change deep rooted behaviours in communities with honour based patriarchal values This book argues that the law does not provide the effective impact required in part due to patriarchal structures and that more efforts should be dedicated to changes in education It is held that there is a need for an educational programme that is especially designed to tackle violence and promote gender equality The book will be essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of Human Rights Law Criminal Law and Gender Studies

The Multiculturalism of Fear Jacob T. Levy,2000-08-17 The Multiculturalism of Fear argues for a liberal account of multiculturalism which draws on a liberalism of fear like that articulated by Judith Shklar and inspired by Montesquieu Liberalism should not be centrally concerned either with preserving or with transcending cultural communities practices and identities Rather it should focus on mitigating evils such as inter ethnic civil wars cruel practices internal to cultural communities and state violence against ethnic minorities This multiculturalism of fear must be grounded in the realities of ethnic politics and ethnic conflict It must therefore take seriously the importance which persons feel their ethnic identities and cultural practices to have without falling into a celebration of cultural belonging Levy argues against nationalist and multicultural theories that accord significant moral weight to cultural communities as such Yet he also insists that the challenges of life in a multicultural world cannot be met without a recognition of the importance that particularist identities and practices have to individual persons and to social life The book applies the multiculturalism of fear to a variety of policy problems confronting multiethnic states These include the regulation of sexist practices internal to cultural communities secession and national self determination land rights customary law and the symbols and words used by the state including official apologies It draws on cases from such diverse states as Australia Canada Israel India South Africa and the United States

Moral Argument, Religion, and Same-Sex Marriage Gordon A. Babst, Emily R. Gill, Jason A. Pierceson, 2009-09-03 The diverse expert contributors to this volume from the fields of politics and law use moral argumentation with respect to same sex marriage gay rights in general and California's Prop 8 The arguments are advanced in terms of the nation's foundational political and legal principles extending ethical argumentation to important contemporary public policy areas such as marriage the separation of church and state and the rearing of children Several chapters also contest the perceived if not actual establishment in the law and public policy of heterosexist and religious bias that continues to work against full and meaningful inclusion of sexual minorities This bias is ironically and improperly couched in the language of American political and religious values and it misunderstands the nation's core principles or willfully miscasts them as inapplicable to many Americans and their families Nonetheless this bias is pervasive in the nation's political discourse working to deny an important right and the recognition of equality to many citizens The main contribution of Moral Argument Religion and Same Sex Marriage is in its direct engagement with the political and legal arguments of the gay community's critics on their own moral and ethical terms Along the way important concepts in public discourse such as governmental neutrality the right to marry and religious freedom are presented and cast in the light of liberal democratic theory

The Tragedy of Liberalism Bert van den Brink, 2000-08-24 Drawing on recent developments in liberal theory Bert van den Brink develops an alternative defense of liberalism He argues that liberal theorists should admit that their doctrine is not neutral with regard to conceptions of the good life that it in fact fosters ideals of personal autonomy and a pluralist environment These ideals generate irreconcilable tragic conflicts between liberal and nonliberal ideals and it is only by taking these conflicts seriously that liberals can learn of the unwanted consequences of liberal doctrine effectively rebut critics and react adequately to the complex pluralism of contemporary societies

Integration Requirements for Immigrants in Europe Tamar de Waal, 2021-06-17 Based on legal philosophical research and informed by insights gleaned from empirical case studies this book sets out three central claims about integration requirements as conditions for attaining increased rights ie family migration permanent residency and citizenship in Europe 1 That the recent proliferation of these mandatory integration requirements is rooted in a shift towards individualised conceptions of integration 2 That this shift is counterproductive as it creates barriers to participation and inclusion for newcomers who will most likely permanently settle and is normatively problematic insofar as it produces status hierarchies between native born and immigrant citizens 3 That the remedy for this situation is a firewall that disconnects integration policy from access to rights The book draws on perspectives on immigrant integration in multiple EU Member States and includes legal and political reactions to the refugee migrant crisis

John Philip Christman, 2002 This accessible and user friendly text offers a broad survey of some of the fundamental philosophical questions concerning social and political relations in modern society Political Correctness in Academia

Sandra Dzenis, 2025-03-22 This book explores the phenomenon of political correctness in academia and explains why and how scholars and administrators impact PC's prominence in the academic sphere To do so it examines the actions of these agents through the lens of public choice theory revealing how self interested strategies drive the policies and norms of the university The book examines the ideological dimensions of political correctness and highlights four key spheres of influence academic research higher education curricula affirmative action and speech codes The book offers a nuanced exploration of how PC and liberalism have common ground It demonstrates how the liberal values of equality and individual liberty largely underpin PC whose regulatory function is to protect a liberal value system from illiberal truth claims Yet the book also shows how interest groups form around the concept of PC in universities and have successfully used systems of rent seeking and collective action to shape institutional policy and protect their members from ideological and professional competition which can be seen as a violation of classical liberal principles of fair competition and equal opportunity This book is a valuable tool for researchers working in political economy and PPE politics philosophy and economics as well as those interested in the political economy of academia and the concept of PC more generally Theories of Democracy Frank Cunningham, 2002-11-01 This is the first book to be published in this exciting new series on political philosophy Cunningham provides a critical and clear introduction to the main contemporary approaches to democracy participatory democracy classic and radical pluralism deliberative democracy catallaxy and others Also discussed are theorists in the background of current democratic thought such as Tocqueville Mill and Rousseau The book includes applications of democratic theories including an extended discussion of democracy and globalisation Innovating Government Simone van der Hof, Marga M. The Politics of Persons John Christman, 2009-09-17 It is both an ideal and an assumption of traditional conceptions of justice for liberal democracies that citizens are autonomous self governing persons Yet standard accounts of the self and of self government at work in such theories are hotly disputed and often roundly criticized in most of their guises John Christman offers a sustained critical analysis of both the idea of the self and of autonomy as these ideas function in political theory offering interpretations of these ideas which avoid such disputes and withstand such criticisms Christman's model of individual autonomy takes into account the socially constructed nature of persons and their complex cultural and social identities and he shows how this model can provide a foundation for principles of justice for complex democracies marked by radical difference among citizens His book will interest a wide range of readers in philosophy politics and the social sciences

A Post-Colonial Reconstruction of Africa Pieter H. Coetzee, 2024-02-21 A Post Colonial Reconstruction of Africa surveys the significant reconstruction work undertaken in the social and political organization of sub Saharan African society in the decades following the colonial interruption and subjects these efforts to rigorous criticism in order to establish whether they can carry the weight of modernization efforts in Africa To examine the significant trends it highlights the work of African intellectuals such as Kwasi Wiredu Kwame Gyekye Paulin Hountondji Kwame Nkrumah Anthony Appiah Ato Sekyi Otu and Bernard Matolino Pieter H Coetzee argues that reconstruction inspired by traditional communitarian systems of social organization including the modified form presented by Matolino do not adequately do justice to the liberty aspirations of individuals in an era when the demand for increased democratization has become globally paramount Reconstruction efforts inspired by appeal to native traditions of liberalism including native conceptions of individual rights fare better in this regard However current reconstruction efforts have done little to rescue Africans from the negative economic effects of colonialism and neo colonialism and fail to alleviate self perception problems created by

Western racism Appiah's cosmopolitan option and Sekyi Otu's left universalism are notable exceptions
