Letters From A World War I Aviator:

Letters from a World War I Aviator Josiah Pollard Rowe, 1986 Allen Peck's WWI Letters Home 1917-1919

Charles E Peck, 2005 Allen Peck's WWI Letters Home tell of his patriotic volunteer service for the brand new U S Army Air Service to fight for his country Allen's American group was sent to France to be trained by and to fly with a French escadrille The airplanes were small flimsy and slow with open cockpits and no heat No oxygen masks For young pilots these were exciting challenging and for some fatal months Allen survived plane crashes enemy planes shooting bullets through his cockpit and enemy ground fire A Croix de Guerre was earned for downing a German But the trauma was great After Armistice he wrote of the tragic toll on his original gang Twelve of us reached the front seven gone three wounded one unheard from and I was untouched After November 11 his letters tell of experiences at a French university of adventures at the American Embassy in London and of helping with Inter Allied Games He fell in love with and married a young French girl When his two year enlistment was up Allen chose at first to stay in Paris But after five months he headed back home to America with his new wife Marguerite 65 names of individuals with whom he flew or interacted are indexed Letters to Shirley Marion Potts Clayton, Marshall Rouse McClure, 2012 This newly discovered trove of letters home by Louisiana born Paul Mimms Potts Jr written while he was in Europe during World War I are naturally full of love and longing But additionally this V M I educated young aviator describes in detail his education and development as a flyer Na narrative which parallels the rapidly evolving aviation experiment by the U S Air Service William Faulkner, Letters & Fictions James G. Watson, 2014-09-10 Besides the groundbreaking novels and stories that brought him fame William Faulkner throughout his life wrote letters to his publisher his lovers his family and his friends In this first major study of epistolarity in Faulkner's work James G Watson examines Faulkner's personal correspondence as a unique second canon of writing separate from his literary canon with its many fictional letters but developing along parallel lines By describing the similarity of forms and conventions in Faulkner's personal and fictional correspondence Watson clearly demonstrates that Faulkner's personal experience as a writer of letters significantly shaped his imaginative work early and late Letters are always about themselves they re create a world between the sender and the receiver In this illuminating study Faulkner's personal letters are treated as a form of reflexive writing first person narratives in which Sender self consciously portrays Self to a specific Receiver likewise portrayed in the letter text This duality of actual experience and imaginative re creation measures the personal distances between the life of the writer and the written self image It reveals that letters are at once fragments of autobiography and fictions of self Such laws of letters apply equally to the letters that appear throughout Faulkner's novels and stories The twenty one letters and telegrams in The Sound and the Fury for example portray character propel plot and convey important themes of failed communication and broken identity From Soldiers Pay to his last work Faulkner's carefully lettered canon of fiction is dramatic evidence of his understanding of epistolarity and of the extent to which he adapted letters including some of his own to shape his fictional world One Hundred Letters From Hugh Trevor-Roper Hugh Redwald Trevor-Roper, 2014 A carefully chosen selection from the correspondence of Hugh Trevor Roper one of the most gifted and famous historians of his generation and one of the finest letter writers of the 20th century Letters of the Century Lisa Grunwald, Stephen J. Adler, 2008-04-08 Immediate and evocative letters witness and fasten history catching events as they happen write Lisa Grunwald and Stephen J Adler in their introduction to this remarkable book In more than 400 letters from both famous figures and ordinary citizens Letters of the Century encapsulates the people and places events and trends that shaped our nation during the last 100 years Here is Mark Twain s hilarious letter of complaint to the head of Western Union an ecstatic letter from a young Charlie Chaplin upon receiving his first movie contract Einstein s letter to Franklin Roosevelt warning about atomic warfare Mark Rudd s generation gap letter to the president of Columbia University during the student riots of the 60s and a letter from young Bill Gates imploring hobbyists not to share software so that innovators can make some money In these pages our century s most celebrated figures become everyday people and everyday people become part of history Here is a veteran s wrenching letter left at the Vietnam Wall a poignant correspondence between two women trying to become mothers a heart breaking letter from an AIDS sufferer telling his parents how he wants to be buried an indignant e mail from a PC user to his on line server Letters write Grunwald and Adler give history a voice Arranged chronologically by decade illustrated with over 100 photographs Letters of the Century creates an extraordinary chronicle of our history through the voices of the men and women who have lived its greatest moments
