Other People's Love Letters Bill Shapiro, 2011-02-09 Fevered notes scribbled on napkins after first dates Titillating text messages It's not you it's me relationship ends In Other People's Love Letters Bill Shapiro has searched America's attics closets and cigar boxes and found actual letters unflinchingly honest missives full of lust provocation guilt and vulnerability written only for a lover's eyes Modern love of course is not all bliss and in these pages you'll find the full range of a relationship with its whispered promises as well as its heartache But what at first appears to be a deliciously voyeuristic peek into other people's most passionate moments will ultimately reawaken your own desires and tenderness because when you read these letters you'll find the heart you're looking into is actually your own I think you're great wanna have wine Tequila again sometime I can't believe you're real and I think about you constantly in some way or the other all day I haven't given the finger to anyone driving since I met you With you I learned how to fight cleaner how to talk things out better and how to make a strong loving family out of nothing These are priceless gifts that I will carry with me the rest of my life One more thing you did for me you left and I had to get through it P S I look forward to your letters too much to call Also where do you stand on chains

The Book of Love Leo XiV, 2011-12-06 There is no available information at this time K.Q William Thomas Lowndes, 1834 Ancient Love Letters Anna Tiziana Drago, Owen Hodkinson, 2023-01-30 This volume investigates the form of love letters and erotic letters in Greek and Latin up to the 7th Century CE encompassing both literary and documentary letters the latter inscribed and on papyrus and prose and poetry The potential for and utility of treating this large and diverse corpus as a genre is examined To this end approaches from ancient literary criticism and modern theory of genre are made mutual influences between the documentary and the literary form are sought and origins in proto epistolary poetic texts are examined In order to examine the boundaries of a form limit cases which might have less claim to the label love letter are compared with more clear cut examples A series of case studies focuses on individual letters and letter collections Some case studies situate their subjects within the history and literary evolution of the love letter using both intertextuality and comparative approaches others placing them in their cultural and historical contexts particularly uncovering the contribution of epistolarity to erotic discourse and to the history of sexuality and gender in diverse eras and locations within Classical to Late Antiquity Love-letters Between a Nobleman and His Sister Aphra Behn, 1729

Love Notes and Letters Madame de Villedieu, 2005 This volume offers the first translation into English of two seminal works by the seventeenth century French woman author Marie Catherine Desjardins better known as Madame de Villedieu The first of these works Lettres et billets galants Love Notes and Letters was published in 1668 and contains her most intimate letters to her lover Antoine de Villedieu The second work Le Portefeuille The Letter Case which appeared in 1674 is an epistolary novel composed of a series of ten letters from the Marquis de Naumanoir to a nobleman in the provinces These letters recount in a delightfully playful manner the amorous misadventures and intrigues of a half dozen Parisian socialites This work's close ties in terms of content and form to the publication of Villedieu's Lettres et billets gallants six years earlier make it a perfect complement The author's introduction offers not only a critical interpretation of these works but stresses the importance of the publication of Desjardins' authentic correspondence as a turning point in her career and key to her later works

The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Peter Abelard, Heloise, 1901-01-01 It sometimes happens that Love is little esteemed by those who choose rather to think of other affairs and in requital He strongly manifests His power in unthought ways Need is to think of Abelard and Heloise how now his treatises and works are memories only and how the love of her who in lifetime received little comfort therefor has been crowned with the violet crown of Grecian Sappho and the homage of all lovers The world itself was learning a new love when these two met was beginning to heed the quiet call of the spirit of the Renaissance which at its consummation brought forth the glories of the Quattrocento It was among the stone walled rose covered gardens and clustered homes of ecclesiastics who served the ancient Roman builded pile of Notre Dame that Abelard found Heloise From his noble father's home in Brittany Abelard gifted and ambitious came to study with William of Champeaux in Paris His advancement was rapid and time brought him the acknowledged leadership of the Philosophic School of the city a prestige which received added lustre from his controversies with his later instructor in theology Anselm of Laon His career at this time was brilliant Adulation and flattery added to the respect given his great and genuine ability made sweet a life which we can imagine was in most respects to his liking Among the students who flocked to him came the beautiful maiden Heloise to learn of philosophy Her uncle Fulbert living in retired ease near Notre Dame offered in exchange for such instruction both bed and board and Abelard having already seen and resolved to win her undertook the contract Many quiet hours these two spent on the green river watered isle studying old philosophies and Time swift and silent as the Seine sped on until when days had changed to months they became aware of the deeper knowledge of Love Heloise responded wholly to this new influence and Abelard forgetting his ambition desired their marriage Yet as this would have injured his opportunities for advancement in the Church Heloise steadfastly refused this formal sanction of her passion Their love becoming known in time to Fulbert his grief and anger were uncontrollable In fear the two fled to the country and there their child was born Abelard still urged marriage and at last outwearied with importunities she consented only insisting that it be kept a secret Such a course was considered best to pacify her uncle who in fact promised reconciliation as a reward Yet upon its accomplishment he openly declared the marriage Unwilling that this be known lest the knowledge hurt her lover Heloise strenuously denied the truth The two had returned confident of Fulbert's reaffirmed regard and he now deeply troubled and revengeful determined to inflict that punishment and indignity on Abelard which in its accomplishment shocked even that ruder civilization to horror and to reprisal The shamed and mortified victim caring only for solitude in which to hide and rest retired into the wilderness returning after a time to take the vows of monasticism Unwilling to leave his love where by chance she could become another's he demanded that she become a nun She yielded obedience and although but twenty two years of age entered the convent of Argenteuil Abelard's mind was still virile and perhaps to his surprise the world again sought him out anxious still to listen to his masterful logic But with his renewed influence came fierce persecution and the following years of life were filled with trials and sorrows Sixteen years passed after the lovers parted and then Heloise prioress of the Paraclete found a letter of consolation written by Abelard to a friend recounting his sad career Her response is a letter of passion and complaining an equal to which it is hard to find in all literature To his cold and formal reply she wrote a second questioning and confused and a third constrained and resigned These three constitute the record of a soul vainly seeking in spiritual consolation rest from love Abelard with little heart for love or ambition still stubbornly contested with his foes On a journey to Rome where he had appealed from a judgment of heresy against his teachings he overweary turned aside to rest in the monastery of Cluni in Burgundy and there died Heloise begged his body for burial in the Paraclete Twenty years later and at the same age as her lover she too passed to rest
