Silica Bricks Howell G.M. Edwards,2019-01-23 The title of this book describes the two extremes of ceramic invention from aesthetically beautiful and decorative works of art that graced the tables of the aristocracy to the functional silica brick that lined the smelting furnaces of industrialised nations in the 19th century designed to produce iron copper and glass Both of these ceramics are linked to one man William Weston Young 1776 1847 and with his contemporaries both of these ceramic extremes became world leaders in their own right The book traces the history of Young and his ambitions his interactions with numerous associates and the influence these ceramics attained in 19th century society The book provides a sequel to the two preceding texts on Nantgarw and Swansea porcelains also published by Springer which cover one extreme and extends the discourse onto the other extreme which until now has been relatively ignored despite its scientific and engineering importance The trilogy has now therefore been completed This book examines the historical documentation along with scientific analytical data from the last 100 years up to the present in a novel holistic forensic approach It will be of interest to porcelain collectors ceramics analysts museum ceramic curators ceramic historians analytical scientists cultural heritage preservation industrial archaeologists and industrial museums British Breweries Lynn Pearson,1999-07-01

Covering the history of the architecture of breweries this account ranges from the country house brewhouse of the 18th century to the great breweries of Georgian and Victorian England which reached their ornate peak in the 1880s and 1890s It deals with the practical considerations that brewers architects and engineers had to take into account as well as the architectural styles and the decorative features employed The author has also included a gazetteer of brewery architecture

Bristol A Portrait 1970-82 Stephen Dowle,2016-09-15 A beautifully illustrated evocative book documenting Bristol in the 1970s and 1980s 'The Right Ordering of Souls' Clive Burgess,2018 The relationship between people and parish in the late medieval ages illuminated by this study of a remarkable survival from the period In the two centuries preceding the Reformation in England economic political and spiritual conditions combined with constructive effect Endemic plague prompted a demonstrative piety and in a world enjoying rising disposable incomes this linked with current teachings especially the doctrine of Purgatory to sustain a remarkable devotional generosity Moreover political conditions and particularly war with France persuaded the government to summon its subjects assistance including responses encouraged in England s many parishes As a result the wealthier classes invested in and worked for their neighbourhood churches with a degree of largesse witnessed in parish buildings in many localities hardly equalled since Buildings apart the scarcity of pre Reformation parish records means however that the resonances of this response and the manner in which parishioners organised their worship are ordinarily lost to us This book using the remarkable survival of records for one parish All Saints Bristol in the later fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries scrutinises the investment that the faithful made If not necessarily typical it is undeniably revealing going further than any previous study to expose and explain parishioners priorities practices and achievements in the late Middle Ages In so doing it also charts a world that would soon vanish Dr CLIVE BURGESS holds a Senior Lectureship in late medieval history at Royal Holloway University of London The Bristol, Cardiff, Newport, and Swansea commercial list [afterw.] The Bristol and South Wales commercial list [afterw.] The Bristol commercial list [afterw.] The Bristol, South Wales, & Gloucester commercial list [afterw.] The Bristol, west of England, and South Wales commercial list Seyd and co,1876 Our Convicts: The Irish convict system Mary Carpenter,1864 The Annual Biography and Obituary for the Year ... ,1818 The World's Paper Trade Review ,1918
