a haptic metaphor of the life cycle and what might be seen as a darker more liminal side of hair as a site of excess and body waste and its ability to represent trauma and wounding It also discusses some of the divergent histories of hair as a rich marker of identity in cultural discourses of beauty myth and femininity and as a symbol of status and power Informed by a range of theoretical approaches this book draws on Julia Kristeva's theorizations of the abject Hélène Cixous's notion of critique feminine and a Deleuzian consideration of difference Feminism and Contemporary Art Jo Anna

Geocriticism B. Westphal, 2011-05-23 Geocriticism provides a theoretical foundation and a critical exploration of geocriticism an interdisciplinary approach to understanding literature in relation to space and place Drawing on diverse thinkers Westphal argues that a geocritical approach enables novel ways of seeing literary texts and of conducting literary studies Unorthodox Ways to Think the City Teresa Stoppani, 2018-12-07 This book argues that architecture and the city and their processes can be better understood by drawing categories from disciplines that exceed the architectural and urban cultural context It performs an open intellectual reading that traverses architecture and architectural theory but also art theory and history cartography philosophy literature and cultural studies to unfold a series of figures that are ambiguously placed between the representation and the construction of space in architecture and the city The paradigm and philosophy the island and the city the map and representation the model and making and the questioning of form performed by dust are explored beyond their definition as processes that differently make space between architecture and the city and are proposed as unorthodox analytic techniques to decipher contemporary spatial complexity The book analyses how these figures have been employed at different times and in different creative disciplines beyond architecture and in relation to changing notions of space and traces the role that they have played in the shift towards the dynamic that has taken place in contemporary theory and design research What emerges is the idea of an architecture of the city that is not only physical but is largely defined by the way in which its physical spaces are regulated lived and perceived but also imagined and projected

Art Maps and Cities Gloria Lanci, 2022-11-25 This book presents an original study on how contemporary artists are exploring urban spaces through mapping Despite a long history of representations of cities in maps and the relationships that can be envisaged between art maps and cities in the contemporary world little research is dedicated to investigating how artists intervene in the realm of urban cartography The research examines a century old history of art maps and draws on academic debates challenging traditional notions of maps as scientific artefacts produced through accurate measurement and surveying The potential of art maps to construct personal narratives through contestation embodiment and play is analysed in the city context where spaces are shaped by urban planning and design political ideologies and socio economic forces Adopting an exploratory and interpretative research approach that investigates the confluence of theories originated in different domains this book conducts the reader to discover what artistic practices can bring into a more creative while inquisitive understanding of cities A series of semi structured interviews with visual artists enquiring how they apprehend process and re create urban spaces in artworks explores cartographic process and methods in visual art practices in the twenty first century which incorporates digital technologies and critical thinking
