

KEEP YOUR CHILD SAFE ONLINE

Talk to your child about the dangers of being online and how to stay safe. Be sure that they understand sharing private information with strangers is not okay.

Maintain an open and honest dialogue with your child to ensure they feel safe coming to you for any issues or questions they may have.

Monitor what apps your child downloads. Know which apps have a chat feature and how you can turn it off or review chat messages your child has sent and received.

Make it a rule that internet enabled devices are only used in family spaces where you can see your child using them.

Set up parental controls on the devices your child uses and block the content/websites that you do not want them to access.

Ensure that you have the username and password to all the apps on their devices so you can ensure they are being safe online.

Marie Vissing, 2006 Winner of the New England Sociological Association Sociologist of the Year 2008 Life in contemporary American society requires that children spend considerable time in the care of other people These people include teachers coaches babysitters camp counselors ministers neighbors friends and extended family While most people who work with children do a good job some caregivers fail to adequately care for kids while others actually put them in harm's way Parents may assume that caregivers of all kinds are uniformly evaluated and approved but this is not always the case American society despite a superficial rhetoric of concern for children has not instituted strong national state or local safety nets to protect them And because there is no comprehensive commitment to ensure child safety there is no systematic or even partial oversight of adults charged with their care As a result parents are put in the difficult position of deciding whether caregivers of all kinds are sufficiently skilled and responsible to look after children How to Keep Your Children Safe is essential reading for any parent concerned about child safety It takes a hard look at the hidden side of children's lives the times when they're in contact with caregivers who aren't doing their jobs properly It provides detailed information on places where children are under the care of others including day care recreational settings religious and civic organizations schools and summer camps Vissing investigates the potential perils of each setting and enumerates ways in which parents can better monitor or take control of their child's safety By writing a realistic assessment of commonplace settings that every parent and child can relate to and offering a road map to child safety Vissing empowers parents to make critical decisions about their children's lives
