Nuking the Moon Vince Houghton, 2020-05-05 The International Spy Museum's Historian takes us on a wild tour of missions and schemes that almost happened but were ultimately deemed too dangerous expensive ahead of their time or even certifiably insane Compulsively readable laugh out loud history Mary Roach New York Times bestselling author of Grunt and Stiff In 1958 the U S Air Force nuked the moon as a show of military force In 1967 the CIA sent live cats to spy on the Soviet government In 1942 the British built a torpedo proof aircraft carrier out of an iceberg Of course none of these things ever actually happened But in Nuking the Moon intelligence historian Vince Houghton proves that abandoned plans can be just as illuminating and every bit as entertaining as the ones that made it Vividly capturing the fascinating stories of how twenty one plans from WWII and the Cold War went from conception planning and testing to cancellation Houghton explores what happens when innovation meets desperation For every plan as good as D Day there's a scheme to strap bombs to bats or dig a spy tunnel underneath the Soviet embassy Along the way he reveals what each one tells us about twentieth century history the art of spycraft military strategy and famous figures like JFK Castro and Churchill By turns terrifying and hilarious but always riveting this is the unique story of history left on the drawing board

Secret Empire Philip Taubman, 2003

During the most dangerous years of the Cold War a handful of Americans secretly built machines that revolutionized spying and warfare while protecting the United States from a surprise nuclear attack This is their story told in full for the first time of photos

Speed Bob Gilliland, Keith Dunnivant, 2021-06 On December 22 1964 at a small closely guarded airstrip in the desert town of Palmdale California Lockheed test pilot Bob Gilliland stepped into a strange looking aircraft and roared into aviation history Developed at the super secret Skunk Works the SR 71 Blackbird was a technological marvel In fact more than a half century later the Mach 3 plus titanium wonder designed by Clarence L Kelly Johnson remains the world's fastest jet It took a test pilot with the right combination of intelligence skill and nerve to make the first flight of the SR 71 and the thirty eight year old Gilliland had spent much of his life pushing the edge In Speed one of America's greatest test pilots collaborates with acclaimed journalist Keith Dunnivant to tell his remarkable story How he was pushed to excel by his demanding father How a lucky envelope at the U S Naval Academy altered the trajectory of his life How he talked his way into U S Air Force fighters at the dawn of the jet age despite being told he was too tall How he made the conscious decision to trade the security of the business world for the dangerous life of an experimental test pilot including time at the clandestine base Area 51 working on the Central Intelligence Agency s Oxcart program The narrative focuses most intently on Gilliland s years as the chief test pilot of the SR 71 as he played a leading role in the development of the entire fleet of spy planes while surviving several emergencies that very nearly ended in disaster Waging the Cold War at 85 000 feet the SR 71 became an unrivaled intelligence gathering asset for the U S Air Force invulnerable to enemy defenses for a quarter century Gilliland s work with the SR 71 defined him especially after the Cold War when many of the secrets began to be revealed and the plane emerged from the shadows not just as a tangible museum artifact but as an icon that burrowed deep into the national consciousness Like the Blackbird itself Speed is a story animated by the power of ambition and risk taking during the heady days of the American Century With Courage: The U.S. Army Air Forces in World War II , With Courage Bernard C. Nalty, John F. Shiner, George M. Watson, 1994 In the last decade of the twentieth century today s United States Air Force marks the fiftieth anniversary of its part in a national effort that opposed a coalition of enemies in a global war American and allied air forces in the conflict for the first time achieved striking range and effectiveness making air power a force equal to that of traditional armies and navies The Center for Air Force History has prepared this narrative to commemorate the accomplishments of American air power in World War II and present to the American people a record of valor in the name of freedom Partial contents include A Weapon and an Idea Europe in Flames In Desperate Battle Building Air Power Defeating Italy and Germany Victory Over Japan A New Age Theater Maps Air Forces Lineages The Very Best Men Evan Thomas, 2012-12-04 The Very Best Men is the story of the CIA s early days as told through the careers of four glamorous daring and idealistic men who ran covert operations for the government from the end of World War II to Vietnam Evan Thomas re creates the personal dramas and sometimes tragic lives of Frank Wisner Richard Bissell Tracy Barnes and Desmond FitzGerald who risked everything to contain the Soviet threat Within the inner circles of Washington they were regarded as the best and the brightest They planned and acted to keep the country out of war by stealth and political action and to do by cunning and sleight of hand what great armies could not must not be allowed to do In the end they were too idealistic and too honorable and were unsuited for the dark duplicitous life of spying Their hubris and na vet led them astray producing both sensational coups and spectacular blunders like the Bay of Pigs and the failed assassination attempts on foreign leaders in the early 1960s Thomas draws on the CIA s own secret histories to which he has had exclusive access as well as extensive interviews to bring to life a crucial piece of American history The Grand Designers , Aerospace Engineering Education During the First Century of Flight Barnes Warnock McCormick, Conrad F. Newberry, Eric Jumper, 2004 On 17 December

1903 at Kitty Hawk NC the Wright brothers succeeded in achieving controlled flight in a heavier than air machine This feat was accomplished by them only after meticulous experiments and a study of the work of others before them like Sir George Cayley Otto Lilienthal and Samuel Langley The first evidence of the academic community becoming interested in human flight is found in 1883 when Professor J J Montgomery of Santa Clara College conducted a series of glider tests Seven years later in 1890 Octave Chanute presented a number of lectures to students of Sibley College Cornell University entitled Aerial Navigation This book is a collection of papers solicited from U S universities or institutions with a history of programs in Aerospace Aeronautical engineering There are 69 institutions covered in the 71 chapters This collection of papers represents an authoritative story of the development of educational programs in the nation that were devoted to human flight Most of these programs are still in existence but there are a few papers covering the history of programs that are no longer in operation documented in Part I as well as the rapid expansion of educational programs relating to aeronautical engineering that took place in the 1940s Part II is devoted to the four schools that were pioneers in establishing formal programs Part III describes the activities of the Guggenheim Foundation that spurred much of the development of programs in aeronautical engineering Part IV covers the 48 colleges and universities that were formally established in the mid 1930s to the present The military institutions are grouped together in the Part V and Part VI presents the histories of those programs that evolved from proprietary institutions

Eyeing the Red Storm Robert M. Dienesch, 2016-04 In 1954 the U S Air Force launched an ambitious program known as WS 117L to develop the world's first reconnaissance satellite The goal was to take photographic images from space and relay them back to Earth via radio Because of technical issues and bureaucratic resistance however WS 117L was seriously behind schedule by the time Sputnik orbited Earth in 1957 and was eventually cancelled The air force began concentrating instead on new programs that eventually launched the first successful U S spy satellites Eyeing the Red Storm examines the birth of space based reconnaissance not from the perspective of CORONA the first photo reconnaissance satellite to fly but rather from that of the WS 117L Robert M Dienesch's revised assessment places WS 117L within the larger context of Dwight D Eisenhower's presidency focusing on the dynamic between military and civilian leadership Dienesch demonstrates how WS 117L promised Eisenhower not merely military intelligence but also the capacity to manage national security against the Soviet threat As a fiscal conservative Eisenhower believed a strong economy was the key to surviving the Cold War and saw satellite reconnaissance as a means to understand the Soviet military challenge more clearly and thus keep American defense spending under control Although WS 117L never flew it provided the foundation for all subsequent satellites breaking theoretical barriers and helping to overcome major technical hurdles which ensured the success of America's first working reconnaissance satellites and their photographic missions during the Cold War Purchase the audio edition

Sidewinder Ron Westrum, 2013-08-15 In the mid 1950s a small group of overworked underpaid scientists and engineers on a remote base in the Mojave Desert developed a weapon no one had asked for but everyone in the weapons industry desired This is the story of how that unorthodox team led by visionary Bill McLean overcame U S Navy bureaucracy and other more heavily funded projects to develop the world's best air to air missile Author Ron Westrum examines that special time and place when the old American work ethic and can do spirit were a vital part of U S weapons development to discover how this dedicated team was able to create a simple and inexpensive missile Today many decades after its invention the Sidewinder missile is still considered one of the best that America has to offer In a time of billion dollar weapons development contracts astronomical cost overruns and defense acquisitions scandals this revealing highly readable tale about one of the most successful weapons in history should be of interest to anyone concerned with national security

American Defense Policy Miriam Krieger, Lynne Chandler Garcia, Lynne M. Chandler Garcia, John Riley, Will Atkins, 2021-08-10 Organized into three parts the ninth edition traces the impact that societal changes and emerging technologies are having as force enablers game changers or disrupters of American defense policy Archangel David Scott Robarge, 2007 Arsenal of Defense J'Nell L. Pate, 2011-10-13 Named after Mexican War general William Jenkins Worth Fort Worth began as a military post in 1849 More than a century and a half later the defense industry remains Fort Worth's major strength with Lockheed Martin's F 35s and Bell Helicopter's Ospreys flying the skies over the city Arsenal of Defense Fort Worth's Military Legacy covers the entire military history of Fort Worth from the 1840s with tiny Bird's Fort to the massive defense plants of the first decade of the twenty first century Although the city is popularly known as Cowtown for its iconic cattle drives and stockyards soldiers pilots and military installations have been just as important and more enduring in Fort Worth's legacy Although Bird's Fort provided defense for early North Texas settlers in the mid nineteenth century it was the major world conflicts of the twentieth century that developed Fort Worth's military presence into what it is today

America's buildup for World War I brought three pilot training fields and the army post Camp. During World War II headquarters for the entire nation's Army Air Forces Flying Training Command came to Fort Worth. The military history of Fort Worth has been largely an aviation story one that went beyond pilot training to the construction of military aircraft. Beginning with Globe Aircraft in 1940 Consolidated in 1942 and Bell Helicopter in 1950 the city has produced many thousands of military aircraft for the defense of the nation. Lockheed Martin the descendant of Consolidated represents an assembly plant that has been in continuous existence for over seven decades. With Lockheed Martin the nation's largest defense contractor Bell the largest helicopter producer and the Fort Worth Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base Federal Medical Center Carswell the reservist's training pattern for the nation Fort Worth's military defense legacy remains strong. Arsenal of Defense won first place in the Press Women of Texas Communications Contest 2012.
