Kewa Tales:

Kewa Tales John LeRoy, 2011-11-01 A Papua New Guinea Highland people the Kewa have within their vital oral tradition a rich body of folk tales eighty of which are brought together in this volume Like many folk tales the stories are made up of elements which recur in different variations and combinations LeRoy has classified and numbered the various episodes and prepared a synoptic guide to aid in the reading of the tales Using the guide the reader can follow a particular episode from one tale to another

Fabricated World John D. LeRoy, 1985 The meaning and mechanics of myth have been of constant concern in scholarship Tales and legends challenge us to find a sense and purpose concealed in their apparent nonsense and that challenge is met in this companion volume to Kewa Tales Describing eighty tales the author explains how they are fabricated from recurrent narrative sequences logical structures and aesthetic metaphors To do so he draws on the formalism of Propp the structuralism of Levi Strauss and writings on poetics and metaphor But holding tales to be mirrors or models for daily life he also demonstrates an intimate connection between narrative structure and ethnographic settings

Pathways to Heaven Holger Jebens, 2006-09-01 How does global Christianity relate to processes of globalisation and modernization and what form does it take in different local settings These questions have lately proved to be of increasing interest to many scholars in the social sciences and humanities This study examines the tensions antagonisms and outright confrontations that can occur within local Christian communities upon the arrival of global versions of fundamentalism and it does so through a rich and in depth ethnographic study of a single case that of Pairundu a small and remote Papua New Guinean village whose population accepted Catholicism after first being contacted in the late 1950s and subsequently participated in a charismatic movement before more and more members of the younger generation started to separate themselves from their respective catholic families and to convert to one of the most radical and fastest growing religious groups not only in contemporary Papua New Guinea but world wide the Seventh Day Adventist Church This case study of local Christianity as a lived religion contributes to an understanding of the social and cultural dynamics that increasingly incite and shape religious conflicts on a global scale

Melanesian Odysseys Lisette Josephides, 2008 In a series of epic self narratives ranging from traditional cultural embodiments to picaresque adventures Christian epiphanies and a host of interactive strategies and techniques for living Kewa Highlanders PNG attempt to shape and control their selves and their relentlessly changing world This account transcends ethnographic particularity and offers a wide reaching perspective on the nature of being human Inverting the analytic logic of her previous work which sought to uncover what social structures concealed Josephides focuses instead on the cultural understandings that people make explicit in their actions and speech Using approaches from philosophy and anthropology she examines elicitation how people create their selves and their worlds in the act of making explicit and mimesis how anthropologists produce ethnographies to arrive at an unexpected conclusion that knowledge of self and other alike derives from self externalization rather than self introspection

BOOK JACKET Sung Tales from the Papua New

Guinea Highlands Alan Rumsey, Don Niles, 2011-08-01 The genres of sung tales that are the subject of this volume are one of the most striking aspects of the cultural scene in the Papua New Guinea Highlands. Composed and performed by specialist bards, they are a highly valued art form. From a comparative viewpoint, they are remarkable both for their scale and complexity and for the range of variation that is found among regional genres and individual styles. Though their existence has previously been noted by researchers working in the Highlands, and some recordings made of them, most of these genres have not been studied in detail until quite recently, mainly because of the challenging range of disciplinary expertise that is required in anthropology, linguistics, and ethnomusicology. This volume presents a set of interrelated studies by researchers in all of those fields and by a Papua New Guinea Highlander who has assisted with the research based on his lifelong familiarity with one of the regional genres. The studies presented here, all of them previously unpublished and written especially for this volume, are of groundbreaking significance not only for specialists in Melanesia or the Pacific but also for readers with a more general interest in comparative poetics, mythology, musicology, or verbal art.

The Goddess Shahrukh Husain, 2003 From the dawn of the human race, the idea of a Mother Goddess has been an archetype found in every culture and every era, and this fascinating study explores all of her many faces and multitude of roles.

Fearless Girls, Wise Women & Beloved Sisters Kathleen Ragan, 2025-04-25 One hundred great folk tales and fairy tales from all over the world about strong, smart, brave heroines. Dismayed by the predominance of male protagonists in her daughters' books, Kathleen Ragan set out to collect the stories of our forgotten heroines. Gathered from around the world from regions as diverse as sub-Saharan Africa and Western Europe, from North and South American Indian cultures and New World settlers from Asia and the Middle East, these 100 folktales celebrate strong female heroines. Fearless Girls, Wise Women and Beloved Sisters is for all women who are searching to define who they are, to redefine the world and shape their collective sensibility. It is for men who want to know more about what it means to be a woman. It is for our daughters and our sons so that they can learn to value all kinds of courage: courage in battle and the courage of love. It is for all of us to help build a more just vision of woman.

Steel to Stone Jeffrey L. Clark, 2000 Overall, Clark provides a compelling picture of a contemporary Melanesian culture at the critical point at which the Wiru people are interpreting, invoking, and reinventing their history in the context of a developing nation-state. Jacket.

Expressive Genres and Historical Change Andrew Strathern, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays, edited by leading scholars in the field, focuses on how expressive genres such as music, dance, and poetry are of enduring significance to social organization. Research from New Guinea, Indonesia, and Taiwan is used to assess how historical changes modify these forms of expression to adjust to the social and political needs of the moment. The volume is unique in exploring the significance of expressive genres for the social processes of coping with and adjusting to change, either from outside forces or from internal ones. The contributions detail first-hand fieldwork, often conducted over a period of many years, and with each contributor bringing their experience to bear on both the aesthetic and the analytical aspects of their materials.

Comparative in scope the volume covers Austronesian and non Austronesian speakers in the wider Indo Pacific region

Between Culture and Fantasy Gillian Gillison,1993-07 The myths of the Gimi a people of the Eastern Highlands of Papua New Guinea attribute the origin of death and misery to the incestuous desires of the first woman or man as if one sex or the other were guilty of the very first misdeed Working for years among the Gimi speaking their language anthropologist Gillian Gillison gained rare insight into these myths and their pervasive influence in the organization of social life Hers is a fascinating account of relations between the sexes and the role of myth in the transition between unconscious fantasy and cultural forms Gillison shows how the themes expressed in Gimi myths especially sexual hostility and an obsession with menstrual blood are dramatized in the elaborate public rituals that accompany marriage death and other life crises The separate myths of Gimi women and men seem to speak to one another to protest alter and enlarge upon myths of the other sex The sexes cast blame in the veiled imagery of myth and then play out their debate in joint rituals cooperating in shows of conflict and resolution that leave men undefeated and accord women the greater blame for misfortune Religions of Melanesia Garry Trompf,2006-09-30 Melansia boasts over one quarter of the world s distinct religions and presents the most complex religious panorama on earth The region is famous for its unusual new religious movements that have adapted traditional beliefs to modernity in surprising ways As the first bibliographical survey to comprehensively cover the entire region Religions of Melanesia is an invaluable research aid for anyone interested in this growing field Trompf s work is a complete listing of scholarly publications and provides readable and concise descriptions that will clearly guide the researcher toward the most relevant sources This survey covers 2188 entries organized topically and regionally Trompf covers such subjects as traditional and modern belief systems and the emergent indigenous Christianity that has taken root Regional coverage includes Irian Jaya Papua New Guinea Solomon Islands Vanuatu New Caledonia and Fiji The Novel, Volume 1 Franco Moretti,2006 Publisher Description Body Thoughts Andrew Strathern,1996 Provides an excellent review of anthropological thought on the body Lying and Poetry from Homer to Pindar Louise H. Pratt,1993 A suggestive study of an elemental aspect of fiction Gender, Song, and Sensibility Pamela J. Stewart,Andrew Strathern,2002-08-30 The authors present a historical picture of gender relations in Highlands New Guinea by exploring domains of imagination as revealed in courting songs ballads and folktales from across the Highlands but with particular reference to field areas in the western Highlands Texts and or translations are from a rich corpus of materials previously unpublished in English The examples draw the reader into the imaginative world of the people while the analytical framework sets the discussion firmly into debates within interpretive anthropology The aim is to re examine the images of gender relations in Highlands New Guinea by revealing the sensuous and emotional modalities of expressive folk genres and their aesthetic qualities Ideas and practices centered on female spirit entities are shown to be important and pervasive in cult contexts and these spirits were felt to have a significant influence on relations of courtship marriage and reproduction Both women and men are also shown to have complex expressions of emotional dispositions in the spheres of courting and the choice of marital partners By entering into these domains the book modifies earlier analyses that have concentrated on antagonism behavioral taboos separation and domination as themes in gender relations in Highland societies African Storytelling for Global Citizenship Education George J.S. Dei, Dionisio Nyaga, Juliana Kami, 2025-04-09 This thought provoking book outlines the pedagogical value of African storytelling It demonstrates that African wisdom has historically been part of violent colonial elimination leading to the ontological expendability of these stories and them being excluded forgotten and devalued in academic circles

Life Lived Like a Story Julie Cruikshank, 1992-01-01 Of Athapaskan and Tlingit ancestry Angela Sidney Kitty Smith and Annie Ned lived in the southern Yukon Territory for nearly a century They collaborated with Julie Cruikshank an assistant professor in the Department of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia to produce this unique kind of autobiography

Modes of Religiosity Harvey Whitehouse, 2004-05-19 Religions_ whatever else they may be_ are configurations of cultural information reproduced across space and time Beginning with this seemingly obvious fact of religious transmission Harvey Whitehouse goes on to construct a testable theory of how religions are created passed on and changed At the center of his theory are two divergent modes of religiosity the imagistic and the doctrinal Drawing from recent advances in cognitive science Whitehouse's theory shows how religions tend to coalesce around one of these two poles depending on how religious behaviors are remembered In the imagistic mode rituals have a lasting impact on people's minds haunting not only our memories but influencing the way we ruminate on religious topics These psychological features are linked to the scale and structure of religious communities fostering small exclusive and ideologically heterogeneous ritual groupings or factions In the doctrinal mode on the other hand religious knowledge is primarily spread through intensive and repetitive teaching religious communities are contrastingly large inclusive and centrally regulated While these tendencies have long been recognized in the history of the study of religion the modes of religiosity theory is unique in that it explains why these tendencies exist More importantly Whitehouse does not give the final word but invites us to join a series of collaborative networks among anthropologists historians archaeologists and psychologists currently trying to falsify confirm or refine the theory Are you tired of the flood of descriptions and interpretations of religions which offer no clear strategy for evaluation comparison and testing Modes of Religiosity can provide you with a new way to think when you think about religion An Introduction to the Anthropology of Melanesia Paul Sillitoe, 1998-10-08 This Introduction to the Anthropology of Melanesia is intended for undergraduate anthropology students with some grounding in the issues and ideas that inform the discipline and for courses in Pacific Studies Each chapter focuses on a topic common to many cultures in the region such as the role of so called Big Men ancestors male initiation and exchange and these ideas are fleshed out with apt ethnographic examples Melanesia is a fascinating culture area and has always been a popular fieldwork site for anthropologists including W H R Rivers Bronislaw Malinowski Margaret Mead and Gregory Bateson Some of the most important theoretical contributions to the subject were also first formulated with reference to Melanesian studies and students today still learn much of their basic anthropology from Melanesian examples Society of Others Rupert Stasch, 2009 In this timely commentary on the ideas of difference strangeness and Western contact Stasch weaves ethnographic materials together with theoretical framing in an exceptionally clear and compelling way A highly original important and in fact astonishing piece of scholarship Bambi Schieffelin author of The Give and Take of Everyday Life In this remarkable ethnography Rupert Stasch takes us to the lowlands of West Papua and into the lives of people who have built a social world out of their relationships with strange and potentially dangerous others The Korowai are classic inhabitants of the savage slot still dogged by their designation as Stone Age primitives Instead of flipping the script and arguing that the Korowai are just like everyone else Stasch draws far reaching lessons from the particularities of Korowai life Stasch writes with grace and clarity on the ambivalent ways in which the Korowai confront evade and embrace an otherness that resides not just in words food places and human bodies but also in the pasts and futures brought to mind by these material signs Analyzing Korowai sign use as a concrete historical process he charts the passage between intimacy and alterity that Korowai undergo in their encounters not only with spirits and Indonesian soldiers but also with children husbands and wives Some of what Stasch describes may seem strange and even disturbing But in pondering Stasch's findings one gradually comes to see the making of persons and relationships in an entirely new light Gone is the old debate between biological determination and cultural freedom in its place is an approach that affirms the multiple histories that converge in and flow from a life Erudite empathetic and unremittingly smart Society of Others recasts the very meaning of kinship and makes a case for the power of what anthropologists do Danilyn Rutherford author of Raiding the Land of the Foreigners The Limits of the Nation on an Indonesian Frontier

Embracing the Track of Appearance: An Mental Symphony within Kewa Tales

In a world used by screens and the ceaseless chatter of fast transmission, the melodic elegance and mental symphony developed by the written word frequently diminish into the background, eclipsed by the persistent noise and distractions that permeate our lives. But, set within the pages of Kewa Tales a charming fictional prize full of organic emotions, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an elegant musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts viewers on a mental trip, well unraveling the concealed tunes and profound impact resonating within each carefully constructed phrase.
