Chan,1999-02-23 This stimulating reference text examines a wide range of issues and trends in administrative reform in the Newly Industrialized or Industrializing Economies NIEs of the Asia Pacific Basin and offers detailed case studies illustrating the dynamics and etiology of reform protocols Suggesting new ways of understanding reform within a bureaucratic or political framework the Handbook of Comparative Public Administration in the Asia Pacific Basin highlights the role of civil service training in fostering strategic political social and economic changes in Hong Kong over the past decade provides a roadmap into the labyrinth of China s gigantic financial system and includes nearly 600 references tables and drawings FDI, Regionalism, Government Policy and Endogenous

Growth Anthony Bende-Nabende,2018-08-20 Published in 1999 this text investigates whether FDI caused spill over effects which have led to the economic growth of the ASEAN 5 economies and if that it so whether the ASEAN Preferential Trade Agreement APTA had a significant effect in attracting FDI to the region It takes into account the different levels of economic development of the countries under analysis The results from the structural static model suggest that FDI has stimulated economic growth through the human factors followed by technology transfer international trade and learning by doing and that the formation of APTA had a lagged influence on FDI inflows into the advantage of the more developed member countries and the disadvantage of the less developed countries Those from the multiplier dynamic effects analysis demonstrate that whereas the impact is immediate in the more developed politically stable and foreign investment friendly economies there is a time lag in those economies which are less developed and more hostile to FDI The analysis presents an empirical comparison of how the level of economic development affects the interaction of FDI regionalism and economic growth

Economic Performance in Pacific and South East Asia David G. Dickinson,J.L. Ford,the late M.J. Fry,Andrew W.

Mullineux,S. Sen,2000-01-01 this is an interesting and valuable collection of papers that addresses a highly topical area of research The quality of writing is high in the main and the econometric methodology and models transparent The appendices to many of the empirical chapters provide detailed information about data sources as well as model results The book should be required reading for researchers and graduate students in this field and the review papers provide valuable teaching material. It will be especially useful for those concerned with the contribution of governance structures to economic performance, financial crises and the still disputed relationship between growth and financial liberalization. Jennifer Piesse, Asia Pacific Business Review: Finance, Governance and Economic Performance in Pacific and South East Asia, focuses on key aspects of government policy, financial systems and their links to the economic miracle in Pacific and South East Asia. It also considers the financial crises that have affected those economies and their economic progress. The contributors examine the success of governance in the form of government involvement with the macroeconomy and with the deregulation of markets in general. Attention is drawn not only to the need for further liberalisation but also the need to introduce regulatory structures to produce orderly markets.

The ASEAN Region in Transition Abu N. M. Wahid, 2019-07-23. First published in 1997, this volume features analysis of one of the fastest growing areas in Asia for gross national product, trade and commerce. The Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) Of its members, Singapore has achieved a GDP exceeding Spain, Ireland and New Zealand, with Brunei Darussalam close to that mark. The other four countries on their current trajectories are expected to soon join the Newly Industrialized Economies (NIE) of Asia which already include Hong Kong, Taiwan, South Korea and Singapore. This collaboration consists of six analyses of the six member countries of the ASEAN: Brunei's socioeconomic policies, Indonesia's political and economic reforms, the implementation of the New Economic Policy (NEP) in Malaysia, the development policies in the Philippines, the successful role of socioeconomic state intervention in Singapore, and the double digit growth conditions in Thailand.

Economic and Social Development Into the XXI Century Louis Emmerij, 1997. What new directions will development take in the next century? A distinguished group of experts on economic development debated this question in late 1996. Their views of the emerging development consensus are presented in Economic and Social Development into the XXI Century. The authors give special attention to developing countries in Latin America and East Asia. Analyzing the growth of certain East Asian economies, they ask what can be emulated: state engineered industrial policies, an export push, better initial income distribution, fiscal incentives to promote corporate growth, the region's successful land reform efforts, or the commitment to better education. While agreeing that equity is a major determinant of economic success, they differ regarding how to achieve it.

The European Union and Asean NA, 2016-04-30. In mid 1997, a major crisis embraced the economies of Southeast Asia. Its effects were severe, particularly on the countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, many of whose currencies suffered market devaluations. This volume addresses the causes of the crisis and its ramifications for both trade and investment between the European Union and ASEAN at the turn of the century.

Economy—Energy—Environment Simulation K. Uno, 2002-05-31. In the policy arena as well as in the academic world, a new challenge is having to deal with the global community. We are increasingly aware that the world is linked through economy, energy, environment interactions. We are increasingly aware at the same time that the emergence of the global community does not imply an integrated harmonious world; rather, it is a community where co-tries regions of different interests and values face each other directly Global governance has to be achieved through actions of national governments under different motives and constraints We need to have an analytical tool that is capable of producing a global picture yet with detailed country resolution If the world is a better place now compared to 100 years ago in terms of p capita income this is due to the industrialization that continued throughout the 20th century We entered the 21st century knowing that the human aspiration that translates into ever increasing production may not be tenable in the long run Sustainability of the global community is at stake In contrast to inc mental decision making through the market mechanism that should lead to some optimal state under some assumptions such as perfect knowledge smooth movement of resources no externalities and so forth we need to have an a lytical tool to provide us with details of the future state of the world Economic
