The main theme is Gordon Comstock's romantic ambition to defy worship of the money god and status and the dismal life that results. Orwell wrote the book in 1934 and 1935 when he was living at various locations near Hampstead in London and drew on his experiences in these and the preceding few years. At the beginning of 1928 he lived in lodgings in Portobello Road from where he started his tramping expeditions sleeping rough and roaming the poorer parts of London. At this time he wrote a fragment of a play in which the protagonist Stone needs money for a life-saving operation for his child. Stone would prefer to prostitute his wife rather than prostitute his artistic integrity by writing advertising copy.

It is a social satirical novel that is grabbing the top spot in the fiction satire genre since its publication. Gordon Comstock is the character of the story and somewhat depicts Orwell himself. Gordon Comstock left his good-paying job as a copywriter with an advertising company Albion. He left his job to dedicate his whole time writing poetry and polish his writing skills for the reason that can be contemplated he was switching his career and taking up writing as a means for livelihood and as a full-time career. In addition, Gordon took up a job with a bookstore owned by Scott. This was similar to what Orwell was doing a few years back from the date of writing this novel. However, he wasn't as affluent as the character is in the story before taking up petty lower job of a receptionist or store boy at the bookstore.
