received the official go ahead from government and the building's opening in 1982. Published 20 years after that opening, these essays tell how the various collections came into being and continue to evolve. Authors include the Gallery's first three directors: James Mollison, Betty Churcher, and Brian Kennedy, while other participants close to the collections' formations provide commentary and stories as varied, insightful, and interesting as the collections themselves.

A Graphic Muse Richard S. Field, Ruth Fine, 1987. The catalogue of an exhibition at Mount Holyoke College, this volume documents the vital and original contributions that American women artists have brought to contemporary printmaking. The neon bars and menacing stairwells of Jane Dickson's aquatints convey the loneliness of big city living as powerfully as Edward Hopper's urban landscapes. They contrast with Yvonne Jacquette's stunning, meticulous nighttime vistas of Manhattan. Many of the artists here employ innovative techniques.

Cumulative Book Index, 1988. A world list of books in the English language.

The American Scene Stephen Coppel, British Museum, 2008. This catalogue presents an overview of American printmaking in the first half of the twentieth century, beginning in 1905 with John Sloan's etchings of everyday urban experience, dubbed the Ashcan School, and concluding with Jackson Pollock and abstract expressionist prints. About 140 powerful prints by approximately 75 artists will be featured. A substantial introduction sets the prints in context, showing how this dynamic tradition arose and how it relates to other media such as magazine illustration, photography, cinema, and poster design. Biographies of all the artists are included in this book.
