Industrial Archaeology Principles And Practice:

Industrial Archaeology Marilyn Palmer, 2012-10-12 Industrial Archaeology uses the techniques of mainstream archaeological excavation analysis and interpretation to present an enlightening picture of industrial society Technology and heritage have until recently been the focal points of study in industrialization Industrial Archaeology sets out a coherent methodology for the discipline which expands on and extends beyond the purely functional analysis of industrial landscapes structures and artefacts to a broader consideration of their cultural meaning and value The authors examine for example the social context of industrialization including the effect of new means of production on working patterns diet and health

Industrial Archaeology, 1986 Industrial Archaeology Eleanor Casella, James Symonds, 2007-01-04 Eleanor Conlin Casella and James Symonds The essays in this book are adapted from papers presented at the 24 Annual Conference of the Theoretical Archaeology Group held at the University of Manchester in December 2002 The conference session An Industrial Revolution Future Directions for Industrial Archaeology was jointly devised by the editors and sponsored by English Heritage with the intention of gathering together leading industrial and historical archaeologists from around the world Speakers were asked to consider aspects of contemporary theory and practice as well as possible future directions for the study of industrialisation and industrial societies It perhaps being that this meeting was convened in Manchester which has a rich industrial heritage and has recently been proclaimed as the archetype city of the industrial revolution McNeil and George 2002 However just as Manchester is being transformed by regeneration shaking off many of the negative connotations associated with factory based industrial production and remaking itself as a 21 century city then so too is the archaeological study of industrialisation being transformed In the most recent overview of industrial archaeology in the UK Sir Neil Cossons cautioned that industrial archaeology risked becoming a one generation subject that stood on the edge of oblivion alongside the mid 20 century pursuit of folklife studies Cossons 2000 13 It is to be hoped that the papers in this volume demonstrate that this will not be the case The Oxford Handbook of Industrial Archaeology Eleanor

Casella, Michael Nevell, Hanna Steyne, 2022 Through international and multi period chapters this volume explores the origins and development of industrialization from its emergence in 18th century Europe to its contemporary ubiquity It interrogates the widespread exploitation of natural resources that forged industrialization and its environmental and social legacy in our globalized world ARCHAEOLOGY - Volume I Donald L. International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today

Writing local history John Beckett, 2013-07-19 This fascinating book looks at how local history developed from the antiquarian county studies of the sixteenth century through the growth of professional history in the nineteenth century to the recent past Concentrating on the past sixty years it looks at the opening of archive offices the invigorating influence of family history the impact of adult education and other forms of lifelong learning The author considers the debates generated by academics including the divergence of views over local and regional issues and the importance of standards set by the Victoria County History VCH Also discussed is the fragmentation of the subject The antiquarian tradition included various subject areas that are now separate disciplines among them industrial archaeology name studies family landscape and urban history This is an authoritative account of how local history has come to be one of the most popular and productive intellectual pastimes in our modern society Written by a practitioner who has spent more than twenty years teaching local history to undergraduates and M A students as well as lecturing to local history societies John Beckett is currently Director of the VCH A remarkable book that will be of great interest to students and scholars of local history as well as amateur and professional genealogists The Reconstructed Past John H. Jameson Jr.,2004-01-13 To reconstruct or not to reconstruct That is the question facing many agencies and site managers throughout the world While reconstructed sites provide a three dimensional pedagogic environment in which visitors can acquire a heightened sense of the past an ethical conflict emerges when on site reconstructions and restorations contribute to the damage or destruction of the original archaeological record The case studies in this volume contribute to the ongoing debates between data and material authenticity and educational and interpretive value of reconstructions Discussing diverse reconstruction sites from the Golan Region to Colonial Williamsburg the authors present worldwide examples that have been affected by agency policies divergent presentation philosophies and political and economic realities

Reanimating Industrial Spaces Hilary Orange,2016-06-16 Reanimating Industrial Spaces explores the relationships between people and the places of former industry through approaches that incorporate and critique memory work The chapters in this volume consider four broad questions What is the relationship between industrial heritage and memory How is memory involved in the process of place making in regards to industrial spaces What are the strengths and pitfalls of conducting memory work What can be learned from cross disciplinary perspectives and methods The contributors have created a set of diverse case studies including iron smelting in Uganda Puerto Rican sugar mills and concrete factories in Albania which examine differing socio economic contexts and approaches to industrial spaces both in the past and in contemporary society A range of memory work is also illustrated from ethnography oral history digital technologies excavation and archival and documentary research Managing Historic Sites and Buildings David Baker,Gill Chitty,2013-02-01 Managing Historic Sites and Buildings looks at the choices and the tensions that exist in conservation and interpretation of the heritage Preservation and presentation are central activities arguably means and ends in the conservation of the historic environment But are they self reinforcing or do they work against each other In a series of essays which span from prehistoric sacred site to Second World war military remains from medieval monastery to 1970s housing estate we look at contemporary concerns and debates about the way the past is shaped physically and metaphorically by these two aspects of heritage management Starting from the position that the fundamental purpose of the whole process is to communicate understanding about the human past these essays examine how far the ideologies strategies tactics and techniques of preservation and presentation are mutually supportive the success of integrated approaches that are inclusive of social economic and green environmental concerns is understood but the value of developing truly sustainable management for individual historic places is only just becoming evident At the heart of such an approach lies a crucial relationship between the activity of preserving historic places and of promoting understanding of their significance

Chosen Legacies Linde Egberts, 2017-07-14 The urge for regional identity has not declined in the process of globalization Rather heritage is used to develop regional distinctiveness and to charge identities with a past Particularly helpful for this aim are creation stories Golden Ages or recent shared traumas Some themes such as the Roman era or the Second World War appear easier to appropriate than for example prehistory This book assesses the role of heritage in the construction of regional identities in Western Europe It contains case studies on early medieval heritage in Alsace and Euregio Meuse Rhine industrial heritage in the German Ruhr area and competing memories in the Arnhem Nijmegen region in the Netherlands It presents new insights into the process of heritage production on a regional level in relationship to processes of identity construction The theoretical analysis of heritage and regional identity is innovative as these concepts were hardly analysed in relation to each other before This book also offers insights into policy tourism spatial development and regional development to policymakers politicians designers and professionals in the heritage and tourism industries
