Research Handbook on Development and the Informal Economy Jacques Charmes, 2020-09-25 This Research Handbook on Development and the Informal Economy captures the magnitude of the informal economy for the global labour force. It unravels numerous concepts, definitions and methods of data collection to offer valuable insight into the differences between the informal, non-observed and shadow economies. Entrepreneurship in the Informal Sector Colin Williams, 2017-09-22 How many businesses start-ups conduct some or all of their trade off the books? And how many enterprises continue to do some of their work off the books once they are more established? What should be done about them? Should governments adopt ever more punitive measures to eradicate them? Or should we recognise this hidden enterprise culture and attempt to harness it? If so, how can this be done? What measures can be taken to ensure that businesses start up in a proper manner? And what can be done to help those enterprises and entrepreneurs currently working off the books to legitimise their businesses? The aim of this book is to advance a new way of answering these questions. Drawing inspiration from institutional theory, informal sector entrepreneurship is explained as resulting from the asymmetry between the codified laws and regulations of a society's formal institutions and the norms, values and beliefs that comprise a society's informal institutions. The argument is that if the norms, values and beliefs of entrepreneurs, i.e. their individual morality, were wholly aligned with the codified laws and regulations, i.e. state morality, there would be no informal sector entrepreneurship. However, because the individual morality of entrepreneurs differs from state morality, such as due to their lack of trust in government and the rule of law, the result is the prevalence of informal sector entrepreneurship. The greater the degree of institutional asymmetry, the higher is the propensity to engage in informal sector entrepreneurship. This book provides evidence to show that this is the case both at the individual and country level and then discusses how this can be overcome. Handbook of Research on the Global Political Economy of Work Maurizio Atzeni, Dario Azzellini, Alessandra Mezzadri, Phoebe Moore, Ursula Apitzsch, 2023-10-06 This ground-breaking Handbook broadens empirical and theoretical understandings of work, work relations and workers. It advances a global intersectional labour studies agenda, laying the foundations for the politically emancipatory project of decolonising the political economy of work. SMEs in Asian Developing Countries Tulus Tahi Hamonangan Tambunan, 2009-08-28 Analyzing the development of small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in Asian developing countries, the book is based on a survey of key literature and data on SMEs with the focus on recent development, export performance, main constraints, competitiveness, innovation and technology transfer and female entrepreneurs.

Perspectives on Neoliberalism, Labour and Globalization in India K.R. Shyam Sundar, 2019-04-30 This book employs a variety of perspectives such as Institutional, Social Democratic, Marxist, Gender and Informal, Biblical and Dalit to critically examine the impact of neo-liberal globalisation on both formal and informal sectors of the labour market and the industrial relations system. The narratives not only interrogate current institutions and paradigms but also outline future developments.

Informal Economy Centrestage Renana Jhabvala, Ratna M Sudarshan, Jeemol Unni, 2003-10-09 Annotation Transformative Policy for Poor Women Bina Fernandez, 2016-02-24 What accounts for the oft noted gap between well designed policies for women and their inadequate implementation Why do such policies often fail to benefit the poorest women How do policies address the intersecting inequalities of gender class caste ethnic identity and race What are the conditions under which policy may have transformative potential for poor women This book answers these questions and many more Presenting a new feminist framework for policy analysis that can account for policy failures Bina

Fernandez argues that these failures are often predictable and that it is necessary to unpack the actual policy practices within the policy implementation gap. Recognising that policy is a multiply layered contingent and politically contested discursive process, the author proposes the analysis of policy through four analytical categories: Constitutive Contexts, Representations, Practices, and Consequences. Within each of these four categories, gender, class, and ethnic identity are central axes of analysis. The framework is given substance through an empirical case study of an anti-poverty policy in India, yet the wider relevance of the framework is validated through a discussion of parallels in the policy contexts of other developing countries. Transformative Policy for Poor Women provides an important and required framework to understand the gap between policy pronouncement and its praxis on the ground. These features make this book an important read for both scholars and practitioners seeking to understand policy in developing country contexts.

World Development Report 2005 World Bank, 2004. Firms and entrepreneurs of all types, from microenterprises to multinationals, play a central role in growth and poverty reduction. Their investment decisions drive job creation, the availability and affordability of goods and services for consumers, and the tax revenues governments can draw on to fund health, education, and other services. Their contribution depends largely on the way governments shape the investment climate in each location through the protection of property rights, regulation, and taxation strategies for providing infrastructure, interventions in finance and labor markets, and broader governance features such as corruption. The World Development Report 2005 argues that improving the investment climates of their societies should be a top priority for governments. Drawing on surveys of nearly 30,000 firms in 53 developing countries, country case studies, and other new research, the Report explores questions such as: What are the key features of a good investment climate and how do they influence growth and poverty? What can governments do to improve their investment climates and how can they go about tackling such a broad agenda? What has been learned about good practice in each of the main areas of the investment climate? What role might selective interventions and international arrangements play in improving the investment climate? What can the international community do to help developing countries improve the investment climates of their societies? In addition to detailed chapters exploring these and related issues, the Report contains selected data from the World Bank's new program of Investment Climate Surveys, the Bank's Doing Business Project, and World Development Indicators 2004, an appendix of economic and social data for over 200 countries. This Report offers practical insights for policymakers, executives, scholars, and all those with an interest in economic development.

ICSSR Journal of Abstracts and Reviews Indian Council of Social Science Research, 2004. World Social Science Report 2010 United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, 2010-01-01. Social science from Western countries continues to have the greatest global influence, but the field is expanding rapidly in Asia and Latin America, particularly in China and Brazil. In sub-Saharan Africa, social scientists from South Africa, Nigeria, and Kenya produce 75% of academic publications. In South Asia, barring some centres of excellence in India, social sciences as a whole have low priority.

These are a few of the findings from World Social Science Report 2010 Knowledge divides Produced by the International Social Science Council ISSC and co published with UNESCO the Report is the first comprehensive overview of the field in over a decade Hundreds of social scientists from around the world contributed their expertise to the publication Gudmund Hernes President of the ISSC Adebayo Olukoshi Director of the United Nations African Institute for Economic Development and Planning IDEP Hebe Vessuri Director Venezuelan Institute for Scientific Research IVIC and Francois Hran Director of Research National Institute for Demographic Studies INED France are among the experts who presented the Report during its official launch at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris on 25 June 2010

Spatial Diversity and Dynamics in Resources and Urban Development Ashok K. Dutt, Allen G. Noble, Frank J. Costa, Rajiv R. Thakur, Sudhir K. Thakur, 2015-11-24 This double volume work focuses on socio demographics and the use of such data to support strategic resource management and planning initiatives Papers go beyond explanations of methods technique and traditional applications to explore new intersections in the dynamic relationship between the utilization and management of resources and urban development International authors explore numerous experiences characteristics of development and decision making influences from across Asia and Southeast Asia as well as recounting examples from America and Africa Papers propound techniques and methods used in geographical research such as support vector machines socio economic correlates and travel behaviour analysis In this volume the contributors examine cutting edge theories explaining diversity and dynamics in urban development Topics covered include human vulnerability to hazards space and urban problematic assessment and evaluation of regional urban systems and structures and urban transformations as a result of structural change economic development and underdevelopment The significance of these topics lie in the pace and volume of change as is happening in geography reflecting continued development within established fields of inquiry and the introduction of significantly new approaches during the last decade Readers are invited to consider the dynamics of spatial expansion of urban areas and economic development and to explore conceptual discussion of the innovations in and challenges on urbanization processes urban spaces themselves and both resource management and environmental management Together the two volumes contribute to the interdisciplinary literature on regional resources and urban development by collating recent research with geography at its core Scholars of urban geography human geography urbanism and sustainable development will be particularly interested in this book

Women's Livelihood Rights Sumi Krishna, 2007-09-10 This interdisciplinary book looks at women's natural resource based livelihoods in the wider context of development viewed through the lens of citizenship rights Unravelling the patriarchal social fabric and policy structures in India it argues that the concept of citizenship needs to be extended to include recognition of ways of life and livelihood so that women take their legitimate space as productive human beings entitled to dignity as a political right and not merely to protection and welfare The editor weaves together a historical perspective on varied dimensions of livelihood development and citizenship Drawing upon rich field based researches in 13 states across India the authors deal with complex and inter related themes the need to recognise women's right to resources and their livelihood and employment strategies the challenges of democratic governance and of restructuring institutional systems to make them responsive and the role of women's collective agency in development Reflecting upon and critically analysing context specific issues in several less studied locations the book shows that there is much to be learnt from empathetic interaction with the collective struggles of poor women and from action and dialogue on the ground Further it suggests that feminist politics has to network strategically with other struggles to counter the resistance of traditional and contemporary patriarchal structures and to work towards recasting citizenship for a gender just development that ensures women's livelihood rights With its fresh perspective and insights this book would be invaluable for research institutions NGOs donor agencies and individual practitioners and students working in the fields of gender and development natural resource management and livelihood policy planning and interventions Book jacket
