CO2 Abatement and Economic Structural Change in the European Internal Market Frank Hoster, Heinz Welsch, Christoph Böhringer, 2012-12-06 European environmental and energy policies are currently challenged by two mutually dependent issues CO2 abatement and the completion of the Internal Market for energy Both will lead to substantial structural changes in the energy supply industry and in the wider economy The purpose of this book is to analyze the interaction between CO2 abatement economic structural change and the completion of the European Internal Market This involves not only significant general equilibrium effects but also technological changes especially in the electricity supply sector The simulation results indicate that the effects of measures to reduce European CO2 emissions depend considerably on the structure of the electricity supply system

Structural Change: The Challenge to Industrial Societies Herbert Hax, Willy Kraus, Kiyoshi Tsuchiya, 2013-03-09 The highly developed industrial countries today have to face the challenge of accelerated structural change The problems arising from this process are tackled in very different ways In the public discussion the different approaches of Japan on the one side and of Western European countries on the other have received considerable attention Structural change in its economic social and political aspects has been the subject of the 8th German Japanese Seminar on Economics and Social Sciences held at Cologne from the 24th to the 27th of September 1984 The tradition of German Japanese Seminars on Economics and Social Sciences goes back to 1966 when the first meeting was held at Tokyo Among the first participants were Dr Hiromi Arizawa Dr Kazuo Okochi both professors at the University of Tokyo and Dr Karl Hax professor at Frankfurt University The objective of all seminars which have been held since has been the analysis of economic and social problems of immediate interest in both countries The records of former seminars which have been published partly in Japanese partly in German throw light upon the shift of emphasis toward new problems which took place during a period of 18 years

Structural Change, Economic Interdependence and World Development P.J. Lloyd, Luigi L. Pasinetti, 1987-09-29

Structural Change, Competitiveness and Industrial Policy Aurora Teixeira, Ester Silva, Ricardo Mamede, 2014-06-20 The onset of the global crisis has emphasised the persistence of substantial differences in development and social progress within the euro area The specific case of countries located in the southern periphery region has come to the centre stage due to the harsh economic conditions that all these countries have experienced in the recent past In the aftermath of the American subprime credit bubble these countries high indebtedness raised doubts as to their ability to sustain public finances with the financial crisis developing and gaining momentum due to the fragilities presented in the economy To varying degrees of severity all of these economies have since been forced to introduce strong fiscal tightening programmes in order to achieve fiscal consolidation which have translated into recession and rising unemployment This book undertakes a comprehensive analysis of the causes of the crisis in southern European countries showing that the Achilles heel of these economies is rooted in the dismal evolution of productivity and in a specialisation pattern excessively based on the so called traditional low and low medium tech industries which yield low margins declining export shares and ultimately withering international competitiveness Such evidence suggests that the southern European periphery industrial growth model has reached its limits demanding a multidimensional policy approach capable of overcoming the magnitude and complexity of the present crisis Without denying the need to adjust public and private balance sheets it is argued that finding a sustainable path out of the present problems requires addressing the challenges of productivity growth and competitiveness in the long term
