Creating Value with Science and Technology Eliezer Geisler, 2001-08-30 Do science and technology create value for society and the economy and how might one go about measuring it How do we evaluate its benefits Can we even be certain that there are benefits Geisler argues that there are benefits and that they outweigh in value the negative impacts that inevitably accompany them His revolutionary new book goes on to show that they can also be measured and evaluated and in one volume all of the existing knowledge on how to do it is compiled then Geisler's own methods are offered The result is a compelling argument that the value of science and technology in our lives has indeed been positive and that the economic well being of all individuals organizations and nations rests upon them Geisler starts off by describing his conceptual framework for the evaluation of science and technology and the impact and benefits that proceed from them He discusses the nature of evaluation in general terms and then in the specific context of science technology and innovation together He reviews the state of our present knowledge and assesses the nature of value creation itself Throughout Geisler remains fixed on his driving thesis Although there are certainly some negative impacts from science and technology on the whole the results of its outputs are positive He shows how they have contributed to a range of activities and institutions particularly to the improvement of health and human welfare worldwide Finally after discussing the theories of evaluation he gets down to the practice providing readers with a way to assess science and technological innovations for themselves

The Future of Competition C. K. Prahalad, Venkat Ramaswamy, 2004-02-18 In this visionary book C K Prahalad and Venkat Ramaswamy explore why despite unbounded opportunities for innovation companies still can't satisfy customers and sustain profitable growth The explanation for this apparent paradox lies in recognizing the structural changes brought about by the convergence of industries and technologies ubiquitous connectivity and globalization and as a consequence the evolving role of the consumer from passive recipient to active co creator of value Managers need a new framework for value creation Increasingly individual customers interact with a network of firms and consumer communities to co create value No longer can firms autonomously create value Neither is value embedded in products and services per se Products are but an artifact around which compelling individual experiences are created As a result the focus of innovation will shift from products and services to experience environments that individuals can interact with to co construct their own experiences These personalized co creation experiences are the source of unique value for consumers and companies alike In this emerging opportunity space companies must build new strategic capital a new theory on how to compete This book presents a detailed view of the new functional organizational infrastructure and governance capabilities that will be required
