Books in Print Supplement ,2002      Books Out Loud ,2004      Director's Communication Kit - MAC Format + Cd Tim Lautzenheiser,1993-12 Essential Elements Includes over 35 sample letters brochures and vital data for parents and administrators on computer disk Edit personalize and mail merge while saving valuable time Disk includes text only files in either Macintosh or MS DOS compatible formats A must for every band director      Strategic Communications for School Leaders Vicki Gunther,James McGowan,Kate Donegan,2011-03-16 Gunther McGowan and Donegan draw on their own experiences and those of others in the field to explain the importance of communication in school leadership In focusing on the communication process why it s critical for schools and how it can be executed well they make the case that communication must be a primary emphasis for leaders not an afterthought In Strategic Communications for School Leaders the authors provide the insights and skills necessary for understanding the role of communication in educational leadership They also lay the foundation for helping leaders and those that aspire to be create and execute communication plans that help to win the trust of an increasingly skeptical public and provide a means to advocate for schools appropriate share of scarce resources Topics addressed in the book include the following understanding the audiences and their information channels aligning the school leaders messages with their educational goals and values telling stories and using illustrative examples delivering honest and credible messages including admitting mistakes using technology intelligently and appropriately and creating and adhering to a communications plan      Communication as an Essential Component of Effective Leadership Across Low Socio-economic Groups Gail A. Bradfield,Sarah E. Marriott,Jennifer L. Wingert,2014 This project describes a problem based learning project focusing on communication between high school principals and students and families from poverty Review of current research indicated a lack of effective interactions between school administrators and families in poverty There were many identified factors which contribute to this communication challenge These communications disconnect often results in strained and or absent relationships between high school administrators and students and families in poverty The project team conducted a literature review in the areas of leadership communication and poverty Following the team s review of literature the team focused the project on the following concepts differentiation of communication among varying socioeconomic groups principals training in working with diverse populations creating and implementing communication plans and principals dissemination of communication with varying socioeconomic groups The team created interview questions which addressed each identified concept of communication The team conducted the interviews with ten high school principals in the Heart of Missouri Regional Professional Development Center region Following the principal interviews the team analyzed principal responses for common themes The common themes identified provided guidance for the product development The project team developed a communication plan template as well as a communication rubric The communication plan template was designed to assist practicing principals in implementing positive and effective communication with students and families of low socio economic status The communication rubric was designed to guide and monitor principals communication practices when working with families of low socio economic status In addition the team made recommendations both at the collegial and district level regarding communication practices with students and families of low socio economic status This project supplemented the professional literature base for improved communication practices of principals with student and families of low socio economic status

How to Market Your School Johanna M. Lockhart,2010-12-16 Increased competition declining resources changing demographics news media scrutiny and the importance of public perceptions are reasons why schools and school districts need an effective marketing program However even school and district administrators who recognize the importance of marketing often feel unprepared to initiate and maintain a strategic marketing effort How to Market Your School is a comprehensive guide that provides school administrators with tools to help them create implement and maintain a successful marketing program Topics covered include developing a marketing strategy marketing research communications media relations building beneficial partnerships public relations and fund raising Although written for public school administrators the book is equally applicable to private and charter schools School Communication that Works Kenneth S.

DeSieghardt,2013-09-13 The foundation of successful school district community relationships is communication that focuses on what most interests average residents no matter what you as a school district leader believe they should be interested in Communicate in their language at their level of interest and at their pace and you and your patrons will soon be headed in the same direction more often than not Based on more than 20 years of research data and filled with real life examples and specific recommendations School Communication that Works explains what your patrons really care about and wish you d talk more about what they are only somewhat interested in and what makes them tune you out Highlights of the book An easy to follow organizing principle The Patron Information Pyramid™ that sorts school communication topics into three categories Essential Important and As Needed Case studies that show the findings in action drawn from more than 20 years of research with school districts of all shapes sizes and levels of wealth Information targeted to special communications situations such as Hot Topics and Crisis Communications all focused on how patrons would like their school districts to communicate A summary of Key Points at the end of each chapter providing an at a glance review of the information shared

The School and Community Relations Edward H. Moore,Don H. Bagin,Donald R. Gallagher,2015-04-01 This is the eBook of the printed book and may not include any media website access codes or print supplements that may come packaged with the bound book In this widely popular resource established and aspiring school leaders and executives get solid grounding in the theories and practices essential to promoting successful school and community relations With a focus on successfully implementing communication activities with critical internal and external audiences The School and Community Relations guides readers through the theory research and practice essential to communication planning Organized around key communication practices it stresses the importance of generating communication outcomes that go well beyond the dissemination of information to benefit schools and students School leaders get practical help for tying their communication investments to developing engaged audiences that will understand and support education initiatives The authors present their authoritative advice on both communication strategies and tactics with a focus on new and emerging practices using digital and social media Their knowledge examples and strategies come from their many combined years as educators and practitioners in school systems throughout North America

Matching Your Message to the Audience Robert A. Pauker,Mike Hibbard,2013-04-09 Matching Your Message to the Audience provides school administrators with principles and practical steps for creating messages that encourage a positive response The reader learns strategies for matching the structure language and tone of the written or spoken message to each reader or listener to encourage teachers parents and others to be open during the conversation with the administrator A prime goal of communication is to encourage staff to be active thinkers who are involved in making decisions that improve the school The paradigm presented in this book is designed to increase the efficiency of organizing both spoken and written communication markedly This book shows school administrators how to apply analytical thinking skills to their written and spoken communications This book is divided into two parts The first part of the book centers on the key concept of matching how you communicate to maximize a positive audience response The second part of this book focuses how to structure sentences and paragraphs in order to receive this maximized response Analytical exercises are embedded into the text to solidify your ability to implement these strategies and principles more easily and more effectively

Understanding Communication at Large Suburban High School Lynn Sironen,2016 Communication issues at Large Suburban High School have been raised by state surveys and accreditation documents If effective communication is essential for student achievement and growth and if challenges and opportunities exist then both the challenges and the opportunities must be examined Using the theoretical framework of Epstein s six types of parental involvement Epstein 1995 theories of overlapping spheres Epstein 2008 and Media Richness theory Lendel and Daft 1989 the exploratory case investigated communication at this school by interviewing district and school administrators conducting two focus groups with parents and teachers examining documents with the goal of answering the central question What is the process by which key stakeholders at LSHS including administrators teachers and parents engage in communication Communication included oral electronic and written correspondence between the school administrators educators and parents      Communication Ideas in Action National School Public Relations Association,1970      Communicating with the Public Anne Meek,1999 This book examines baseline communications in schools and school systems Baseline communication is defined as schools ongoing efforts to meet the information needs of parents and the community at large to strengthen the partnerships of parents and schools to promote school activities and events to explain school programs and school s benefits to enhance the image of the schools and to promote support for education in the community The book is intended for K 12 educators for staff members from nonprofit organizations professors who teach community relations and others The main theme of the book is routine communications the proactive efforts that address the information needs of school employees and the community and that seek long term support for education The book s 10 chapters discuss the need for establishing lines of communication before problems arise designing plans to communicate shaping messages for audiences creating a positive school climate linking communication to community relations enhancing media liaisons coordinating school and central office responsibilities enhancing communications from the central office perspective evaluating a communications program and improving communications in general Eleven appendices provide a sample school communications plan tips on writing a news release how to produce a school information video and other advice Includes an index RJM      Connecting Through Leadership Jasmine K. Kullar,2019-12 In Connecting Through Leadership The Promise of Precise and Effective Communication in Schools author Jasmine K Kullar states that because they communicate nonstop from the moment the school day begins until it ends educational leaders must know how to communicate effectively She demonstrates ways administrators can communicate verbally and nonverbally with many groups in the school community from teachers to students to parents Whether the message is positive or negative simple or complex or actionable or informational educational leaders responsibility is to connect in a way that inspires and motivates others      Experiences of Texas Public School Communication Directors in the 21st Century Sonja A. Lopez,2017 Communication directors have become part of public school districts administrative framework in the 21st century Maintaining a social media presence and satisfying stakeholders expectations for current up to date and accurate information have increased the need for superintendents to employ a public relations professional The purpose of this transcendental phenomenological study was to explore the various experiences of communication directors in public schools Grunig's 1992 excellence theory served as the conceptual framework for the study By employing a purposive sampling strategy six current Texas public school communication directors were selected for face to face interviews and completed a demographic questionnaire The five themes of Preparation Responsibilities Expectations Challenges and Recommendations emerged through constant comparative analysis of the data Multiple rounds of descriptive and in vivo coding revealed numerous subthemes within each theme The findings of the study highlighted the importance of developing relationships in the field of public school communications Engaging in mentorships networking and building school and community partnerships were viewed as vital to success in the position The ability to write well and convey the district's and superintendent's message was also acknowledged Challenges of managing social media crisis situations and public opinion were common to all participants By better understanding the experiences of public school communication directors districts can provide appropriate support so the position is successful in meeting districts goals The electronic version of this dissertation is accessible from <http://hdl.handle.net/20.500.11875/2223>
