King Kong Journal:

Inside King Kong Will Shephard, 2014-07-01 When actor Will Shephard turned up at the Beverley Hills offices of Dino De Laurentiis he expected to be interviewed for a modest role in the great man's next production. My agent told me on the phone that you were looking for actors who could do animal movements but she didn't tell me what the film was about said Will. It's King Kong said the producer. You mean a remake of the 1933 film? Yes. What's the role I'm being considered for? It's Kong. And so began an extraordinary few months in Will's life as he joined fellow actor and make-up artist Rick Baker to become the one of the guys in the ape suit striding through miniature jungles wrestling a giant rubber snake running amok in Manhattan and scaling the World Trade Center. Inside the suit it was fearsomely hot, the special contact lenses made him dizzy and he frequently had to insert a tube through the gorilla mask in order to breathe. But the illusion was perfect: audiences never knew that the highly publicized forty-foot tall mechanical Kong that had cost millions of dollars to develop only got a few seconds of exposure and that on screen for the rest of the movie were Rick and Will clad in rubber and bear hide. Inside King Kong is Will's journal of his experiences on the set in 1976. This delightful engaging and funny account is accompanied by behind-the-scenes photographs that are being published for the first time. Reel Terror David

Konow, 2012-10-02 From the author of the definitive heavy metal history Bang Your Head, a behind-the-scenes look at a century of horror films. Reel Terror is a love letter to the wildly popular yet still misunderstood genre that churns out blockbusters and cult classics year after year. From The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari to Paranormal Activity, Konow explores its all-time highs and lows, why the genre has been overlooked, and how horror films just might help us overcome fear. His on-set stories and insights delve into each movie and its effect on American culture. For novices to all-out film buffs, this is the perfection companion to this Halloween's movie marathons. The Third Eye Fatimah Tobing Rony, 1996 Charting the intersection of technology and ideology, cultural production and social science, Fatimah Tobing Rony explores early twentieth-century representations of non-Western indigenous peoples in films ranging from the documentary to the spectacular to the scientific. Turning the gaze of the ethnographic camera back onto itself, bringing the perspective of a third eye to bear on the invention of the primitive other, Rony reveals the collaboration of anthropology and popular culture in Western constructions of race, gender, nation, and empire. Her work demonstrates the significance of these constructions and more generally of ethnographic cinema for understanding issues of identity. In films as seemingly dissimilar as Nanook of the North, King Kong, and research footage of West Africans from an 1895 Paris ethnographic exposition, Rony exposes a shared fascination with and anxiety over race. She shows how photographic realism contributed to popular and scientific notions of evolution, race, and civilization, and how in turn anthropology understood and critiqued its own use of photographic technology. Looking beyond negative Western images of the Other, Rony considers performance strategies that disrupt these images, for example the use of open resistance, recontextualization, and parody in the films of Katherine Dunham and Zora Neale Hurston or the performances of

Josephine Baker She also draws on the work of contemporary artists such as Lorna Simpson and Victor Masayesva Jr and writers such as Frantz Fanon and James Baldwin who unveil the language of racialization in ethnographic cinema Elegantly written and richly illustrated innovative in theory and original in method The Third Eye is a remarkable interdisciplinary contribution to critical thought in film studies anthropology cultural studies art history postcolonial studies and women s studies

Sensational Modernism Joseph B. Entin,2012-09-01 Challenging the conventional wisdom that the 1930s were dominated by literary and photographic realism Sensational Modernism uncovers a rich vein of experimental work by politically progressive artists Examining images by photographers such as Weegee and Aaron Siskind and fiction by writers such as William Carlos Williams Richard Wright Tillie Olsen and Pietro di Donato Joseph Entin argues that these artists drew attention to the country s most vulnerable residents by using what he calls an aesthetic of astonishment focused on startling graphic images of pain injury and prejudice Traditional portrayals of the poor depicted stoic passive figures of sentimental suffering or degraded but potentially threatening figures in need of supervision Sensational modernists sought to shock middle class audiences into new ways of seeing the nation s impoverished and outcast populations The striking images these artists created often taking the form of contorted or disfigured bodies drawn from the realm of the tabloids pulp magazines and cinema represented a bold experimental form of social aesthetics Entin argues that these artists created a willfully unorthodox brand of vernacular modernism in which formal avant garde innovations were used to delineate the conditions contradictions and pressures of life on the nation s fringes
