Science in the Medieval World Sa`id al-Andalusi, 2010-06-04 During the Middle Ages a thriving center for learning and research was Muslim Spain where students gathered to consult Arabic manuscripts of earlier scientific works and study with famous teachers One of these teachers was Sa id al Andalusí who in 1068 wrote Kitab Tabaqat al Umam or Book of the Categories of Nations which recorded the contributions to science of all known nations Today it is one of few surviving medieval Spanish Muslim texts and this is its first English translation Science ulum as used by Sa id and other scholars of that period is a broad term covering virtually all aspects of human knowledge After initial discussions of the categories of nations that did or did not cultivate science Sa id details the specific contribution of nine nations or peoples India Persia Chaldea Greece Rome Egypt the Arab Orient al Andalus and the Hebrews He includes the names of many individual scientists and scholars and describes their various contributions to knowledge making his book a significant work of reference as well as history      Noah's Curse Stephen R. Haynes, 2002-03-28 In Noah s Curse Stephen Haynes explores the historical context of slavery The author identifies the manner in which the great and good interpreted the story in Genesis to provide free labour and a scriptural justification for the Black Holocaust      The Jewish Encyclopedia Isidore Singer, Cyrus Adler, 1901      Babel of the Atlantic Bethany Wiggin, 2019-04-24 Despite shifting trends in the study of Oceanic Atlantic history the colonial Atlantic world as it is described by historians today continues to be a largely English only space even when other language communities are examined they too are considered to be monolingual and discrete Babel of the Atlantic pushes back against this monolingual fallacy by documenting multilingualism translation and fluid movement across linguistic borders Focusing on Philadelphia and surrounding areas that include Germantown Bethlehem and the so called Indian country to the west this volume demonstrates the importance of viewing inhabitants not as members of isolated language communities whether English German Lenape Mohican or others but as creators of a vibrant zone of mixed languages and shifting politics Organized around four themes religion education race and abolitionism and material culture and architecture and drawing from archives such as almanacs newspapers and the material world the chapters in this volume show how polyglot tolerant and multilingual spaces encouraged diverse peoples to coexist Contributors examine subjects such as the multicultural Moravian communities in colonial Pennsylvania the Charity School movement of the 1750s and the activities of Quaker abolitionists showing how educational and religious movements addressed and embraced cultural and linguistic variety Drawing early American scholarship beyond the normative narrative of monolingualism this volume will be invaluable to historians and sociolinguists whose work focuses on Pennsylvania and colonial revolutionary and antebellum America In addition to the editor the contributors include Craig Atwood Patrick M Erben Cynthia G Falk Katherine Faulk Wolfgang Fl gel Katharine Gerbner Maruice Jackson Lisa Minardi J rgen Overhoff and Birte Pfleger The Jewish
