Kinship and Marriage Among the Anlo Ewe G. K. Nukunya, 1969 Dr Nukunya is one of the few Africans who have worked as trained anthropologists among their own people His book is a study of the Anlo the most numerous of the Ewe peoples who are divided between Ghana and Togo Their descent is remarkable in that a patrilineal ideology is balanced by unusually strong matrilineal ties and descent is traced from genitor whether or not he is the mother's legal husband Dr Nukunya describes the complex system of landholdings that the high density of population make necessary Adjustments are made by the exercise of claims through maternal kin his conclusion contradicts the argument that patrilineal claims are asserted more strongly where there is pressure on land He also discusses the changes in household structure that result from the absence of parents on trading or fishing expeditions or in wage employment Female Voices from an Ewe Dance-drumming Community in Ghana James Burns, 2017-07-05 Ewe dance drumming has been extensively studied throughout the history of ethnomusicology but up to now there has not been a single study that addresses Ewe female musicians James Burns redresses this deficiency through a detailed ethnography of a group of female musicians from the Dzibordi community dance drumming club from the rural town of Dzodze located in South Eastern Ghana Dzibordi was specifically chosen because of the author's long association with the group members and because it is part of a genre known as adekede or female songs of redress where women musicians critique gender relations in society Burns uses audio and video interviews recordings of rehearsals and performances and detailed collaborative analyses of song texts dance routines and performance practice to address important methodological shifts in ethnomusicology that outline a more humanistic perspective of music cultures This perspective encompasses the inter linkages between history social processes and individual creative artists The voices of Dzibordi women provide us not only with a more complete picture of Ewe music making they further allow us to better understand the relationship between culture social life and individual creativity The book will therefore appeal to those interested in African Studies Gender Studies and Oral Literature as well as ethnomusicology Includes documentary on the downloadable resources Marry Me in Africa E. Kofi Agorsah, 2012-09-17 Marry Me in Africa is an invitation to discuss approaches and processes in African marriage ritual As one crucial institution in African culture marriage in its traditional African definition has helped many of the continent's cultures maintain a sense of community and identity This book invites especially students and researchers into exchanges on some African marriage traditions and their roles in African societies It concerns those aspects that fascinate me and many other Africans that we believe will interest people in the New World particularly the Caribbean Researchers of the African Diaspora might want to use some of the marriage practices for reconstructing models for analysis and interpretation of the formation and transformation of the African heritage in the Diaspora Marry Me in Africa is particularly useful for scholars not familiar with the different cultural practices among African societies their sources of identity and diversity and the implications of these for understanding African social systems This book will be a useful companion for other scholars who know about some of the cultural practices but are unable to identify exactly their relationship to specific ethnic groups traditional concepts social political economic technological and other practices that have constituted the patterns of cultural behavior among African societies through marriage Individual or local cultural traditions and practices are presented within the context of the general African cultural heritage leading to cross cultural comparison and generalizations The convergence of traditional marriage patterns and continuities in specific aspects of traditional values and behavior of various societies are examined over the common ground sense of community among Africans that may not be the same today as in the past For this reason this book takes the liberty to discuss present manifestations of a transformed past in the present Recasting

Heritage Jonas Van Mulder, Thomas Coomans, Dries Vanyacker, 2025-04-09 For centuries Christian missions have intervened in local religious communities practices and ideas across the globe generating encounters between Indigenous and Western cultures that have ranged from hostile confrontation to intercultural osmosis While primarily intended as a strategy for evangelisation forms of inculturation also led to the emergence of new hybrid cultural and religious expressions These creative processes were rarely unidirectional instead they involved reciprocal cultural transactions in which local communities exerted significant agency Cross Cultural Heritage deepens our understanding of the intricate relationships between missions and missionised communities These are reflected in the material and immaterial legacies of missionary histories in various contexts in South America Africa Asia the Pacific and Europe Often they remain deeply rooted in landscapes memories and practices today Ritual Servitudes and Christian Social Practices in Ghana David

Stiles-Ocran, 2022-10-21 This book explores the kinds of Christian service or diaconia that develop in non institutionalized practices for supporting survivors of indigenous ritual servitude or Trokosi in Africa Drawing on empirical research from Ghana it examines the possibilities of freedom equality and dignity for liberated Trokosi and the manner in which these women's experiences constitute a repudiation of dominant patriarchal family systems With close attention to the work of indigenous parachurches which function outside of institutionalized churches in challenging the contemporary practice of ritual slavery and offering its survivors a lived space in which they need not remain hidden as they seek restoration and integration into wider society Ritual Servitudes and Christian Social Practices in Ghana will appeal to scholars of sociology theology and religion with interests in gender contemporary ministries and African religion African Feminism Gwendolyn Mikell,2010-08-03 African feminism this landmark volume demonstrates differs radically from the Western forms of feminism with which we have become familiar since the 1960s African feminists are not by and large concerned with issues such as female control over reproduction or variation and choice within human sexuality nor with debates about essentialism the female body or the discourse of patriarchy The feminism that is slowly emerging in Africa is distinctly heterosexual pronatal and concerned with bread butter and power issues Contributors present case studies of ten African states demonstrating that as they fight for access to land for the right to own property for control of food distribution for living wages and safe working conditions for health care and for election reform African women are creating a powerful and specifically African feminism

Re-thinking Sexualities in Africa Signe Arnfred,2004 This volume sets out to investigate critically existing lines of thought about sexuality in Africa while also creating space for alternative approaches P 4 of cover Religion and the Inculturation of Human Rights in Ghana Abamfo Ofori Atiemo,2013-04-11 It has been maintained that the secular nature of modern human rights makes them incompatible with the religious orientation of African and non Western societies However in view of the resilience of religion in the global and local public sphere it is important to explore how religion can contribute to the promotion and enjoyment of human rights Based on fieldwork conducted in Ghana Abamfo Ofori Atiemo here establishes a convergence between human rights and local religious and cultural values in African societies He argues that human rights represent universal dream values This allows for a cultural embedding of human rights in Ghana and other non Western societies He argues that dream values are usually presented in religious language and proclaimed for example by prophets and seers or expressed in certain forms of taboo proverbs or legal norms He employs the concept of inculturation adaptation of the way Church teachings are presented to non Christian cultures as a hermeneutical tool for developing a model to understand the encounter between universal human rights and local cultures Offering a new model for explaining the relation between religion and human rights Religion and the Inculturation of Human Rights in Ghana offers a novel perspective on the links between global trends and local cultures underpinned by strong currents of religious ideas Time and Social Structure and Other Essays Meyere Fortes,2021-01-14 The papers reprinted in this volume have been selected with two considerations in mind they record ethnographical observations from my field work among the Tallensi and in Ashanti that are not easily accessible elsewhere but continue to be useful for comparative studies and as background to current research in Ghana and they represent applications of methods of analysis and schemes of interpretation that were emerging in British structural anthropology at the time of their publication The Monographs on Social Anthropology were established in 1940 and aim to publish results of modern anthropological research of primary interest to specialists

Culture and the Senses Prof. Kathryn Geurts, 2003-01-09 Adding her stimulating and finely framed ethnography to recent work in the anthropology of the senses Kathryn Geurts investigates the cultural meaning system and resulting sensorium of Anlo Ewe speaking people in southeastern Ghana Geurts discovered that the five senses model has little relevance in Anlo culture where balance is a sense and balancing in a physical and psychological sense as well as in literal and metaphorical ways is an essential component of what it means to be human Much of perception falls into an Anlo category of seselelame literally feel feel at flesh inside in which what might be considered sensory input including the Western sixth sense notion of intuition comes from bodily feeling and the interior milieu The kind of mind body dichotomy that pervades Western European Anglo American cultural traditions and philosophical thought is absent Geurts relates how Anlo society privileges and elaborates what we would call kinesthesia which most Americans would not even identify as a sense After this nuanced exploration of an Anlo Ewe theory of inner states and their way of delineating external experience readers will never again take for granted the naturalness of sight touch taste hearing and smell Africa in

Contemporary Perspective Manuh, Takyiwaa, Sutherland-Addy, Esi, 2014-05-08 An important feature of Ghanaian tertiary education is the foundational African Studies Programme which was initiated in the early 1960s Unfortunately hardly any readers exist which bring together a body of knowledge on the themes issues and debates which inform and animate research and teaching in African Studies particularly on the African continent This becomes even more important when we consider the need for knowledge on Africa that is not Eurocentric or sensationalised but driven from internal understandings of life and prospects in Africa Dominant representations and perceptions of Africa usually depict a continent in crisis Rather than buying into external representations of Africa with its lacks and aspirations for Western modernities we insist that African scholars in particular should be in the forefront of promoting understanding of the pluri lingual overlapping and dense reality of life and developments on the continent to produce relevant and usable knowledge Continuing and renewed interest in Africa's resources including the land mass economy minerals visual arts and performance cultures as well as bio medical knowledge and products by old and new geopolitical players obliges African scholars to transcend disciplinary boundaries and to work with each other to advance knowledge and uses of those resources in the interests of Africa's people

Pan-African Issues in Crime and Justice Biko Agozino, 2017-07-05 Criminology assumes the position of an established discipline yet its influence is limited by its primary focus on the West for both theoretical and empirical substance But the growing interest in comparative criminology now means that countries compare notes thereby broadening the parameters of criminology Still relatively ignored in the literature however are issues of crime and justice as they affect people of African descent around the globe Drawing upon materials from countries in Africa the Caribbean North and South America and Europe this stimulating book reflects on the experiences of people of African descent to offer a convergence of criminologies in and outside the West Simultaneously it acknowledges Western criminology as a significant angle from which to comprehend crime and justice as they are conceptualized outside the West The volume also investigates whether Western criminological accounts are relevant to the comprehension of crime criminality and systems of justice in Africa the Caribbean and South America

African Law(s) Salvatore Mancuso,2023-09-29 This book takes a comparative law perspective and proposes a new approach for researching law in Africa Western theoretical perspectives in comparative law are too Eurocentric to fully catch the peculiarities and characteristics of the African lawscape in short they are inadequate for studying African law In this book Professor Salvatore Mancuso considers the law in Africa from a different perspective Deeply rooted in the culture of the African people this approach considers African legal culture with the same legitimacy as Western legal culture setting a precedent for future policy making decisions relating to legislative development in Africa

Sacred Sites and the Colonial Encounter Sandra E. Greene,2002-05-14 Greene gives the reader a vivid sense of the Anlo encounter with western thought and Christian beliefs and the resulting erasures transferences adaptations and alterations in their perceptions of place space and the body Emmanuel Akyeampong Sandra E Greene reconstructs a vivid and convincing portrait of the human and physical environment of the 19th century Anlo Ewe people of Ghana and brings history and memory into contemporary context Drawing on her extensive fieldwork early European accounts and missionary archives and publications Greene shows how ideas from outside forced sacred and spiritual meanings associated with particular bodies of water burial sites sacred towns and the human body itself to change in favor of more scientific and regulatory views Anlo responses to these colonial ideas involved considerable resistance and over time the Anlo began to attribute selective varied and often contradictory meanings to the body and the spaces they inhabited Despite these multiple meanings Greene shows that the Anlo were successful in forging a consensus on how to manage their identity environment and community The Pastoral Continuum Paul Spencer,1998-01-29 Paul Spencer presents the definitive study of the ways of life of the cattle herding peoples of East Africa drawing on many years of research This region has offered a prime example of a traditional culture resisting the inevitability of change it provides the best known and most extensive instance both of cattle pastoralist society and of social organization based primarily on age Pastoral peoples were once dominant in the East African interior but development of the market economy has progressively polarized the region and forced them into the most marginal drought ridden areas in this ecological trap they have become a peripheral underclass The Pastoral Continuum examines the richness and resilience of their cultures and illuminates the role of indigenous practices and institutions in adaptation and survival The pastoralists systems of age organization in particular are notable for their resilience it is demonstrated that these are bound up with problems of growth and succession in family enterprises and that marriage is a critical link in the web of alliance that governs the problematic relations between old and young Spencer s exploration of the development of the pastoralist phenomenon yields a unique view of its place in the modern world and its prospects for the future This landmark work by a leading authority will be of lasting value to any reader interested in traditional social systems of this kind African Voices of the Atlantic Slave Trade Anne Bailey,2005-01-02 It s an awful story It s an awful story Why do you want to bring this up now Chief Awusa of Atorkor For centuries the story of the Atlantic slave trade has been filtered through the eyes and records of white Europeans In this watershed book historian Anne C Bailey focuses on memories of the trade from the African perspective African chiefs and other elders in an area of southeastern Ghana once famously called the Old Slave Coast share stories that reveal that Africans were traders as well as victims of the trade Bailey argues that like victims of trauma many African societies now experience a fragmented view of their past that partially explains the blanket of silence and shame around the slave trade Capturing scores of oral histories that were handed down through generations Bailey finds that although Africans were not equal partners with Europeans even their partial involvement in the slave trade had devastating consequences on their history and identity In this unprecedented and revelatory book Bailey explores the delicate and fragmented nature of historical memory
