Kinship And Marriage Among Australian Aborigines:

Going the Whiteman's Way David McKnight, 2004 Modern anthropologists unlike their classical predecessors have observed Australian Aborigines in the field rather than from the study None however has spent as long as David McKnight in a single community During a period of 35 years involving some 20 fieldtrips he has lived with the Mornington Islanders of northern Queensland for over five years This intellectual tour de force combines dense ethnography about Australian kinship and marriage the heart of their world with major anthropological debate about theories of kinship It thereby provides a unique and important contribution to kinship studies McKnight shows how young Aborigines became increasingly determined to marry according to their own inclinations defying the authority of the elders who accused them of going the Whiteman's Way

People and Change in Indigenous Australia Diane Austin-Broos, Francesca Merlan, 2017-11-30 People and Change in Indigenous Australia arose from a conviction that more needs to be done in anthropology to give a fuller sense of the changing lives and circumstances of Australian indigenous communities and people Much anthropological and public discussion remains embedded in traditionalizing views of indigenous people and in accounts that seem to underline essential and apparently timeless difference In this volume the editors and contributors assume that the person is socially defined and reconfigured as contexts change both immediate and historical Essays in this collection are grounded in Australian locales commonly termed remote These indigenous communities were largely established as residential concentrations by Australian governments some first as missions most in areas that many of the indigenous people involved consider their homelands A number of these settlements were located in proximity to settler industries pastoralism market gardening and mining locales that many non indigenous Australians think of as the homes of the most traditional indigenous communities and people The contributors discuss the changing circumstances of indigenous people who originate from such places revealing a diversity of experiences and histories that involve major dynamics of disembedding from country and home locales re embedding in new contexts and reconfigurations of relatedness The essays explore dimensions of change and continuity in childhood experience and socialization in a desert community the influence of Christianity in fostering both individuation and relatedness in northeast Arnhem Land the diaspora of Central Australian Warlpiri people to cities and the forms of life and livelihood they make there adolescent experiences of schooling away from home communities youth in kin based heavy metal gangs configuring new identities and indigenous people of southeast Australia reflecting on whether an Aboriginal way can be sustained By taking a step toward understanding the relation between changing circumstances and changing lives of indigenous Australians the volume provides a sense of the quality and feel of those lives

Arguments about Aborigines L. R. Hiatt, 1996-06-27

In the debates which followed the publication of Darwin's book on the origin of species Australian Aborigines were used as the ideal exemplars of early human forms by European scholars bent on discovering the origins of social institutions The Aborigines have consequently featured as the crucial case study for generations of social theorists including Tylor Frazer Durkheim and Freud Arguments about Aborigines reviews a range of controversies such as family life religion and ritual and land rights which marked the formative period of British social anthropology Professor Hiatt also examines how changes in Aboriginal practices have affected scholarly debate This elegant 1996 book will provide a valuable introduction to aboriginal ethnography for students scholars and the general reader It is also a shrewd and stimulating history of the great debates of anthropology seen through the prism of Aboriginal studies

Indigenous Self-Determination in Australia Laura

Rademaker, Tim Rowse, 2020-09-09 Histories of the colonisation of Australia have recognised distinct periods or eras in the colonial relationship protection and assimilation It is widely understood that in 1973 the Whitlam Government initiated a new policy era self determination Yet the defining features of this era as well as how why and when it ended are far from clear In this collection we ask how shall we write the history of self determination How should we bring together in the one narrative innovations in public policy and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander initiatives How discontinuous has self determination been with assimilation or with what came after Among the contributions to this book there are different views about whether

Australia is still practising self determination and even whether it ever did or could This book covers domains of government policy and Indigenous agency including local government education land rights the outstation movement international law foreign policy capital programs health public administration mission policies and the policing of identity Each of the contributors is a specialist in his her topic Few of the contributors would call themselves historians but each has met the challenge to consider Australia s recent past as an era animated by ideas and practices of Indigenous self determination

Knowledge Peter Drahos,2014-06-12 Drawing on ancestral cosmology of Australia s indigenous people this book develops a theory of indigenous peoples innovation and intellectual property Benelong's Haven Richard Chenhall,2014-02-01 Benelong s Haven was the first residential alcohol and drug treatment program controlled and operated by an Aboriginal Australian It was established by Val Bryant in 1974 in the Sydney suburb of Marrickville before moving to the small township of Kinchela Creek on the mid north coast of New South Wales three years later The centre is one example of the different approaches Aboriginal people have developed to deal with the problem of drug and alcohol abuse in their communities where people who have experienced problems with alcohol and drug use can leave their existing environment and come to a different place Anthropologist Richard Chenhall first visited Benelong s Haven for two weeks in late 1997 At the invitation of Val Bryant he returned later for an extended period of fieldwork observing and participating in the centre s activities and getting to know staff and residents There have been few studies that reflect Aboriginal social life in larger cities or in institutional settings Benelong s Haven represents an attempt to examine at the ethnographic level the different ways in which individuals are shaped by and interact within the larger structures and social institutions that surround them More specifically it documents an instance of Australian Aboriginal people trying to achieve change in their lives Bands, Tribes, & First Peoples and Nations Richard Barrington,2014-07-15 Anthropology politics and history come together to form an insightful blend in this authoritative title covering kinship tribalism and nonurban cultures the world over Both the theory and practical examples of tribal cultures are presented with several chapters dedicated to the various schools of anthropological thought on nonurban societies accompanied by a survey of tribal and indigenous cultures both historically and in modern times American Indians the indigenous peoples of South America nomadic tribes of the Middle East and Aboriginal Australians are a few of the societies explored in this extensive text Australian Aboriginal Studies ,2003

Ethnographers Before Malinowski Frederico Delgado Rosa,Han F. Vermeulen,2022-06-10 Focusing on some of the most important ethnographers in early anthropology this volume explores twelve defining works in the foundational period from 1870 to 1922 It challenges the assumption that intensive fieldwork and monographs based on it emerged only in the twentieth century What has been regarded as the age of armchair anthropologists was in reality an era of active ethnographic fieldworkers including women practitioners and Indigenous experts Their accounts have multiple layers of meaning style and content that deserve fresh reading This reference work is a vital source for rewriting the history of anthropology What Now Cameo Dalley,2020-10-06 Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork undertaken since 2006 the book addresses some of the most topical aspects of remote Aboriginal life in Australia This includes the role of kinship and family relationships to land and sea and cross cultural relations with non Aboriginal residents There is also extensive treatment of contemporary issues relating to alcohol consumption violence and the impact of systemic ill health This richly detailed portrayal provides a nuanced account of everyday endurance and social intensity on Mornington Island

Contested Governance Janet Hunt,Diane Smith,Stephanie Garling,Will Sanders,2008-10-01 It is gradually being recognised by both Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians that getting contemporary Indigenous governance right is fundamental to improving Indigenous well being and generating sustained socioeconomic development This collection of papers examines the dilemmas and challenges involved in the Indigenous struggle for the development and recognition of systems of governance that they recognise as both legitimate and effective The authors highlight the nature of the contestation and negotiation between Australian governments their agents and Indigenous groups over the appropriateness of different governance processes values and practices and over the application of related policy institutional and funding frameworks within Indigenous affairs The long term comparative study reported in this monograph has been national in coverage and community and regional in focus It has pulled together a multidisciplinary team to work with partner communities and organisations to investigate Indigenous governance arrangements the processes structures scales institutions leadership powers capacities and cultural foundations across rural remote and urban settings This ethnographic case study research demonstrates that Indigenous and non Indigenous governance systems are intercultural in respect to issues of power authority institutions and relationships It documents the intended and unintended consequences beneficial and negative arising for both Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians from the realities of contested governance The findings suggest that the facilitation of effective legitimate governance should be a policy funding and institutional imperative for all Australian governments This research was conducted under an Australian Research Council Linkage Project with Reconciliation Australia as Industry Partner Historical Dictionary of Australian Aborigines Mitchell Rolls,Murray Johnson,2019-11-05 The Aboriginal Australians first arrived on the continent at least 60 000 years ago occupying and adapting to a range of environmental conditions from tropical estuarine habitats densely forested regions open plains and arid desert country to cold mountainous and often wet and snowy high country Cultures adapted according to the different conditions and adapted again to environmental changes brought about by rising sea levels at the end of the last ice age European colonization of the island continent in 1788 not only introduced diseases to which Aborigines had no immunity but also began an enduring and at times violent conflict over land and resources Reconciliation between Aborigines and the settler population remains unresolved This second edition of the Historical Dictionary of Australian Aborigines contains a chronology an introduction an extensive bibliography and more than 300 cross referenced entries on the politics economy foreign relations religion and culture of the Aborigines This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the indigenous people of Australia Anthropology and Anthropologists Adam Kuper,2014-09-19 Anthropology and Anthropologists provides an entertaining and provocative account of British social anthropology from the foundations of the discipline through the glory years of the mid twentieth century and on to the transformation in recent decades The book shocked the anthropological establishment on first publication in 1973 but soon established itself as one of the introductions for students of anthropology Forty years later this now classic work has been radically revised Adam Kuper situates the leading actors in their historical and institutional context probes their rivalries revisits their debates and reviews their key ethnographies Drawing on recent scholarship he shows how the discipline was shaped by the colonial setting and by developments in the social sciences Calendar London School of Economics and Political Science,1924 Property and Equality Thomas Widlok,Wolde Gossa Tadesse,2006-01-01 The ethnography of egalitarian social systems was first met with sheer disbelief Today it is still hotly debated in a number of fields and has gained sophistication as well as momentum This collection of essays on property and equality acknowledges this diversification by presenting research results in two complementary volumes They bring together a wide range of authoritative researchers most of whom have worked with hunter gatherer groups These two volumes cover existing ethnographic and theoretical ground while maintaining a clear focus on the relation between property and equality The book consists of the most recent work of prominent members of the original group of researchers in hunter gatherer studies among them James Woodburn and Richard Lee and very recent ethnography on hunter gatherers and other egalitarian systems
