is the story of one man s adventures in acquiring and bringing back to life some of America s most enticing and historically significant dwellings With the eye of a connoisseur the business acumen derived from a legendary career in international finance and a Jeffersonian grasp of classical architecture Richard Hampton Jenrette reveals his charming often risky ventures in the world of old houses Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. Keckly Jennifer Fleischner,2007-12-18 A vibrant social history set against the backdrop of the Antebellum south and the Civil War that recreates the lives and friendship of two exceptional women First Lady Mary Todd Lincoln and her mulatto dressmaker Elizabeth Keckly I consider you my best living friend Mary Lincoln wrote to Elizabeth Keckly in 1867 and indeed theirs was a close if tumultuous relationship Born into slavery mulatto Elizabeth Keckly was Mary Lincoln s dressmaker confidante and mainstay during the difficult years that the Lincolns occupied the White House and the early years of Mary s widowhood But she was a fascinating woman in her own right Lizzy had bought her freedom in 1855 and come to Washington determined to make a life for herself She was independent and already well established as the dressmaker to the Washington elite when she was first hired by Mary Lincoln upon her arrival in the nation s capital Mary Lincoln hired Lizzy in part because she was considered a high society seamstress and Mary as an outsider in Washington s social circles was desperate for social cachet With her husband struggling to keep the nation together Mary turned increasingly to her seamstress for companionship support and advice and over the course of those trying years Lizzy Keckly became her confidante and closest friend Historian Jennifer Fleischner allows us to glimpse the intimate dynamics of this unusual friendship for the first time and traces the pivotal events that enabled these two women to forge such an unlikely bond at a time when relations between blacks and whites were tearing the nation apart Mrs Lincoln and Mrs Keckly is a remarkable work of scholarship that explores the legacy of slavery and sheds new light on the Lincoln White House Genealogies Cataloged by the Library of Congress Since 1986 Library of Congress,1991 The bibliographic

Genealogy and also items available through the Library of Congress The Reconstruction of White Southern Womanhood, 1865-1895 Jane Turner Censer, 2003-09-30 This impressively researched book tells the important but little known story of elite southern white women's successful quest for a measure of self reliance and independence between antebellum strictures and the restored patriarchy of Jim Crow Profusely illustrated with the experiences of fascinating women in Virginia and North Carolina it presents a compelling new chapter in the history of American women and of the South As were many ideas notions of the ideal woman were in flux after the Civil War While poverty added a harder edge to the search for a good marriage among some southern belles other privileged white women forged identities that challenged the belle model altogether Their private and public writings from the 1870s and 1880s suggest a widespread ethic of autonomy Sometimes that meant increased domestic skills born of the new reality of fewer servants But women also owned and transmitted property worked for pay and even pursued long term careers Many found a voice in a plethora of new voluntary organizations and some southern women attained national celebrity in the literary world creating strong and capable heroines and mirroring an evolving view toward northern society Yet even as elite southern women experimented with their roles external forces and contradictions within their position were making their unprecedented attitudes and achievements socially untenable During the 1890s however virulent racism and pressures to re create a mythic South left these women caught between the revived image of the southern belle and the emerging emancipated woman Just as the memoirs of southern white women have been key to understanding life during the Civil War the writings of such women unlock the years of dramatic change that followed Informed by myriad primary documents Jane Turner Censer immerses us in the world of postwar southern women as they rethought and rebuilt themselves their families and their region during a brief but important period of relative freedom Local Matters Christopher Waldrep, Donald G. Nieman, 2011-12-01 Much of the current reassessment of race culture and criminal justice in the nineteenth century South has been based on intensive community studies Drawing on previously untapped sources the nine original papers collected here represent some of the best new work on how racial justice can be shaped by the particulars of time and place Although each essay is anchored in the local several important larger themes emerge across the volume such as the importance of personality and place the movement of former slaves from the capriciousness of plantation justice to the theoretically more evenhanded processes of the courts and the increased presence of government in daily aspects of American life Local Matters cites a wide range of examples to support these themes One essay considers the case of a quasi free slave in Natchez Mississippi himself a slaveowner who was reined in by his master through the courts while another shows how federal aims were subverted during trials held in the aftermath of the 1876 race riots in Ellenton South Carolina Other topics covered include the fear of black criminality as a motivation of Klan activity the career of Thomas Ruffin slaveowner and North Carolina Supreme Court Justice blacks and the ballot in Washington County Texas the overturned murder conviction of a North Carolina slave who had killed a white man the formation of a powerful white bloc in Vicksburg Mississippi agitation by black and white North Carolina women for greater protections from abusive white male elites and slaves crime and the common law in New Orleans Together these studies offer new insights into the nature of law and the fate of due process at different stages of a highly racialized society

Blood and War at my Doorstep Brenda Chambers McKean, 2011-07-08 Continuing from Volume I Volume II intersperses numerous soldiers letters with those from home The issue of slavery from both the owners and individuals is brought forth Did colored men really serve as Confederate soldiers Did free black men Union soldiers described southern women as defiant beautiful crude and pitiful Read of women aboard blockade runners the fall of Wilmington Sherman's march Stoneman's western raiders and the end of the war Did any civilians die due to these raids Did they idly sit by as their lives and homes were destroyed The war did come to their doorstep during the second half of the conflict Both Volume I and II tell something from each of the state's 87 counties Perhaps you may find information about your ancestor among these pages Information from period newspapers as well as mostly unpublished letters tell their stories

The North Carolina Historical Review, 1992

Freedom's Mirage Sydney Nathans, 2024-11-12 Freedom's Mirage traces the exceptional life of Virgil Bennehan born in bondage in 1808 in Piedmont North Carolina who rose to become an enslaved doctor on one of the South's largest plantations and to view himself as a friend to Black and white people alike Emancipated in 1848 but required to leave the state to be free he was sent to Liberia Though richly endowed and royally welcomed he found himself subject to new rulers and mired in the worst medical catastrophe in Liberian history Recrossing the Atlantic he boldly returned to North Carolina to warn slave owners that Liberia was a death trap Yet again exiled from his native state he declared in March 1849 his intention to go to gold rush California the one place at midcentury that seemed to offer an open field even to a man of color Intrepidly researched and grippingly told Virgil Bennehan's story reveals the complexity and fragility of human relationships within bondage Once liberated Bennehan led a tumultuous life that dramatized the fleeting promise and pervasive limits of Black freedom in the era of slavery and foreshadowed the future for generations that followed

Confederate Generals of North Carolina Joe A. Mobley, 2015-08-17 A look at the generals who were either born in the state or directly commanded its troops including Braxton Bragg Louis Addison Armistead and others Confederate Generals of North Carolina provides a brief but compelling biography of each of the forty six Confederate Generals who served from North Carolina during the Civil War Each biography includes in addition to the war service a summary of a general's prewar and postwar careers Author Joe Mobley editor of the North Carolina Historical Review also discusses the generals collectively how many were killed or wounded who attended

West Point before the war who achieved the highest levels of success both on and off the battlefield and more The Old North State could also boast some of the finest general officers in the Confederate army Mobley provides a biographical sketch of each general's life with emphasis on his Confederate service record as well as a wartime image of each Civil War News A Guide to the Historic Architecture of Piedmont North Carolina Catherine W. Bishir, Michael T. Southern, 2003 Central North Carolina boasts a rich and varied architectural landscape This richly illustrated guide offers a fascinating look at the Piedmont's historic architecture covering more than 2 000 sites in 34 counties 535 illustrations Durham County Jean Bradley Anderson, 1990 In this broad sweeping history of Durham County Jean Bradley Anderson begins with a discussion of the geography climate and geology of the region from the seventeenth century to 1981 its centennial year This remarkably comprehensive work moves beyond traditional local histories that focus on powerful families Rather Anderson integrates the stories of well known figures with those of ordinary men and women blacks and whites to create a complex but fascinating portrait of Durham's economic political social and labor history Drawing on extensive primary research Durham County examines the origins of the town of Durham and recounts the growth of communities around mills stores taverns and churches in the century preceding the rise of tobacco manufacturing It examines all phases of life in the county agriculture architecture the arts education industry politics and religion Anderson pays particular attention to such turning points as the coming of the railroad the Confederate surrender at the Bennett Place the war's connection to the rise and flourishing of the tobacco industry the move to Durham of Trinity College the development of the Research Triangle Park and the subsequent rise of the health service and high tech industries Sexual Violence and American Slavery Shannon Eaves, 2024-04-09 It is impossible to separate histories of sexual violence and the enslavement of Black women in the antebellum South Rape permeated the lives of all who existed in that system Black and white male and female adult and child enslaved and free Shannon C Eaves unflinchingly investigates how both enslaved people and their enslavers experienced the systematic rape and sexual exploitation of bondswomen and came to understand what this culture of sexualized violence meant for themselves and others Eaves mines a wealth of primary sources including autobiographies diaries court records and more to show that rape and other forms of sexual exploitation entangled slaves and slave owners in battles over power to protect oneself and one's community power to avenge hurt and humiliation and power to punish and eliminate future threats By placing sexual violence at the center of the systems of power and culture Eaves shows how the South's rape culture was revealed in enslaved people's and their enslavers interactions with one another and with members of their respective communities 27 Views of Durham Jean Anderson, Jim Wise, Katy Munger, Ariel Dorfman, Rodrigo Dorfman, Barry Yeoman, Clyde Edgerton, Pam Spaulding, Diane Daniel, Cliff Bellamy, 2012 Eno Publishers builds on its successful 27 Views series by showcasing the literary community of Durham North Carolina in 27 Views of Durham The Bull City in Prose Poetry The book features 27 writers who in poetry essays short stories and book excerpts focus on the town of Durham famous for

Duke University tobacco and Southern cuisine The collection offers readers a broad and varied picture of life past and present in Durham as well as a sense of the town s literary breadth Contributing authors include Steve Schewel Jean Anderson Carl Kenney Katy Munger Ariel Dorfman Pierce Freelon John Valentine Shirlette Ammons Jim Wise and others
