Neurophilosophy of Libertarian Free Will Peter Ulric Tse, 2024-06-25 This book offers an intellectually fierce defence of

Libertarian Free Will seen from a neuroscientific and biological perspective Tse argues that causation in living systems is dominated by non linear goal seeking automatic feedback loops and a continual criterial reparameterization of what will count as an adequate solution to goal fulfilment For this reason outcomes are neither determined nor random That is for each cycle outcomes could have turned out differently than they actually did Humans he argues have two kinds of libertarian free will One type concerns the ability to choose freely and is shared with other highly developed animals Second order free will in contrast is uniquely human and concerns envisioning a new self then working toward the realization of that vision over a long period of time As such free will is understood to be centrally realized in acts of imagining and deliberation whether free actions follow or not A Neurophilosophy of Libertarian Free Will discusses these key philosophical issues considering the latest data and theories of neuroscience and will be of interest to academics students and anyone interested in the issue of Free Will
