B. Peeler, Patrick Gray, 2020-01-09 This volume offers a compact introduction to one of the most daunting texts in the New Testament The Letter to the Hebrews has inspired many readers with its encomium to faith troubled others with its hard sayings on the impossibility of a second repentance and perplexed still others with its exegetical assumptions and operations drawn from a cultural matrix that is largely alien to modern sensibilities Long thought to be Paul the anonymous author of Hebrews exhibits points of continuity with the apostle and other New Testament writers in the letter s or sermon s vision of life in the light of the crucified Messiah but one also finds distinctive perspectives in such areas as Christology eschatology and atonement Gray and Peeler survey the salient historical social and rhetorical factors to be considered in the interpretation of this document as well as its theological liturgical and cultural legacy They invite readers to enter the world of one of the boldest Christian thinkers of the

Grounded in the Gospel J. I. Packer, Gary A. Parrett, 2010-04-01 Historically the church s ministry of grounding new believers in the essentials of the faith has been known as catechesis systematic instruction in faith foundations including what we believe how we pray and worship and how we conduct our lives For most evangelicals today however this very idea is an alien concept Packer and Parrett concerned for the state of the church seek to inspire a much needed evangelical course correction This new book makes the case for a recovery of significant catechesis as a nonnegotiable practice of churches showing the practice to be complementary to and of no less value than Bible study expository preaching and other formational ministries and urging evangelical churches to find room for this biblical ministry for the sake of their spiritual health and vitality     Reformed Preaching Joel Beeke, 2018-10-15 Preaching today all too often tragically misses the point We ve all heard sermons that sound more like a lecture filling the head but not the heart And we ve all heard sermons tailored to produce an emotional experience filling the heart but not the head But biblical preaching both informs minds and engages hearts giving it the power to transform lives By the Spirit s grace biblical preaching brings truth home from the heart of the preacher to the heart of the hearer Joel Beeke a pastor and professor of preaching with over four decades of experience explores the fundamental principles of Reformed experiential preaching examining sermons by preachers from the past and bridging the historical gap by showing pastors what the preaching of God s life transforming truth looks like today     We Believe Harry W. Eberts, 1994-01-01 Including an analysis of A Brief Statement of Faith which became part of the Book of Confessions in 1991 this book is used in the training program for church officers of the Presbyterian Church U S A Written by a pastor experienced in officer training We Believe will help Presbyterians especially current and future church officers understand more fully the creeds that are part of their faith     A Guide to the Study of Church History William Joseph McGlothlin, 1908     Interpreting Christian History Euan Cameron, 2008-04-15 This book explores the theological lessons to be learnt from 2000 years of Christian Church history An exploration of the theological lessons to be learnt from the difficult history of the Christian churches over the past 2 000 years Opens with an introductory essay on the whole of Church history making the book suitable for lay readers as well as students Combines historical historiographical and theological analysis Reunites the disciplines of theology and Church history Concludes that we can only ever perceive a facet

Bayes,2024-09-13 A Tidy Faith is distinctive as a work of systematic theology in that it comes out of a Reformed Baptist stable this is especially relevant for the sections on the church worship and the sacraments Bayes seeks to lay the biblical foundation for each doctrinal subject using an exegetical approach rather than merely citing prooftexts For each doctrine he also outlines the teaching of the early Christian creeds and the confessions of faith dating from the Reformation period as well as referring to a small selection of modern statements of faith from different countries Debates and interpretations of the various doctrines from different points in church history are summarized and at the end of the exposition of every doctrinal theme there is a section that emphasizes its practical application This ensures that the book is not merely abstract and academic but has real down to earth value for Christian life and ministry Called to Freedom Brad Littlejohn,2025-01-15 Christians in the modern West hear a lot about and talk a lot about freedom The word has taken on so many meanings that Christians often fail to realize how much our contemporary ideals of freedom stray from what freedom has meant in Scripture and the Christian tradition Called to Freedom Retrieving Christian Liberty in an Age of License by Bradford Littlejohn seeks to define and disentangle theological moral and political concepts of freedom and provide a deeper understanding of what true Christian freedom is liberation from the bondage of fear and sin Littlejohn builds his argument from the Protestant doctrine of Christian liberty anchored in Martin Luther s Reformation classic The Freedom of a Christian He then looks at conflicts over technology the market and religious liberty as case studies of how a full orb ed Christian idea of freedom helps us respond faithfully to these challenges in our spiritual lives our churches and our civic engagement Littlejohn argues that a great source on contemporary social problems and trends towards illiberalism derive from a faulty understanding of human freedom which places individuality and authenticity as the highest good for society Littlejohn argues that the Christian tradition presents a much more compelling vision namely that freedom cannot lead to flourishing for everyone unless it is rightly ordered to God's moral commands and divinely ordained sources of authority in our lives As such he presents a case against modern secularism and charts a vision for what Christian faith actually has to say to our political and social lives

Stuart Clarke,2006-12-01 The young Reformed scholar Arminius returned from finishing his studies to Amsterdam in 1588 to begin pastoral ministry His personal interests had been philosophical rather than theological and in the Bible the Old Testament rather than the New To his dismay he found the Dutch Reformed Church divided on theological issues especially predestination He was reluctant to get involved though in his Bible exposition in 1593 he got into trouble for expressing unacceptable views on Romans 9 He was hoping that Franciscus Junius the new Theological Professor at Leiden University would intervene in the controversy and restore harmony The two met in December 1596 and began a correspondence Arminius was disappointed with Junius views Nevertheless he learned from Junius the centrality of Christ and his work for all that belongs to human salvation including predestination Arminius began to construct his own theology setting Christ s work at the heart of it This study retells the story with new emphases concentrating on Arminius theological development up to his magnum opus the Declaration of Sentiments in 1608 and summarizing his conclusions in particular that Christ himself is the foundation of election and that we are saved by a new relationship with God through Christ Both these insights led him at last to reject the Calvinist concept of salvation and damnation through a hidden decree made in a Christ less secret counsel of the divine wisdom Arminius was unsuccessful in the short term but this study contends that his views have much to teach us
