Learning Disabilities Pol Ghesquière, A. J. J. M. Ruijsenaars, 2005 Research on learning disabilities has known a tremendous growth the last 25 years Yet despite the progress that is made in diverse domains learning disabilities still stay a serious challenge to teaching and instruction In this book the authors try to link original research findings on learning disabilities with instructional methods and teaching practices The first part of the book brings together contributions about the cognitive metacognitive and socio emotional correlates of learning disabilities These factors generally form a core aspect of the challenge of learning disabilities to teaching and instruction The first three chapters concern the phenomenon of dyslexia Van den Broeck critically evaluates the disputable role of intelligence in the concept and definition of dyslexia Hutchinson Whiteley and Smith explore the role of cognitive linguistic skills in the early identification of reading problems in emergent bilingual children Van Ingelghem and colleagues study auditory temporal processing in children with dyslexia In chapter 4 Desoete and Roeyers summarize their research on metacognition in children with mathematics learning disabilities Finally Gadeyne Ghesquière and Onghena explore the relationship between academic achievement and behaviour problems The second part of this book goes deeper into research on intervention and instruction methods The first three chapters focus on reading problems Whitely and her colleagues try to analyze why some children do not benefit from early phonologically based interventions leading to implications for the development of early screening tools and intervention schemes for these non beneficiaries Van Kraaenrood Rohl and Rivalland report findings of an Australian study examining the programs and strategies used to teach and intervene in Australian classrooms for students with learning problems Bouwer and Jordaan argue for the use of imaging as a learning support technique for children with dyslexia The last two chapters explore the differential effect of direct and guided instruction for children with arithmetic learning problems Kroesbergen and Van Luit focus on the acquisition and use of multiplication strategies Milo and Ruijsenaars do the same for addition and subtraction up to 100 After reading this book not all challenges of learning disabilities to teaching and instruction will be tackled But it surely can offer some contribution in getting away from some of them The authors hope it gives a lot of inspiration to the diverse audience we had in mind practitioners as well as researchers of different disciplines

Revealing Minds Craig Pohlman, 2007-08-24 Revealing Minds is a practical hands on guide to assessing learning problems based on the approach of All Kinds of Minds the groundbreaking nonprofit institute co founded by Mel Levine Whereas most assessments of struggling learners focus on what is broken within a student and needs to be fixed All Kinds of Minds has adopted a more positive and comprehensive approach to the process Rather than labeling children or categorizing them into certain pre defined groups their optimistic and helpful path creates a complete picture or profile of each student outlining the child's assets along with any weaknesses and identifying specific breakdown points that lead to problems at school The process of assessment should be able to answer a question such as Why is my son struggling with reading with a better answer than Because he has a reading disability Revealing Minds shows how to discover hidden factors such as language functioning memory ability or attention control that are impeding a student s learning It goes beyond labels and categories to help readers understand what s really going on with their students and create useful learning plans Providing scores of real life examples definitions of key terms helpful diagrams tables and sample assessments Pohlman offers a useful roadmap for educators psychologists and other professionals to implement the All Kinds of Minds approach in their own assessments
