Kind Of Private Magic:

Magical Suspension James Combs, 2015-09-04 This book builds upon the author's extensive previous work on the movies adopting a more comprehensive and inquisitive stance for the study of moving pictures as a cultural movement and ludenic innovation. It returns to earlier analysis and commentary on this new invention and recreation quickly termed the movies and develops the initial impression of both moviegoers and observers that the movies appealed because they were fun. As such the book examines the characteristics that made films so enjoyable namely their use of magic presentation of myth and persistence of mnemonic recollection. The enduring appeal of moving pictures remains consistent even though the medium has proliferated and diversified so much so that now a good portion of the human race spends a great deal of time looking at moving pictures. The book is eclectic and exploratory designed to urge consideration of moving pictures in this larger perspective as something that has changed and perhaps enriched the lives of many people leaving inquirers the task of calculating the enormous significance and consequences of our motion picture experience for the conduct of our lives. Such an effort is not without merit since it now seems quite clear that the whole world is watching. Property Ernest

Beaglehole, 2015-06-19 First published in 1931 this book represents an attempt to study the psychological basis of the institution of property. There had been many psychological and social studies of marriage and religion prior to publication of this title but none which considered the problems which arise when the institution of property is viewed from the angle of social psychology. Some of these problems are set out in the first chapter. In the remaining chapters the author discusses the problems in the light of evidence drawn from the various branches of psychology and sociology of the day. The final chapter indicates the importance of the author's conclusions for political and social theory at the time. Foreign Bodies A. David

Transactions and Proceedings and Report of the Philosophical Society of Adelaide, South Australia Royal Society of South Australia,1915 Jesus and Magic Richard A. Horsley,2014-10-27 It has become standard in modern interpretation to say that Jesus performed miracles and even mainline scholarly interpreters classify Jesus s healings and exorcisms as miracles Some highly regarded scholars have argued more provocatively that the healings and exorcisms were magic and that Jesus was a magician As Richard Horsley points out if we make a critical comparison between modern interpretation of Jesus s healing and exorcism on the one hand and the Gospel stories and other ancient texts on the other hand it becomes clear that the miracle and magic are modern concepts products of Enlightenment thinking Jesus and Magic asserts that Gospel stories do not have the concepts of miracle and magic What scholars constructed as magic turns out to have been ritual practices such as songs incantations medicines potions and appeals to higher powers for protection Horsley offers a critical reading of the healing and exorcism episodes in the Gospel stories This reading reveals a dynamic relationship between Jesus the healer the trust of those coming for healing and their support networks in local communities Horsley s reading of the Gospel stories gives little or no indication of divine intervention Rather the healing and exorcism stories portray healings and exorcisms
