International Handbook of Children, Media and Culture Kirsten Drotner, Sonia Livingstone, 2008-02-19 This essential volume brings together the work of internationally renowned researchers each experts in their field in order to capture the diversity of children and young people s media cultures around the world Why are the media such a crucial part of children s daily lives Are they becoming more important more influential and in what ways Or does a historical perspective reveal how past media have long framed children s cultural horizons or perhaps how families however constituted have long shaped the ways children relate to media In addressing such questions the contributors present detailed empirical cases to uncover how children weave together diverse forms and technologies to create a rich symbolic tapestry which in turn shapes their social relationships At the same time many concerns even public panics arise regarding children s engagement with media leading the contributors also to inquire into the risky or problematic aspects of today s highly mediated world Deliberately selected to represent as many parts of the globe as possible and with a commitment to recognizing both the similarities and differences in children and young people s lives from China to Denmark from Canada to India from Japan to Iceland from the authors offer a rich contextualization of children s engagement with their particular media and communication environment while also pursuing cross cutting themes in terms of comparative and global trends Each chapter provides a clear orientation for new readers to the main debates and core issues addressed combined with a depth of analysis and argumentation to stimulate the thinking of advanced students and established scholars Since children and young people are a focus of study across different disciplines the volume is thoroughly multi disciplinary Yet since children and young people are all too easily neglected by these same disciplines this volume hopes to accord their interests and concerns they surely merit

Reflecting on America Clare L. Boulanger, 2017-07-05 Anthropologists travel back in time and across the globe to understand human culture but surprise there is culture right here in the United States This second edition of the best selling textbook and anthology Reflecting on America again focuses on how we can recognize the common cultural thread running through diverse American phenomena from heroin addiction and Big Business s efforts to shape the identities of children to Civil War reenactments and the popularity of burlesque in the Midwest In addition this second edition includes chapters written especially for this volume on striptease Burning Man The Big Bang Theory TV show and Groundhog Phil Written throughout with verve and quirky humor and offering Questions for discussion after every article this book is perfect for undergraduate classes in anthropology and American studies Drawing together twenty two scholars with expertise in anthropological ideas about culture Reflecting on America examines what it means to be American Ebony Jr! Laretta Henderson, 2008 In 1945 John H Johnson published the first issue of Ebony magazine a monthly periodical aimed at African American readers In 1973 the Johnson Publishing Company expanded its readership to include children by producing Ebony Jr Targeting Black children in the five to eleven age range the magazine featured stories comics puzzles and cartoons Its contents combined elements of Black culture Black history and elementary school curriculum The publication remained in print until 1985 and was resurrected online in 2007

Children's Film in the Digital Age Karin Beeler, Stan Beeler, 2014-12-12 Films of the past 15 years have been released in a number of formats and reflect a reconceptualization of film genres audiences and the impact of technology on adaptation Focusing on multiple audiences film adaptation nationalism globalism and consumer culture this collection of new essays explores how children's film can be re-examined alongside recent developments in their production These analyses consider the effect of multimedia strategies on the child audience the opportunities for viewer participation and the pedagogical implications of films for children The essays also address how childhood is embedded within films and linked to various consumer contexts

The Future of Childhood Alan Prout, 2004-11-10 In this ground breaking book Alan Prout discusses the place of children and childhood in modern society He critically examines the new social studies of childhood reconsidering some of its key assumptions and positions and arguing that childhood is heterogeneous and complex The study of childhood requires a broad set of intellectual resources and an interdisciplinary approach Chapters include the changing social and cultural character of contemporary childhood and the weakening boundary between adulthood and childhood a look back at the emergence of childhood studies in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the nature culture dichotomy the role of material artefacts and technologies in the construction of contemporary childhood This book is essential reading for students and academics in the field of childhood studies sociology and education Children and Television Brian

Simpson, 2004-01-01 Television is often cited as a cause of violent crime or behaviour Usually this connection is made in the context of the behaviour of young people as another way of blaming them for the broader ills of society It is rare however for even a single reference to television to be included in the index of reports on juvenile crime Television it seems is presented as an increasingly influential force in society even though there has been scant discussion on how it really influences the behaviour of young people Brian Simpson seeks to redress the balance and investigates why television has become a welcome scape goat

International Handbook of Education for Spirituality, Care and Wellbeing Marian de Souza, LESLIE J. FRANCIS, James O'Higgins-Norman, Daniel G. Scott, 2009-10-13 Acknowledging and understanding spiritual formation is vital in contemporary education This book explores the dynamic relationship between education and wellbeing It examines the theory underpinning the practice of education in different societies where spirituality and care are believed to be at the heart of all educational experiences The book recognizes that regardless of the context or type of educational experience education is a caring activity in which the development of the whole person body mind and spirit is a central aim for teachers and educators in both formal and informal learning The chapters in this handbook present and discuss topics that focus on spirituality as an integral part of human experience and consequently essential to educational programs which aim to address personal and communal identity foster resilience empathy and compassion and promote meaning and connectedness

Popular Culture, New Media and Digital Literacy in Early Childhood Jackie Marsh,2004-11-04 Fantastic team of contributors reads like a who's who of experts in literacy International appeal with global research and overseas contributors Early Years focus means it appeals to Early Childhood practitioners as well as literacy people Jackie Marsh is widely published and highly respected Internationally known expert in literacy Cross over appeal to linguistics field and long awaited study of modern technology's influence on children's literacy learning Children and Materialities Casey Y. Myers,2019-06-17 This book makes the case for young children as both keenly materially aware of and highly dependent on sets of interrelated material discursive circumstances It argues that long term engagement with children around the topic of meaning matter relations upends many taken for granted notions of consumption self regulation knowledge production and what constitutes quality of life within a school setting The book provides complex accounts of agency on multiple scales the capability of children to shape and share research the force of objects stuff and things to impact the social workings of a classroom and the impact of nonhuman animals on the trajectory of the ways in which children relate to each other This work makes a significant contribution to both theoretical conceptions and practical enactments of childhoods productively addressing the many contradictions inherent in a posthuman and participatory approach to researching with young children It also offers insights into how the everyday materialities of children's classrooms and their complex representations are capable of disrupting the common sense order of things
