Long Drums & Cannons Margaret Laurence, 2001 Up to date biographies with a list of works for each of the writers detailed annotations to the original text and a glossary complete this edition BOOK JACKET Black Africa V. Klima, K.F. Ruzicka, P. Zima, 2012-12-06 In October 1972 our Czech written book Literatury eerné Afriky Literatures of Black Mrica was published in Prague presenting a survey of an extensive field The publication which was signed at that time by all three authors differed from most contemporary introductions to the study of Mrican literatures in a threefold way a The authors attempted to cover various literacy and literary efforts in the area roughly delimited by Senegal in the west Kenya in the east Lake Chad in the north and the Cape in the south We were well aware even at that time that neither technically nor linguistically would it be possible to cover all literary efforts within that area We did try however to include in our survey both the literacies and literatures written in the Indo European linguae francae English French Portuguese and in at least several of the major African languages of the area We did not attempt an exhaustive description but wished rather to show the mutual relationships which emerge if the literatures of thii area written either in the major linguae francae or in the African languages are studied not as isolated phenomena but as mutually complementary features b As two of us were linguists and one was a literary historian we did not limit our analysis of the developing literacies and literatures to the purely cultural and literary aspects Our intention waR to deal whcre and if it was relevant not only with the process of African literary development but also with the simultaneous complementar An American Betrayal Daniel Blake Smith, 2011-11-08 The fierce battle over identity and patriotism within Cherokee culture that took place in the years surrounding the Trail of Tears Though the tragedy of the Trail of Tears is widely recognized today the pervasive effects of the tribe s uprooting have never been examined in detail Despite the Cherokees efforts to assimilate with the dominant white culture running their own newspaper ratifying a constitution based on that of the United States they were never able to integrate fully with white men in the New World In An American Betrayal Daniel Blake Smith s vivid prose brings to life a host of memorable characters the veteran Indian fighter Andrew Jackson who adopted a young Indian boy into his home Chief John Ross only one eighth Cherokee who commanded the loyalty of most Cherokees because of his relentless effort to remain on their native soil most dramatically the dissenters in Cherokee country especially Elias Boudinot and John Ridge gifted young men who were educated in a New England academy but whose marriages to local white girls erupted in racial epithets effigy burnings and the closing of the school Smith an award winning historian offers an eye opening view of why neither assimilation nor Cherokee independence could succeed in Jacksonian America

The Conch, 1972 Forest Society Norman B. Schwartz, 2016-11-11

In recent years Mesoamerican anthropologists have been shifting the focus of their research from structural functional analyses of small communities to studies of communities as the products of the interaction of microsocial and macrosocial processes. Greater attention is being given to relationships between ecology and society between state power and local community culture and among world economics regional politics and subregional sociocultural patterns. Forest Society examines the social history of Peten in the lowlands of Northern Guatemala in the context of these changing relationships. The author contends that for 250 years roughly from the 1720s to the 1970s the sociocultural system of Peten endured with remarkable continuity not in spite of changes in the hinterland region but to an important degree because of them. During that time there was relatively little change in the socioeconomic composition of and the relationships between Peten's various social sectors and ethnic groups. Norman B. Schwartz argues that relationships between the material base ecology technology and economy of society in Peten demography and the struggle of individuals and groups to control resources gave Peteneros an opportunity and at the same time compelled them gradually to build a stable moderate society marked by continuity of social status and commutative connections between ethnicity community and social class. He also discusses the new colonization of the 1970s and the disastrous civil war of the 1980s and the reasons why these changes are finally eroding the stability of Peten's society. Forest Society will interest scholars and students working in the fields of anthropology history and Latin American studies.
