Merchants of Innovation Esther-Miriam Wagner, Bettina Beinhoff, Ben Outhwaite, 2017-05-08 Traders around the world use particular spoken argots to guard commercial secrets or to cement their identity as members of a certain group. The written registers of traders too in correspondence and other commercial texts show significant differences from the language used in official legal or private writing. This volume suggests a clear cross linguistic tendency that mercantile writing displays a greater degree of language mixing code switching and linguistic innovations and by setting precedents promote language change. This interdisciplinary volume aims to place the traders' languages within a wider sociolinguistic context. Questions addressed include: What differences can be observed between mercantile registers and those of court or legal scribes? Do the traders' texts show the early emergence of features that take longer to permeate into the higher varieties of the same language? Do they anticipate language change in the standard register or influence it by setting linguistic precedents? What sets traders' letters apart from private correspondence and other low registers? The book will also examine bilingualism semi
