La Dame aux Camélias Camille Alexandre Dumas 1852

La Dame aux Camélias literally The Lady with the Camellias commonly known in English as Camille is a novel by Alexandre Dumas (fils) first published in 1848 and subsequently adapted by Dumas for the stage. La Dame aux Camélias premiered at the Théâtre du Vaudeville in Paris, France on February 2, 1852. The play was an instant success and Giuseppe Verdi immediately set about putting the story to music. His work became the 1853 opera La traviata with the female protagonist Marguerite Gautier renamed Violetta Valéry. In the English-speaking world La Dame aux Camélias became known as Camille and 16 versions have been performed at Broadway theatres alone. The title character is Marguerite Gautier who is based on Marie Duplessis, the real-life lover of author Dumas (fils). Written by Alexandre Dumas (fils) 1824-1895 when he was 23 years old and first published in 1848, La Dame aux Camélias is a semi-autobiographical novel based on the author's brief love affair with a courtesan, Marie Duplessis. Set in mid-19th century France, the novel tells the tragic love story between fictional characters Marguerite Gautier, a demimondaine or courtesan suffering from consumption, and Armand Duval, a young bourgeois. Marguerite is nicknamed la dame aux camélias (French for the lady of the camellias) because she wears a red camellia when she is menstruating and unavailable for making love, and a white camellia when she is available to her lovers. Armand falls in love with Marguerite and ultimately becomes her lover. He convinces her to leave her life as a courtesan and to live with him in the countryside. This idyllic existence is interrupted by Armand's father, who, concerned with the scandal created by the illicit relationship and fearful that it will destroy Armand's sister's chances of marriage, convinces Marguerite to leave. Up until Marguerite's death, Armand believes that she left him for another man. Marguerite's death is described as an unending agony during which Marguerite, abandoned by everyone, regrets what might have been. The story is narrated after Marguerite's death by two male narrators: Armand and an unnamed frame narrator. Some scholars believe that both the fictional Marguerite's illness and real-life Duplessis's publicized cause of death, consumption, was a 19th-century euphemism for syphilis, as opposed to the more common meaning of tuberculosis.
