Ladykillers Why Smoking Is A Feminist Issue:

The Ladykillers Bobbie Jacobson,1982 Smoking in British Popular Culture 1800-2000 Matthew Hilton,2000-09-02

This book is a concise history of smoking in British popular culture from the early 19th century to the present day It explores the culture of the pipe and the cigar in the 19th century the role of the cigarette in the mass market economy of the early 20th century and the politics of smoking and health since the 1950s Combining a wide range of historical sources with examples drawn from film and popular literature it provides a comprehensive social cultural and economic history of smoking

Making It Better Lorraine Greaves ,Ann Pederson ,Nancy Poole ,2014 In this innovative collection leading thinkers in clinical medicine sociology epidemiology kinesiology education and public policy reveal how health promotion is failing communities by failing women Despite a longstanding consensus that social inequalities shape global patterns of illness and opportunities for health mainstream health promotion frameworks continue to ignore gender at relational household community and state levels Exploring the ways in which gendered norms affect health and social equity for all human beings Making It Better invites us to rethink conventional approaches to health promotion and to strive for transformative initiatives and policies Offering practical tools and evidence based strategies for moving from gender integration to gender transformation this anthology is required reading for policymakers health promotion and healthcare practitioners researchers community developers and social service providers

What Makes Women Sick Lesley Doyal,1995-06-19 Lesley Doyal draws on a wide range of disciplines to highlight the limitations of medical models in understanding global patterns of health and disease in women Examining in detail the impact of sexuality fertility control reproduction domestic labour and waged work on women s well being she shows how gender divisions in economic and social life affect their experiences of illness disability and mortality A concluding chapter illustrates the multiplicity of ways in which women around the world are challenging the threats to their health Can't Buy My Love Jean Kilbourne,2000-11-02 Discusses the advertising establishment revealing what advertisers know about human nature and how they exploit it to make a profit

A Halfway House for Women Gail A. Caputo,2014-07-01 Although halfway houses have been touted for years as affirmative rehabilitation locations that ready women for life in the outside world in this remarkable case study Gail Caputo shows how these places reinforce patterns of control and abuse that reaffirm the dependency and victimization of the inmates Based on observations made while living and working alongside women at a halfway house within the prison system in a city in the Northeast Caputo s analysis is anchored in the words and experiences of over a dozen women Organized according to the progression of levels residents traverse during their time in the house and the rules and behaviors associated with each level Caputo offers a riveting look at what passes for rehabilitation and reintegration in such places and delineates the many ways these women retain agency by resisting regulations designed to keep them in their place Freedom to Smoke Jarrett Rudy,2005 This book is a social and cultural history of smoking in Montreal from the arrival of cigarette mass production in Canada 1888 to the first studies linking the cigarette to lung cancer in 1950 Against the Flow Bobbie Jacobson,2024-03-04 Bobbie Jacobson's honest and deeply personal story brings home her passion for preventing ill health. Not just for individuals but for whole communities. It is a passion too often thwarted by governments' vested interests and imposed on an obedient health management system. Her personal accounts of the tragedies, comedies, triumphs and setbacks of a bolshy woman doctor, partner and mother start deep in the gender wars of the 1970s and move on to a future in public health and family life she never dreamt was possible. She goes backstage to tell untold stories of what really happens in government, the NHS and local communities. Drawing on four decades as an international activist and public health director in London's East End, she uncovers new truths about how to overcome the Groundhog Day of failed prevention. She sheds new light on tackling the persistent health gap in a future pandemic. Her stories show what really can be achieved when public health teams work hand in glove with local communities.

Preventing Coronary Heart Disease Michael Calnan,2002-09-11 Coronary Heart Disease is the major cause of death in the UK, being responsible for thirty one percent of male deaths and for twenty four percent of female deaths in 1987 in England and Wales. Preventing Coronary Heart Disease examines these statistics and focuses specifically on policies for its prevention by the Government, general practitioners and concerned groups. Michael Calnan looks at the feasibility and effectiveness of these health policies and the obstacles in the way of their adoption. Drawing mainly on the discipline of politics, sociology and epidemiology, the author begins by examining the epidemiological case for prevention and then analyses what the UK Government is doing and can do. The Government's policy is based on the role of primary care in prevention and the author discusses how this can be taken on board by GPs, concerned groups and the general public. Coronary heart disease is of major concern to all those working in health and related industries as well as to individuals. This book is the first study of the policies of prevention of the disease and will be invaluable reading for students of health studies and social policy as well as professionals working in health care.

Health, Disease and Society Kelvyn Jones, Graham Moon,2022-05-24 Originally published in 1987, this textbook is a comprehensive introduction to the rapidly developing field of medical geography. It illustrates the ideas, methods and debates that inform contemporary approaches to the subject, demonstrating the potential of a social and environmental approach to illness and health. The central theme is the need to reject an exclusively biological approach to health. The authors examine both the geography of health care and outline a selection of health service planning initiatives in both North America and Europe.

Mental Health and Otherness Ilana Mountian,2024-12-23 Based on two decades of research in Brazil and the UK, this book explores the ways in which intersections of gender, race and class affect the positioning of the subject as Other in discourses of health and how the positioning of the subject as Other has implications for health research and mental health practice. Drawing on feminist, post-colonial and decolonial studies, psychoanalysis and discourse analysis, Mental Health and Otherness examines the experiences of immigrants, drug users and transsexual people in health and mental health settings.

and the ways in which stereotypical understandings can affect the subject This book is a study of the discursive construction of ideas about health and mental health in the West and the awareness of processes of othering in clinical practice It will appeal to scholars in psychology sociology and cultural studies with an interest in mental health health care and intersectionality

Ashes to Ashes Richard Kluger, 2010-05-26 PULITZER PRIZE WINNER No book before this one has rendered the story of cigarettes mankind's most common self-destructive instrument and its most profitable consumer product with such sweep and enlivening detail A great battleship of a book formidable majestic The New York Times Book Review Here for the first time in a story full of the complexities and contradictions of human nature all the strands of the historical process financial social psychological medical political and legal are woven together in a riveting narrative The key characters are the top corporate executives public health investigators and antismoking activists who have clashed ever more stridently as Americans debate whether smoking should be closely regulated as a major health menace We see tobacco spread rapidly from its aboriginal sources in the New World 500 years ago as it becomes increasingly viewed by some as sinful and some as alluring and by government as a windfall source of tax revenue With the arrival of the cigarette in the late nineteenth century smoking changes from a luxury and occasional pastime to an everyday to some indispensable habit aided markedly by the exuberance of the tobacco huskers This free enterprise success saga grows shadowed from the middle of this century as science begins to understand the cigarette's toxicity Ironically the more detailed and persuasive the findings by medical investigators the more cigarette makers prosper by seeming to modify their product with filters and reduced dosages of tar and nicotine We see the tobacco manufacturers come under intensifying assault as a rogue industry for knowingly and callously plying their hazardous wares while insisting that the health charges against them remain unproven and be universally understood so smokers indulge at their own risk Among the eye-opening disclosures here outrageous pseudo-scientific claims made for cigarettes throughout the 30s and 40s and the story of how the tobacco industry and the National Cancer Institute spent millions to develop a safer cigarette that was never brought to market Dealing with an emotional subject that has generated more heat than light this book is a dispassionate tour de force that examines the nature of the companies culpability the complicity of society as a whole and the shaky moral ground claimed by smokers who are now demanding recompense

Smoking Geographies Ross Barnett, Graham Moon, Jamie Pearce, Lee Thompson, Liz Twigg, 2017-03-13 Smoking Geographies provides a research-led assessment of the impact of geographical factors on smoking The contributors uncover how geography can show us not only why people smoke but also broader issues of tobacco control providing deeper clarity on how smoking and tobacco is governed The text centres on one of the most important public health issues worldwide and a major determinant of preventable mortality and morbidity in developed and developing countries Records the outcomes of a long-term research collaboration that brings a geographical lens to smoking behaviour Uncovers how geography can play a part in understanding not only why people smoke but also broader issues of tobacco control Provides a deeper understanding of how smoking and tobacco is governed regarding where people may smoke but also more subtle governance as a climate is produced in which smoking becomes denormalised Brings both quantitative and qualitative perspectives to bear on this major source of mortality and morbidity Smoking and Pregnancy Laury Oaks, 2001 Examines smoking as a public health concern focusing on harm to the fetus and fetal personhood and also challenges moral policing of smoking women who are pregnant Substance Abuse Prevention in Multicultural Communities Jeanette Valentine, Judith Dejong, 2014-07-16 This insightful volume describes a sample of prevention demonstration projects of the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention CSAP Substance Abuse Prevention in Multicultural Communities illuminates various aspects of prevention theory practice and research with a focus on the design implementation adaptation and outcome of specific demonstration programs Researchers work with prevention professionals to describe measure and intensify effects of interventions upon both intermediate problems and the ultimate long term goal of decreasing substance abuse Chapters in Substance Abuse Prevention in Multicultural Communities demonstrate how the CSAP demonstration logic model works The process of prevention program design begins with an analysis of the root causes of the problem as defined by the specific community and illuminated by theory Comprehensive prevention programs that buttress community strengths and build on local resources are then designed to deal with these problems The programs you ll learn from include a leadership and substance abuse prevention program based on the social influence model for girls in grades 6 8 from four geographically and ethnically diverse communities a program intricately designed to build resiliency and protective factors within young at risk American Indian children in a Head Start program which addresses school transition school readiness school attendance and classroom based prevention activities a family skills training program for African American parents in substance abuse treatment which evolved in response to client and evaluation feedback a program for Native American families which uses a culturally oriented curriculum emphasizing traditional values beliefs and practices a coalition of neighborhood agencies organized to provide a comprehensive array of school and community based prevention services which impacted gang membership in inner city Latino youth a prevention program specifically designed to serve the diverse needs of Asian American youth from five different Asian ethnic communities a model substance abuse prevention program implemented to provide counseling mentoring and academic support to Hispanic and African American students in an urban public middle school the nationally recognized FAST program which strengthens the family and brings parents and schools together in building up protective factors for high risk elementary students a program that combines several complementary strategies to develop personal and communal empowerment in Native American communities Substance Abuse Prevention in Multicultural Communities illustrates the wealth of information generated by demonstration programs Unlike a standard research protocol that imposes and tests a rigid single focused intervention under carefully controlled circumstances these programs do science in real life situations documenting and measuring effects of multiple
