Lancaster At War 5 Fifty Years On:

Lancaster at War 5 Mike Garbett, Brian Goulding, 1995 Describes the operation of the bomber Lancaster that led the aerial attack on Germany during World War II Among The Dead Cities A. C. Grayling, 2009-05-26 In Among the Dead Cities the acclaimed philosopher A C Grayling asks the provocative question how would the Allies have fared if judged by the standards of the Nuremberg Trials Arguing persuasively that the victor nations have never had to consider the morality of their policies during World War II he offers a powerful moral re examination of the Allied bombing campaigns against civilians in Germany and Japan in the light of principles enshrined in the post war conventions on human rights and the laws of war Grayling begins by narrating the Royal Air Force s and U S Army Air Force s dramatic and dangerous missions over Germany and Japan between 1942 and 1945 Through the eyes of survivors he describes the terrifying experience on the ground as bombs created inferno and devastation among often unprepared men women and children He examines the mindset and thought process of those who planned the campaigns in the heat and pressure of war and faced with a ruthless enemy Grayling chronicles the voices that though in the minority loudly opposed attacks on civilians exploring in detail whether the bombings ever achieved their goal of denting the will to wage war Based on the facts and evidence he makes a meticulous case for and one against civilian bombing and only then offers his own judgment Acknowledging that they in no way equated to the death and destruction for which Nazi and Japanese aggression was responsible he nonetheless concludes that the bombing campaigns were morally indefensible and more that accepting responsibility even six decades later is both a historical necessity and a moral imperative RAF Bomber Command in Fact, Film and Fiction Jonathan Falconer, 1996 RAF Bomber Command in Fact Film and Fiction is a bibliographical and media guide to the exploits of the command between 1939 1945 setting on record much of what has been written filmed or sound recorded in the English language Yearbook ... Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies, 1908 The Young Idea , 1905 The Campus and a Nation in Crisis Willis Rudy, 1996 This book demonstrates how colleges and universities have played a vital role during times of great crisis in American history responding actively and helpfully to all the major challenges confronting their country The colleges of the land became politicized repeatedly by such momentous developments as the American Revolution the Civil War between the North and the South the two vast global conflicts of the twentieth century and America s controversial involvement in Southeast Asia Campus life became intensely fractious during these difficult and turbulent periods Violence sometimes accompanied the campus activism While there were significant differences in the response of groups on the campuses students and professors reacted differently for example to the crises of earlier times as compared to those in more recent years there is an element of continuity That thread of continuity from the Revolutionary era to Vietnam was the fact that time after time the members of the academic communities sought to resolve the nation s crises constructively They rallied to the cause of colonial rights and ultimately political independence They supported the aims of their embattled sections North and South They sought to influence their nation's responses to the global crises of the twentieth century And they campaigned to extricate the nation from an increasingly costly military entanglement in Southeast Asia In all five of these tests of national purpose the colleges and universities while not the ultimate decision makers helped shape the eventual patterns of America's response in an important way Acts and Proceedings ... Annual Meeting, 1905 A Guidebook to South Carolina Historical Markers, 2021-02-19 The South Carolina Historical Marker Program established in 1936 has approved the installation of more than 1 700 interpretive plaques each highlighting how places both grand and unassuming have played important roles in the history of the Palmetto State These roadside markers identify and interpret places valuable for understanding South Carolina's past including sites of consequential events and buildings structures or other resources significant for their design or their association with institutions or individuals prominent in local state or national history This volume includes a concise history of the South Carolina Historical Marker Program and an overview of the marker application process For those interested in specific historic periods or themes the volume features condensed lists of markers associated with broader topics such as the American Revolution African American history women's history the Civil War and Reconstruction While the program is administered by the South Carolina Department of Archives and History most markers are proposed by local organizations that serve as a marker's official sponsor paying its cost and assuming responsibility for its upkeep In that sense this inventory is a record not just of places and subjects that the state has deemed worthy of acknowledgment but of those that South Carolinians themselves have worked to enshrine Acts and Proceedings ...
